Wholesale Business,-W. A. Hoak has paid some attention to a certain kind of ousiness, according to the results exhibited. Afterwards, it is alleged, these statements were found to be leged, these statements were found to be untrue. An officer with a warrant went in search of Gallinger and found him, but allowed him to go out and seek for bail. He didn't come back and left no frace of his whereabouts.

Alleged Larceny .- George Ewing, pro prietor of a saloon on Penn street, yester-day made information before the Mayor charging Eliza Jane Johns and another charging Eliza Jane Johns and another woman with larceny. It appears that the women formerly were working for Mr. Ewing, and a few weeks since left suddenly without giving him any notice. A few days after they had taken their departure one of the boarders missed a suit of clothes, which Mr. E. accuses the girls of stealing. The suspicion may be well founded, but the clothing stolen being male attire, we are unable to discover male attire, we are unable to discover what use they would put it to or what would induce them to steal it.

Disorderly House.-Joseph Wirt made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging Mrs. Pryor with keeping a disorderly house. The defendant and prosecutor, it appears, occupy apartments in one house on Fayette street, the former on the first floor and the latter on the second the first noor and the latter of the seconds and there being but one entrance to the building, it is necessary for the prosecutor to pass through one room of the defendant's apartment to reach his own. He alleges that persons of ill repute visit the house. A warrant was issued and Mrs. Pryor and a girl who, it appears, occupies the house with her, were arrested and locked up for a hearing.

United States Court-Judge McCandless. Mr. McCombaisa young man who resides in East Liberty. Yesterday he went out gather blackberries in company with several friends. On the farm of John Joy, it is alleged they were shot at by the accused, and Mr. McCombs seriously, if not fatally, injured. Sudden Death-Coroner's Inquest. Coroner Clawson was yesterday called upon to hold an inquest on the body of Jennie Morrison, who died suddenly in the house of a colored man, on Arthurs street, near Wylie. It appears that she and been unwell for some time, but not dangerously ill, and yesterday about two o'clock in the afternoon, while at work she had an attack of hemorrhage, which resulted fatally in a few moments. The jury returned a verdict in accordance with the facts. The deceased was about thirty-two years of age, and has been in this city over twelve years, during all of which time she has led a life of sin and shame. The body was taken in charge by a female friend, who intends to have it decently interred.

Disorderly. The vicinity of Bedford avenue and Washington street was rendered lively yesterday, by reason of the excentricities of Hannah Gallagher and Rosanna titles of Mannan Gallaguer and Rosanna Carr, who occupied the greater part of the morning to the neglect of their household duties, by engaging in a wordy warfare relative to their respective characters. Rosanna, it is said, developed supprising brilliancy of imagina veloped surprising brilliancy of imagina tion, and completely demolished her op-ponent. Hannah thereupon acknowledged her deteat, but sought redress by complaning to Alderman Butler, who arrested Rosanna for disorderly conduct.

The matter was finally arranged, the parties being privileged to divide the payment of the costs: Keep Cool. It seems strange people will engage in exciting pastimes these warm summer days. It can only be accounted for on the supposition that there are those who can never be content unless in a whirl of excitement, and of this class, if certain statements are true Sarah Longmore should be numbered. For this reason:

A Detective Beaten We published in our issue of yesterday notice of the arrest of George Warner on a charge of larceny. The information upon which the warrant for his arrest was based, was made by Officer Keep, and the robbery was perpetrated in the store of Mr. Philip Graff, No. 58 Market street. It is alleged that he got possession of the keys of the store and had duplicates made, by means of which he would enter the store at night and carry off silks and other valuable goods, which he would sell during the day. He was committed to jail in default of $2,500 bail for a hearing.

There is another point in the case which would indicate that detectives as which would indicate that detectives as well as "common men," and even as Chief of Police, may be beaten by a thief. Chief of Police, may be beaten by a thief. It appears that Warner, on Thursday of last week, called at Exton's trimming store, on Fifth avenue, and offered some silks for sale. Mr. Eaton, after examining the goods and learning the price, was fully convinced that they had been stofully convinced that they had been sto fully convinced that they had been stolen, as they were offered at less than would pay the duty on them. He, however, agreed to take the lot and sent Warner after more, promising to take his entire stock, but was careful not to pay him any money. As soon as the fellow left, Mr. Eaton sent for officer Long, one of the Mayor's detectives, to whom he stated the case and requested Mr. Long to arrest the silk merchant, who had promised to return that evening for his money. The officer waited, but his man did not come, and at the request of Mr. Eaton, officer Long returned to the store next morning and about nine o'clock cceeded in arresting Warner. He was taken to the Mayor's office and examined by Chief Hague, who after hearing the fellow's plausible story, notwithstanding he had sold the goods at less than they could be purchased for if they had been smuggled, or at even less than would pay the duty upon them, discharg-ed him. "Some old birds are caught

The Humboldt Festival. The Executive Committee held its regular weekly meeting last night, and further steps were taken towards making the festival a grand success. If the weather be fine the Iron City Park is engaged for a grand picnic, but if the weather prove unpleasant, a grand weather prove unpleasant, a grant peoples' festival, such as are common in Germany, will be held in Turners' Hall. In the evening a banquet is to be held in Turners' Hall. Rowdyism. Already several of the seats in the Allegheny Park have been broken by parties who seem to have an idea that they were put there for nothing but to be destroyed. Thus far the guilty parties have not been arrested, but if any of the offenders can be secured they will be severely dealt with. Mayor Drum is determined that nothing of the kind shall go unpunished. It is the people's park, go unpunished. It is the people's park, made for their enjoyment, and not as a rendezvous for a set of loafers who delight in destruction. With the few exceptions thus noted, everything about the Park has been of the most orderly character, and it is the intention to have it 80.

Miss Fitzsimmons is from the Pittsburgh School of Design for Women, and is a lady of excellent accomplishments for the posi-tion. The Committee also voted to recommend the employment of another teacher, and procuring an additional room for the High School, and that provision be made for teaching the German and French languages in the school. They authorized the purchase of surveying and engineering instruments, and the carrying out of an appropriation of $200, made by a former Board, for the Generally it is understood that tenants should leave houses occupied by them in as good condition as when they entered, or at least no unnecessary exertions should be made to put them out of order. There are tenants however who dont seem o appreciate this matter, among whom, t is said Mrs. Ann McConnell is numbercupying it but la short time and leaving it according to McCarthy's allegations, in an exceedingly dilapidated condition, even going so far as to tear down the doors and amaght the windows previous to her departure. This is said to have occured a day or two since and yesterday Aldermaniance Masters, at McCarthy's intended a warrant for the arrest of stance, issued a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. McConnell for malicious mischief.

The case was thus settled.

Multitudes of persons, compelled to stay at home during the "heated term" to attend to business and other duties, bie away to some nook in the country to spend a quiet Sunday. Saturday trains are usually crowded owing to this fact, at of tanneries, leather factories and the neleast those on the Pennsylvania railroad, as we witnessed on a brief trip to the mountains last Saturday.

At Latrobe we found the town all agog, especially in the neighborhood of the hotel at the railroad station, owing to the presence of a company gathered in the interest of the Covode Foster Congressional contested case. The testimony of several persons was taken, all of which was decidedly damaging to Foster's prospects and favorable to Covode. Mr. Covode was present and looked gratified at the turn things were taking in his behalf. The old veteran seems to be in good trim for the State election, and will no doubt honor the important position he occupies as Chairman of the State Committee. This town is thrifty and shows signs of progressiveness. There appears to be considerable business transacted, and quite a number of manufacturing interests are in full blast. Numerous build-

Bishop Domenec, the able and popular Catholic Bishop of this diocese, was in Latrobe a short time, having been at the Institution some miles off. The Bishop is the very picture of health, and always at work in advancing the interests of his Church. Persons cannot well help admiring the suavity of his manners and happy looking countenance. We suppose the Bishop will soon be leaving for Rome to attend the great Council at the Vatican. Other dioceses have put well filled purses in the hands of their Bishops to enjoy tho trip. Bishop Baley, of Newark, is an instance, who received a gift of five thousand dollars for this purpose, and the well-to-do-communicants of Pittsburgh Diocese will not be behind

We had an opportunity while pedestering some miles over the crossties of the mountain section of the great Central Pennsylvania Railroad, mostly through deep defiles of rock and gravel, to observe the excellent trim of the road-bed, rails, ties and other portions of the track. It is true the hotel is located so that the demoralization usually seen at fashionable places cannot exist. The class of people at this hotel exist. The class of people at this hotel are of the highest respectability, and though many of them are fashionable, yet not of the fast sort. In the morning the little chapel was crowded to hear Rev. LTNN. MASS.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.] LYNN, MASS., August 13, 1869.

When I learned in geography, years ago, that Lynn was noted for its shoe manufactures f imagined a little city full cessary accompanying odors of such a trade. I found a very pretty city, kept cool and comfortable through these hot months by the sea breezes, and filled with beautiful residences shaded by the trees for which New England is so justly famed. Lynn Beach itself is enough to keep one entranced for hours. Nearly two miles long, hard and smooth, with its splash and dash of wayes, its sea air, and far stretching view, it is a drive not to be excelled. At low tide one can, without leaving the beach, drive directly to Nahant. This, as you know, is not a fashionable watering place, where thousands crowd to see and to be seen, but a place where a number of families resort for comfort. Many of the homes there are elegant, and it would be no hardship to spend the winter in them. The prevailing idea, however, seems to be comfort. One little cottage, built almost on the high jutting rocks it faces, is where Agassiz, which are two or three churches. The the sea and surrounded by trees and place is decidedly cozy, and cannot be flo vers, was built by the son of a great seen to advantage unless visitors will statesman. Woodbine Cottage would attract your attention and lead you to exclaim, "this is my ideal of true summer recreation. But, where everything is so charming, it is hard to choose. A little steamer plies constantly between Boston and Nahant; so it is quite a resort for pleasure seekers. The sail down the Bay is itself quite an object. Picnics in large numbers hold their festivals in Maoli's Gardens, where they can enjoy the sea under trees, in arbors, or, if they choose, on the rocks. The more dainty can leave baskets and bundles behind, and seek refreshment for the inner-man at the well-kept dining hall. A band is often there to discourse sweet music; so do you not think it almost equal to Central Park? After enjoying Nahant to your heart's content you may drive to Swampscott on the opposite side of Lynn, and find another place where it would be no privation to spend a few weeks of July and August. If you only choose the right time of day you may see Massachusetts aristocracy out taking an airing. The equipages are of all descriptions, from the carriage, with liveried servants, down to the unpretending buggy whose driver earns his daily bread. The side of the road facing the ocean is lined with the residences of the before mentioned asistocracy, and, I think, in stormy nights, the inmates might think themselves "rocked in the cradle of the deep.'
