Aggravated Assault and Battery .-Benjamin Hunter made information before Justice Salisbury, yesterday, charging John McClintock, Michael Hugnes and Wm. Woods, with aggravated assault and battery. Warrants were issued and Hughes was arrested and held for a hearing. The officers have not yet succeeded in finding Woods and M'Clintock.

Trouble in Moving.—Yesterday Catharine Garrat called on Alderman Thomas to settle a little difficulty which had arisen between her and James McCarroll. She nut it on the ground of assault and from a dwelling in the Sixth ward she | very excellent managership of our popu was interfered with by James, who prevented her, using violence in doing so.

An Elegant Time Piece.-In our notice of the Pittsburgh Female College which elsewhere appears this morning, we failed to observe that the institution has just been supplied with one of the finest time-pieces ever brought to the city, both re-garding its machinery and furniture. It was imported direct from Vienna, Europe, for the College by the well-known Market street jewelry house of J. B. Mc-Fadden & Co. and is not the least attractive piece of furniture in this elegantly fitted educational establishment.

Hasty Action. Sometimes people are in haste to perform actions for which they repent at lesuire, as for instance: Yesterday Samuel Hays made information against the proprietor of a public house on Diamond street, for assault and battery, allegging that he had, while in a fit of intoxica-tion, kicked him out of the house. A hearing was had in the case, but the prosecu tor failed to prove his charges and the accused was set at liberty. Hay's repentance came when he was compelled to pay the costs.

Careless Driving .- Last evening about five o'clock, a woman with a child in her arms, who had just stepped off a car at the corner of Fifth avenue and Smithfield street, was knocked down and run over by a buggy, which was being rapidly driven past by two fast young chaps, who had no fear of the law or the police before their eyes. The woman and child escaped serious injuries, the former receiving only a few scratches on the face. The police were not about at the time, else the city revenue might have been jucreased slightly.

In Trouble.

Yesterday Rose McKenna made information before Alderman Neeper, charging James Burke with forniz et cet .. The parties, it appears are residents of Birmingham, and for over two years Birmingham, and for over two years past it is alleged that the accused has been on terms of intimacy with the deponent. About three weeks since he effectually broke off that intimacy by taking to wife another lady of his acquaintance, since which time the deponent has become a mother. Burke was arrested and in default of ball for a hearing was committed to jall. ing was committed to jail, Ownership in Dispute.

The question of ownership of the Allegheny Local Express was brought before Alderman McMasters yesterday, when Samuel Gilliand brought information against Mrs. Price for foroible entry and detainer. Gilliand alleges Mrs. Price broke open a stable in Beaver street, Allegheny, in which a number of horses, belonging to him, were standing, and conting thus in possession has since re-fused to allow him to take away the animals. He alleges they are his, while she claims them as her property. The suit is brought to decide the matter. The horses are used in the local express wagons, of which Gilliand claims to be proprietor. Warrant issued.

The Second Ward Marching Phalanx of the Geary Republican Club met last evening at headquarters, No. 66 Smithfield street, for the purpose of thoroughly reorganizing for the present campaign. The meeting organized by calling Mr. Simon Strouse to the chair. On accepting the honor, Mr. Strouse made a brief and pointed speech, in which he urged the active young Republicans to again be first in the political field to do good service for the cause of Geary, Williams, and the entire county ticket put forward. Capt. T. H. Phelps announced that he had received an invitation for the club to act as an escort of honor to Senator O. P. Morton, of Indiana, from the Mo-nongahela House to City Hall, on Tuesday evening next, on the occasion of the grand Republican meeting. The gentle-man stated that music had been secured, and that the gun squad were in com-plete organization and would fire one hundred rounds as a salute of honor on the reception of the distinguished orator and statesman. A committee, consisting of Messrs. T. H. Phelps, John F. Hunter and Wilson Steiner, was appointed to complete all arrangements for the reception and pa-

Caught in Time.

Darkness is much more favorable for hieving excursions than daylight. It is generally unsafe to enter houses while the sun is up, in such evil designs intent, and often the depredator comes suddenly to grief. It happened so yesterday to Charles Fincke, who had just arrived in this vicinity from the South and commenced operations. He selected the residence of Mr. Isaac Mills, Jr., at Braddock's Fields, as a base. Entering the house by one of the upper windows, he succeeded in moving about so quietly that none of the inmates, engaged in the lower rooms, knew of his presence. Having secured his plunder he made his egress out of the same window and chuckled to himself at the success attending his efforts. His joy was of short duration. Mr. Mills happened to be driving in front of the house at that instant, and observing the chap emerging from the window, immediately gave chase, and after a short run succeeded in capturing him. The fellow shook with fear, and dropped gold watch and a broadcloth suit of clothing valued at $70, which he had taken. Mi. Mills brought his man into the city and made informatton against him before Alderman McMasters for larceny. He was immediately committed to jail for a hearing. He expressed himself as well satisfied with the turn affairs had taken, as he felt better pleased to be sent to jail than to have his liberty

Tobacco Seizure.

On Wednesday last Collector Davis and the tobacco inspector discovered a quantity of tobacco in this city, upon which the revenue tax had not been paid, although it appeared to bear all the required brands and stamps, the latter, however, being counterfeit. Twenty boxes bearing these stamps were found in Allegheny City, and about twice that number at two houses in this city, all of which had been shipped for R. M. Dob-son & Co., Cincinnati. The boxes also bore the brand of a Philadelphia house, which, however, it is thought, had been put upon them to aid in concealing the fraud. The stamps are said to be well executed, and well calculated to deceive. We are informed, not officially, however, that Collector Davis telegraphed to Cincinnati and had the shipper of the tobacco arrested. We were unable to obtain further particulars.

A Pleasant Occasion.

A more interesting occasion is seldom witnessed, than was that which occurred in the hall of the Fourth ward school house last evening. The members of the Reformed Presbyterian congregation (O. S.), Rev. A. M. Milligan, met in the above-named hall for the purpose of pre-senting their pastor with a horse and barouche. The presentation speech was made by Prof. J. R. Newell, who seemed made by Frot. 3. R. Newell, who seemed in his happiest mood and whose remarks were highly interesting. The pastor re-plied in a feeling manner, which con-veyed to his people his appreciation of their kindness. Speeches were made by Prof. Sloan of the Reformed Presbyterian Seminary, Prof. I. A. Macrum and others, Seidom have we seen such good feeling manifested by any people, and we take it as an evidence of Mr. Milligan's usfulness to the people among whom he

EDUCATIONAL

Pittsburgh Female College-Fine Improvements - Location - Faculty - Course of Study - Patronage, &c. As the time is at hand when parents are inquiring for suitable schools for their daughters, we can do many of our readers no better service than by calling their attention to our own well established and well conducted institution-the Pittsburgh Female College. Many persons are disposed to overlook home in stitutions of every kind, (though they always expect home patronage of course,) and in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred, "go farther and fare worse." "Seeing is believing," but very many never look for themselves. There are not a few citizens of Washington who have never seen the National Monument or visited Arlington Heights. Even in so important a matter as the education of their children, a matter intimately linked with their future happiness and usefulness, there is often a most repre-hensible neglect. The child is handed over to the first applicant, and the most impertinent is too often the least worthy who may chance to apply. No regard is had to the facilities afforded for that thorough and varied culture which the present age demands a culture which can be secured only where the requisite facilities exist. Every intelligent man will grant the necessity for a desire of labor in the manufacture of the most insignificant articles. The highest perfection can be secured only where such desire of labor exists. And yet in a matter of so great importance as thorough mental culture, how many are there who send their children to small schools, and often at heavy expense, where less than a half dozen teachers are expected to give all the in-struction in those various branches of a solid and ornamental education which require at least three times the number. The error is too often seen when too late to remedy it.

But little more time is required to complete a course of study in a first-class chool than in one of lower grade. Parents owe it to them selves, and their children as well, to make themselves acquainted with the school they patronize. To those who have daughters to educate we earnestly recommend a visit to our own sterling institution, the Pittsburgh Female College. For months past work-men have been busily employed in refitting the large and commodious buildings. There is an air of comfort and elegance about them rarely found, even in schools for ladies. The improvements have been continued from year to year, until it is difficult to conceive of nything yet to be done. Beautiful carpets, oil cloths and mattings cover every ifloor. No part has been overlooked, and the buildings, as a whole, are unequalled by any in the State.

LOCATION. Scarcely less important than good buildings is a good location. In this the College is peculiarly fortunate. No equally favorable location can be found in or about these cities. Its near proximity to the Allegheny river, insures an abundance of fresh air, and, midway as it is between the two principal bridges, it is almost equally accessible to persons on both sides of the river. The termini of all the railroads, a dozen of the prin-cipal churches, the new building of the dercantile Library Association, and, inleed, all the important centres of the city, are within a few minutes' walk of the College. And yet, with all these advantages, Eighth street is almost as quiet as the streets of a country village. Its clean, shaded sidewalks afford a delightful promenade, and parents will not fail o appreciate its exemption from the noise and danger incident to the more public and crowded thoroughfares.

PACILITY. The crowning excellence of the College, however, is its unusually large corps of teachers. In this it has but few Twenty-two teachers are emivals. ployed in the different departments. Fourteen of them reside in the building and constantly mingle with the pupils. Eighteen of the former teachers retained for the coming year, and four new ones elected. Miss Agnes C. Way, a graduate of the School of Design, takes charge of the Drawing and Painting Department, and Miss Bullard, of Glen's Falls. N. Y., Miss Latimer, of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Woolston, of New Jersey, fill vacancies in the Literary Department. These ladies come with the highest recommendations from leading educators for culture and experience and ability in their profession. The greatest care is always taken in the selection of teachers, and the highest compliment that can be paid the College is the fact that its teachers have bo eagerly sought for here, and by Eastern

COURSE OF STUDY. The course of study is thorough and selected with great care. The ample accommodations of the College, and the large Faculty employed, enable the Frustees to accommodate those who de sire a full or partial course in the solid or ornamental branches. In addition to the departments for all the ornamental branches, such as vocal and instrumental music, drawing and painting, needle-work and wax-work, &c., the literary course is divided into Primary, Preparatory and Collegiate departments, so as to accommodate younger and more advanced pupils. Every room and department has its special teacher, and hence while pupils have all the advantages of a small private school, they have the additional and greater advantage of a division of labor.

PATRONAGE.

For ten years past the College has had a large patronage, not only from hundreds of our best citizens, but also from many of the hest citizens of this and other states. The College has secured the confidence of its patrons by the thoroughness of its system of teaching, the careful supervision of all its pupils, and the earnest efforts made for their moral and mental culture. The examinations at the close of each term are no only public, but conducted more or less by teachers not connected with the institu-

We cannot close without once more urging our readers to visit the College, low open for the inspection of visitors and make themselves acquainted with its accommodations, facilities and claims on their patrouage. The Boulevard. Messrs. McCowan & Co., 65 Ohio street, Allegheny, are now prepared to fill all orders for the laying of this durable and beautiful pavement. It is specially adapted for sidewalks, inside yards, cellars, drives, &c., and is warranted to withstand the changes of heat and cold in the weather. Being leveled off smooth almost as marble, when completed, it forms one of the handsomest sidewalks which can be laid, while its durability and cheapness commend it in preference to other styles. Although it is but a recent patent, the tests to which it has been subjected amply substantiate its general excellence and superiority. We advise those wishing to have good pavements laid around their properties to examine the Boulevard.

New York Circus.

On Monday this establishment will ommence its exhibitions in Allegheny City, and, from the high character given to the troupe by the press in all directions, it is reasonable to anticipate from its performances something altogether superior to the usual routine of circus entertainments. Its high standing in New York is vouched for by the mos influential journals of that city, and the entertainments given during the travel-ing season are said to be in all respects equal to those which have given the establishment its great popularity at home. tablishment its great popularity at home.
The Boston Advertiser, in noticing the exhibitions of the New York Circus, says: "Let our readers go to see these performers from the great metropolis, and we think a majority of them will see how it is possible to be enthusiastic about a circus. Moreover, the entertainment is, in every respect, unexceptionable in point of refinement and propriety, and no pater-familias need be afraid to take his wife or the little folks to see it. Of the equestrian and gym nastic performances we can speak in the highest praise. The Life Insurance Question, Some of the more intelligent and candid life insurance agents doing business in this city, who thoroughly understand the system of our home company, the Co-operative, admit its greater simplicity, equity and inherent strength as compared with the ordinary plans, but mmend the companies in whose service they are employed, and it is quite right and altogether natural that they should do so. Others, probably less thoroughly informed, and possibly less candld, occasionally misrepresent the "Co-operative." This may be quite natural, but it is not altogether right. All who wish to speak understanding! are invited to call at the Company flice, 128 Smithfield street, and get full nformation on the subject.

The Reason Why Series. John W. Pittock, opposite the Postof fice, has just received a new supply and is prepared to furnish complete sets of this valuable series of works, which has attained such popularity in England that the sale has already reached considerably more than one million volumes. Each work is, in fact, a practical Encyclopedia of the subjects indicated by the titles. A vast fund of valuable information, embracing every subject of interest or utility, is thus attainable, and at a merely nominal cost. The majority of the volumes are illustrated, and to each is appended a complete index of its contents.
There are fifteen volumes in the series, but any work desired can be had sepe
