Runaway. - Yesterday afternoon a horse attached to a carpenter's wagon, loaded with boards and shingles, belonging to William Kane, of Soho, being left a moment unguarded on Grant street, run off, coming down the street at a terrible rate of speed. Near Hauch's drug store, on the corner of Second avenue, the horse took to the pavement, narrowly escaping running over a little boy setting on the curb. Opposite Ludwig's saloon the wheels came off, and the ruins of the shattered wagon threw the horse to the pavement, without injuring him very much. METERS APROLING

Matrimonial.—Yesterday morning a rather prepossessing young German woman called at the Allegheny Mayor's office and made that official acquainted with her griefs. It was the same old story of betrayed confidence and heartless decention. By the aid of a policestory of betrayed confidence and heart-less deception. By the aid of a police-man the male principal in the affair, a young German, was brought to the office and after a consultation concluded to settle the difficulty by marriage. The ceremony was performed by the Mayor, in his usual felicitous manner, and the twain departed from the office apparently as happy and contented as the occasion is settle the dimenty by marriage. Man Brewned-Coronor's Inquest. Joseph Backarl, a young man about twenty-five years of age, who boarded at the corner of West and Second streets, Allegheny, was drowned in the Alleghenegative, when he was informed that it was dangerous for him to go into such deep water. He heeded not the warning, however, and when his companion plunged in a second time panion plunged in a second since followed, leaping as far as he could into the stream, and, of course, sinking beneath the surface of the water. As soon as he came up he cried for help, and young Benningar went to his assistance. The drowning man caught him by the shoulder and both would have drowned had not Benninger succeeded in extracting himself from his grasp. The drowning man struggled for a moment and then sunk. A number of persons were engaged last night and yesterday morning in dragging the river for the body, which was recovered shortly after dinner yesterday. Coroner Clawson was notified and held an inquest on the body yesterday afternoon, when the jury returned a verdict of accidental drowning.

his morning. The Connelisville Railroad. The two bridges across Dunbar Creek; damaged by the Sunday storm, were repaired with the usual promptitude of the Conneilsville Railroad Company-only the afternoon train on Monday failed. We came ourselves on Tuesday morning safely over the repaired bridges; the main track between Connellsville and this city was uninjured, and is a well settled, well hallasted and pleasant road for the traveler. Passengers going to the mountains will find the route a good one. We found the conductors all we could desire; careful, courteous to passengers, vigilant, giving their whole time diligently to the proper discharge of every duty. This testimony we doubt not is due to all the conductors on every train; our personal observation, however, was of Mr. Turner, on the train hence to Connellsville, and Mr. Gray, on the train thence to Uniontown. These gentlemen we regard as model conductors.

Debate in New Castle. Quite an interesting debate is now in progress in New Castle, Lawrence couny, this State, between Rev. D. X. Junkin, D. D., of that town, and Rev. J. R. W. Sloan, D. D., of Allegheny, on the religious amendment of the Constitution of the United States. The debate com-menced in White Hall on Tuesday evening, and was resumed last evening at half-past seven o'clock.

The matter of amending the Constitution so as to recognize the Lord Jesus Christ as the "Prince of the Kings of the Christ as the "Frince of the kings of the Earth" has excited considerable attention, especially for the last few years, It is not at all likely that the amendment asked for by some religionists throughout the country will soon be inserted in the organic law of the nation. But the well known ability of the contestants, who are now debating the contestants. testants, who are now debating the ques-tion in New Castle, has attracted consid-erable attention, and the audiences are quite large and respectable.

An Invitation Declined. Some invitations are accepted with pleasure, and are always welcome, while there are others just the reverse. Elizabeth Butler received one of the latter class yesterday. She had in an unlucky class yesterday. She had in an univery hour aroused the interior. Ellen Caughey. Yesterday Ellen called upon her with an invitation to a pugilistic encounter. Elizabeth was not in training, and accordingly politely but emphatically declined the invitation, who among the invitation, e-nphatically declined the invitation, whereupon Ellen became exceedingly obstreperous, calling her all sorts of names, threatening to take her life on the first opportunity, and winding up with an excited barangue, and an attempt to break in the door of Elizabeth's domicil with huge boulders, flung against it. Elizabeth, slarmed at the starce demonstrations of her Amazonian

Backarl, in company with Mr. 100 cross the railroad track in advance of bathing. Backarl, in company with Mr. Benninger, a son of the gentleman with whom the former boarded, went to the river about eight o'clock Tuesday evening to bathe. Mr. Benninger after removing his clothing, plunged into the water where it was between nine and ten feet deep, and on ascertaining this fact he inquired of Backarl if he could swim, to which the latter replied in the negative, when he was informed that it. track by the concussion, but continued its course, bearing the wagon around and carrying it along. The steam had been shut off on the instant the collision occurred, but the momentum carried the wagon, tender, engine and train about fifty feet forward. The erratic power, in its course, demolished a lamp post beside the watchman's house, and then forcibly moved the house about ten feet away from its foundations, without, however, wrecking it. By this time it was stopped and the extent of the damage was ascertained. Miraculously as it seemed, the driver of the wagon had seemed, the driver of the wagon had escaped without injury, while the little girl, by a fortunate exit from the roar, had dropped upon the ground, and escaped with but a few slight bruises. The horse was perfectly able to trot off briskly after all was over. The wagon, however, was no more. Deprived of four wheels, the shafts, and a part of its covering, it remained only as a wreck of its former appearance. About half an hour's work with two other engines and a gang of laborers served to replace the hour's work with two other engines and a gang of laborers served to replace the engine upon the track again, and all taace of the accident was removed save the watchman's house, which will be replaced in its old position. It is quite likely Mr. Owens will not attempt to get

> Charged with Libel. Frank Weish made information before Alderman Taylor, yesterday, against Robert Graham, John J. McGregor and H. The deponent further alleges this paper was presented before the Committee on Credentials at one of the conventions, and that by it the question of the rights of certain persons to seats as delegates to that body were decided. Mr. Welsh denies the allegations contained in the paper, hence the informa-tion. The accused were arrested and after a hearing gave ball for their appear-ry branch of the family, male and female seems to be represented. The immediate cause of this outburst was a suit brought before Alderman Koenig a few days ago, against a Snyder for selling ice to Mr. Herbst, of the Ordinary, on Sunday. This developed a latent aptitude and desire for litigation which is now in process of vigorous development under the auspices of Alderman Lynch, who has at present seven cases awaiting his magisterial decision, wherein the principal members of the Snyder family appear as prosecutors and de-fendants, in the most bewildering manner, totally beyond the comprehension of ordinary mortals. The Alderman at last succeeded in extricating one of the cases from the confusion yesterday and achieved a hearing of it, but reserved his decision until his mind recovered from the unwonted strain consequent upon this mental feat. The others will also be heard whenever the official's mind is cleared.

The Pittsburgh Female College. We acknowledge the receipt of the fourteenth annual catalogue of the Pittsburgh Female Oollege for 1868-9. It is a beautiful specimen of typography from the clever hands of Bakewell & Marthens, printers. The College, which is justly esteemed as one of the very best justly esteemed as one of the very best educational institutes for young ladies in the country, is now undergoing extensive improvements, and will be thoroughly refitted and refurnished for the Fall term, which commences sept. As next. Rev. Dr. Pershing, President of the faculty, is determined that the usetainess of the College shall increase with each year of its existence, and judging from what he has accomplished in the past, we are confident that an even greater glery is in reserve for the institution in the future.
