PAMOUS LONDON MERCHANTS. A Book for Boys. By H. R. Fox Bourne, Author of "English Merchants," etc. With twenty-five Illustrations. Published by Harper & Brothers, New

Books of this character impart to young people something tangible and worthy of imitation. However moral and high toned a romance may be, after all it is a story of the imagination. But the history of these famous merchants teach the great cardinal principle that any one who uses proper diligence may achieve greatness and rise to a high level in society. This little volume contains an account of thirteen noted men, commencing with Whittington and ending with Peabody. The history of Rothschild and Gurney are fraught with interest. It is a valuable, suggestive work for youths, and contains lessons as substantial as instructive. On sale by Miner.

CREDO. Published by Lee & Shepard, Boston. For sale by J. L. Read & Son. Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh, There is something after all in a name.

The title of this book is quaint and signicant. Our readers will not expect us to pronounce the work perfect, and yet its defects are few and more likely to be viewed just as persons are theologically trained. There is a dash and independent ring in the author's style, also so thoroughly evangelical in its tone; that it will command thoughtful consideration. "Credo" is a collection of semi essays and semi-sermons, arranged in chapters. It is divided into four divisions: "The Supernatural Book," "Supernatural Beings," "Supernatural Life," "Supernatural Destiny." Each division treats of various topics. The book closes with a chapter entitled, "The Sceptic Among the Disciples." It deals with questions of vital importance, and such as are agitating the Christian world at this time, and it will serve a good purpose to enlighten those of the doubting type that are found in the Churches, and those that are seeking light will receive aid and instruction how to find Christ. We most heartily commend it.

COUNTESS GISELA. From the German of E. Marlitt, Author of "The Old Mam'selle's Secret," etc. Hy Mrs. A. L. Wister, Published by J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia.

The favorable reception of the previous works of the author is a guarantee that "Countess Gisela" is worth reading. It is a story that arouses the interest of the reader from the outset. The author presents characters of a German type that are life-like and but seldom delineated. This new and fresh field of literary merit is becoming quite popular with the readers of fiction.

Morning By Morning; or Daily Readings for the Family or the Closet. By Rev. C. H. Spurgeon. Published by Sheldon & Co. New York.

Nasby has been speaking in behalf

Not long since we commended "Evening by Evening," a twin volume, for its excellencies and usefulness in the family circle and for closet meditations. Both these works are arranged on the same plan, and both are admirably adapted for the object in view by the author. The simple reading of the appropriate lesson for the morning of each day would prove an excellent preparatory means for family worship, and also suggestive for closet duties. The large-hearted and Catholic spirit of the distinguished author will go far towards commending both volumes to believers of evangelical churches generally. Each page contains suitable reflections, with a suggestive passage at the top, for every day in the year. Quite a fine selection of hymns are to be found at the close of the Readings. The flowing style, and gorgeous imagery of the author, mark each lesson.

CORD AND CREESE. By the author of the "Dodge Club." Published by Harper & Brothers, New York.

To say this is a thrilling story, would hardly expresss its real character. It is a surprising creation of the author, bordering on the wonderful, and yet so plausible, that the reader is on the qui vive until the end is reached-breathless for something else.

AN AMERICAN WOMAN IN EUROPE.

Observations of European matters in people denounce them without even tak. ing water gates were needed to discharge ing the trouble to read them. Every work of this character ought to contain was $80,000. Last year 4576 acres were something new and entertaining. The chief excellences of this volume is its description of people and things from a thrown upon the market in order to pay sland point that many tourists overlook. Careful observers of people en masse, instead of the better class, and higher tion three successive crops of wheat, of walks of society, will find much to entertain and instruct. We are quite willing to overlook the lack of highly-colored word painting, for the matter, of fact style of the book. Women, too, see things quite differently from men, and this fact is to be plainly seen in this record of two years and a half.

tion for her pure and healthy style of writing. Few writers have a better name. When the "Hollands" was appearing in a serial form in the Home Magizine, it received much praise and elic! ted marked attention by thousands. Its popularity called forth many letters of praise. The central character, "Jessamine," is a vivid piece of delineation, and is so life-like, that it charms the reader, PHILIP BRANTLEY'S LIFE WORK, and

How He Found It. By M. E. M. Published by M. W. Dodd; No. 506 Broadway, New York. For sale by R. S. Davis & Co., Pittsburgh.

In this excellent work we have portrayed in the form of a journal the struggles of a young man, to secure a preparation for the ministry, which he finally attained, notwithstanding the difficulties he passed through. To accomplish such a grand work, resulting in a glorious life usefulness, is well worth all the cost. In this history, too, lessons are inculcated worthy of imitation by all young men on entering upon the duties of life, It is a capital book for the family circle, and for Sunday school libraries.

And eventually the patient sinks and dies hectics. But seemed, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chilis or fever. Remove the came, and tery will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, liver Complaint, Dycpepsia, Catarrh. Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the ungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood-dut of fo d. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tong to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digestessly and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in fish, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fishy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schench's Seawed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in al billious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schench, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs $25 pounds. was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, in physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and shandoned hum to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid meeticans, and since his recovery many thousands similarly safficted have used Dr. Schench's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally as the original de
