PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PINTSBURGE GAZETTE, THURSDAY, August 5, 1869. Sufficient progress has been made in harvesting in this as well as other states, to place the crop beyond doubt, and it s safe to assert that the yield of all kinds of grain will be an average, and probably more than an average. The wheat crop, as a general thing, la secured all over the country; with the exception of those sections that grow soring, and it, too, will soon be housed. The advices from the west in regard to The advices from the working, although corn are more encouraging, although there is no doubt but what it has been badly injured in some localities, by the excessive rains, and that the yield will excessive rains, and that the property of the world otherwise. excessive rains, and that the yield will not be as heavy as it would otherwise have been. It is generally conceded that the oats crop will be the largest in many years, and aiready seller options this month, have been sold in Chicago at 40 cts. Rye and Barley, also, promise well, and the yield will doubtless be larger than last year.

The Chicago Journal says of the crops in the Northwest: The crop news from the Northwest continues to be favorable. The past fortnight of good weather has the Northwest continues to be lavorable. The past forbight of good weather has greatly improved the prospects. The crops, in the aggregate will be a full average, the croakers to the contrary not-withstanding. The failure of any one crop is almost entirely confined to low-land localities.

land localities.
Our general markets are quiet and dul, and devoid of anything really new or important. Flour is firm, and, strange or important. Flour is arm, and, strange as it may seem, choice spring wheat brands are now worth considerably more than winter wheat flours; three months ago, the latter was worth 25 to 50 cts. per bbl. more than the former. The effect of this will be to drive spring wheat flours out of this market, as no-The effect of this will be to drive spring wheat flours out of this market, as no-body, with the exception of a few bakers, will pay the difference and there will be more winter wheat flour sold here than has been for several years. It is not likely, however, that the present prices of spring wheat will be sustained for any considerable length of time. Sugars are more active and firmer, and refineds are a fraction higher. EGGS—Dull; sales at 17@18,

FEATHERS—Dull; quoted at 80@85 cents to the trade, and the usual advance for small lots in store.

FLOUR—Firm with only a moderate local demand, and while winter wheat brauds are unchanged, spring wheat flours are higher. We now quote choice Minnesota springs at $7,50@7,75, and Winter Wheat at $7,00@7,50—some very good brands of the latter offering to the trade at $7. The mills are reported as doing a good business, but their margins are very small, as wheat is relatively higher than flour.
