The Nittsburgh Gazette. FINANCE AND TRADE,

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, August 31, 1869. Government bonds were steady toay, with scarcely any fluctuations. Although the Government will buy tomorrow two millions of bonds, no efforts are made to advance quotations, nd the market is permitted to take its own course without any influence of clique or speculative movements. In plenty of orders; we continue to quote fact the market is in a condition that at 28 cents for standard brands, that is fact the market is in a condition that offers little encouragement for the present to calculate on a rise. The decline in Europe, not only of American, but of all other securities, is the natural reaction from a wild excitement prevailing on all the different stock exchanges of Europe, and seems to be the forerunner of a heavy decline, benefitting nobody but the rich speculators, who have done all in their power to draw small capitalists in, in order to take from them what little they had left. Gold is kept steady at 1331/2 on account of the uncertanty of the European markets, which may at any moment require the shipment of funds, temporarily employed here, and should any call for ashipment of coin be made, a rapid advance of 5 to 7 points would be an easy matter to raise the market for those who have been carrying it since it touched 144. Stocksare dull, except Reading, which advanced to-day to 971/4. Money easy.

PITTEBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, August, 31 1869. There is a general accumulation of grain at Chicago, the receipts last week exceeding the shipments over half a million of bushels. As the course of the Chicago wheat market is being watched with considerable interest, we clip the following from the Republican of Wednesday: The market was quiet, and prices were weak and lower, under only a limited demand for immediate delivery, liberal offerings, and unfavorable advices, both from New York and Liverpool. Spring wheat particularly was dull, shippers not buying as the margin between here and New York is against them, while millers did not want it, as they have on hand now more done than they can call here a what for flour than they can sell; hence what few hour than they can sen; hence what lew buyers there were present named about their own figures. The "shorts" did not appear anxious to settle or fill in their contracts still out for this month, their contracts still out for this month, evidently thinking that unless there is a decided change in the demand and supply, and an improvement in the more prominent markets of the old and new world prices cannot go higher, even if they do not go lower. The "longs," on the other hand were despondent and gloomy, and though they may force the the other hand were despondent and gloomy, and though they may force the market up on Monday they cannot but be large loosers, for the reason that the "shorts" during the past week have made a very large number of settlements and reduced the line very much. The "longs" wanted to manipulate the market, but were afraid to do so, and it can winnings wanted to mampulate the market, but were afraid to do so, and it can be safely said that rule thirteen has prevented an extensive "corner" on the market.
