The Virginia Election.

Washington telegrams say Virginia has gone for Walker by at least 80,000 majority, and the Constitution, without the disfranchising clauses, will be adopted by at least 60,000 majority.

Another sign of the result of the election is the rebel chairman of the Walker Central Committee of that State, to the President is regarded as a rare piece of impudence.

The Philadelphia Press says: The rebel Democrats may boast that they have carried their candidates, but there is an ultimate remedy.

The Miner Wealth of Wyoming. The Larimer Sentinel is enthusiastic on the subject of the mining prospect in that region.

The Last Rifle Invention. The new rifle invented by Meyhofer, in East Prussia, judging from the accounts given of it, is by far the most destructive death dealing weapon in existence.

Petroleum Items. The new well on the Jamison farm, Allegheny river near Tonawanda, is now producing fifteen barrels a day.

A Tantalizing Object. The ball upon the cupola of the Wagon Wheel Hotel, contains a quart of the best old rye whiskey.

Our Unknown Territories.

The geographers have not entirely finished their work on this continent. We recently published the fact that a military reconnaissance of the White Pine region had been ordered, and of this proposed survey the San Francisco Bulletin says:

"There is a territory about the headwaters of the Colorado, with an area as large as the State of Illinois, about which nothing is known of any practical value. One or two persons have made the passage through the great Colorado Canon, and now then a pioneer hunter or miner has looked from the heights into its fearful chasms. But we know little or nothing of the topography of the country, what inexhaustible mines of precious metals it may contain, and more important still, what great tracts of land and rich valleys it may have, adapted to agriculture and to the maintenance of a dense population.

"We have already stated that an exploring expedition, under the military supervision of Major General Thomas, will be sent to this country during the present season, comprising engineers, geologists, botanists, and other scientific men, with all necessary appliances for a thorough survey of the country. The White Pine pioneers on the north and the southern Pacific Railroad surveyors on the south might be able to tell us something about this unknown country within the next year or two. But more important results may be expected from the labors of this military and scientific expedition. If rich mines and fertile lands should be found, it will not be long before the current of population will set towards the upper waters of the Colorado. The construction of the Southern Pacific Railroad will have much to do in hastening the settlement of that country."

How Free Trade Works in England. A London letter, dated June 21st, furnishes the following: The injurious effect upon British industry of the Manchester policy is now manifesting itself in so many ways and upon so many interests that, notwithstanding the sort of superstitious reverence with which "free trade" is regarded by large numbers of the people and most of the legislators, yet the question is forcing itself for reconsideration.

The people are degraded to a condition of poverty and ignorance, which is yearly becoming worse, and the inevitable crisis can not much longer be postponed. In private conversation it is now generally admitted that the free trade policy, as it is now being carried out, is a failure.

The Treasury Department expects to have its new fractional currency of the ten cent denomination ready to pay out by the end of next week, and the fifteen cent and twenty-five cent notes by the end of the month.

Commissioner Barnard, of the Educational Bureau, will issue his elaborate report on educational matters in this district in a short time. It will make a volume of over six hundred pages, and is unquestionably one of the most complete and valuable documents ever prepared under government supervision.

The Transportation of Fruit from California to the East is engaging the attention of the managers of the Central Pacific Railway, who have ordered the construction of fifty cars to be used in this business.

A new well was struck a few days ago on the Holden farm near Pitt Hole. It is now producing about twenty barrels a day.

Last week a new well was struck on the E. Buchanan farm, near the junction of the Allegheny and the Monongahela rivers, which is now yielding twenty barrels a day.
