FINANCE AND TRADE OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, Sept. 3, 1869. Government bonds are fluctuating, rapidly following the market for gold. It is evidently the desire of the clique in gold to depress quotations in Europo for our bonds, in order to advance the rates on gold. So far the quotations from Furope are very favorable, and it appears our securities are in better demand now than ever. Gold sold from 1351/2 to 1361/2, the closlowever, is in a condition to break a most likely will be between this and

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE. FRIDAY, September 3, 1869. The market closed strong last night, and opened firm this morning, but in the afternoon there was a slight reaction, and the advance, previously established, was partially lost. This upward movement is attributed to the material falling off in the shipments, as well as the fact that the impression prevails in New York that most of our refinerles have suspended operations, and operators there who are short are a little apprehensive, and inclined to cover. The advance to-day, however, is more directly attributed to the operations of two large New York houses, who had orders to buy several thousand barrels for this month, and a pretty sharp competition brought about the result already alluded to. In proof of this it is asserted that after these orders were filled, there were no other buyers at the advance, and, as a consequence, the figures that were realized in the forenoon could not be obtained towards evening. That the market is stronger than it was yesterday and the day previous, is conceded, and the general feeling at this time is that prices will probably go higher, and this is assumed on the ground of a suspension of operations by our refiners, and diminished shipments to the seaboard. CRUDE.
