FINANCE AND TRADE

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGE GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, June 16, 1869. Money is exceedingly scarce in New York, so that even Government securiies are thrown on the market and sacrificed, to avoid paying a high rate of interest. Gold, which is strongly held by parties confidently awaiting higher prices as soon as shipments of coin have to be made, were likewise compelled to sell and at one time the market fell to 1371/4, reacting, however, to 138 and losing steady at that. Government bonds declined still further to-day and new bonds had touched 119, 10-40's 108, and 1881's 121.

Stocks were dull and lower, reaching at one time about one per cent. and closing with a better feeling.

Our local money market moves easy with an increased amount of money offering on first class mortgaged city property. Allegheny Valley bonds are selling up to 86%, but at that figure there are but iew buyers.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, June 16, 1869. The markets generally continue very dull and stagnant, and what is worse still, there is but little prospect of any immediate improvement. The demand for everything is very light and under the influence of a sharp competition margins are very much reduced and in some articles a positive loss has to be accepted. There is one great consolation, however, the prospects for the future are very encouraging, as with good crops all over the country business cannot fail to be good, though it is probable that prices generally must still further decline, and with this prospect in view, business men are disposed to carry just as little stock as possible.
