A Practical Joke Extraordinary.

THE GUEST. He came unbid: I know not wherce. This wondrous guest, unknown before; All slient and unseen he came Within my door.

He gently heals my life-long pain, He charms the frequent tears away, And all my grief from me beguiles . Ard still will stay.

Sworl though's arise and cager climb, Like birds that alog in unper air. The song that close to H: aven's high gates Becomes a prayer.

Yet half I fear his tender wiles; Oh, tardy Love, too late de ared: My coward henr shrinks back in doubt, And bides, aftaid.

And fain would trust. but question still; Too late delayed too long foilorn: Can night so drk- ome break so soon To such fair boorn? Not for pa'e brows and faded hair, th. Love, an thy red roses blow; "Like back thy crown, I weeping cry-He duth not go;

But lingers still and lingers yet, And bears him in such winning wise Suchholy benedictions shine

:Such holy benedict

I can bat trust; I can but list. The winged hopes that soitly sink; Carceled at las inles anclent wronk, And Love is king. -From the Galaxy.]
