The Rev. (W) Journal has the following curious incident: "The other day a young man was indulging in the luxury of a swing, indulging in it lustily, that is, he sat in the swing while a tight-rope was being hung over him with a rope that was attached to the seat.

A BOLD and successful forgery perpetrated by the Rev. Mr. Mitchell, a Methodist clergyman in Chittenango, Madison county, N. Y., has been discovered. He forged the name of Robert Stewart, President of the National Bank of Chittenango, to a draft for $5,000, payable to the order of the Rev. Mr. Greenleaf, a Methodist and Greenleaf look alike, and the former deceived Mr. Carleton, of New York, the publisher, into identifying him as Greenleaf.

The change of opinion in the British maritime provinces of Canada, in reference to their annexation to the United States, is very remarkable. During the Crimean war and during the recent rebellion, the most bitter hostile sentiments towards the people and the Government of the United States were constantly expressed in the newspapers, and every disaster occurring to the United States armies was hailed with the most exuberant feelings of joy.

Annexation. The change of opinion in the British maritime provinces of Canada, in reference to their annexation to the United States, is very remarkable. During the Crimean war and during the recent rebellion, the most bitter hostile sentiments towards the people and the Government of the United States were constantly expressed in the newspapers, and every disaster occurring to the United States armies was hailed with the most exuberant feelings of joy.
