FINANCE AND TRADE,

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, Augus 7, 1869. The past week was one of unusual dullness in financial matters. Government bonds have not advanced as much as was expected, from large purchases by the government, and quotations from Europe are not favorable to any material advance. The scarcity of bonds in the market keeps up the price of 5-20s more than any investment demand by the people. Currency Pacific bonds are steady, but certainly are not a very profitable investment, at about 112, not quite yield-stocks, which is expected during mences to move, and at present the next week will, most likely have the effect of advancing quotations.

Money in better request without any advance in rates. Business more lively.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE. SATURDAY, August 7, 1869. The general markets have not be very active during the past wee though trade is always dull at this so son of the year. The demand for almo everything is restricted mainly to su plying immediate wants, and with ight volume of business in the agg gate, there has been no importa changes in values. With the cro pretty well secured, and continued go weather, the apprehensions which p valled some two weeks since in conquence of the excessive rains, have pr ty well subsided, and it is now general conceded there will be a full avera vield of all kinds of grain, and as the will be a large surplus, it is to be hope there will be a good export demand, an of this there is a very good prospect Flour is firm, and while Spring Whe brands are higher Winter Wheats r main unchanged, and as might be e nected, the demand for the former. the advance, has diminished material while, as a natural consequence, the c mand for the latter has very naturally i creased. It was its cheapness that gaspring wheat flours such a strong footi in this market within the past year two; whenever it rises above wint wheat, however, it is done, as cons mers, generally with the exception bakers, will always give the latter to preference, even at the same price.
