very latest accounts from the scene of the dreadful calamity at Avondale Mine are to the effect that nothing has yet been done which warrants a hope for the safety of the men below. A steam fan has been put up and is now in operation driving pure air into the shaft, but the quantity of foul air that still remains renders it impossible for a descent to be niade. A tunnel is being excavated with all possible speed, by which it is hoped to intersect the chamber where all the men are entombed. They will probably reach this chamber about five or six o'clock this afternoon. Old and experienced miners fear that all are lost, but there are some who hope that the closing of the doors of the passages leading from the shafts has prevented the circulation of fire or choke damp and confined all the gaseous matter to the shaft steelf. Sagratary of some of the men alive. The scene about the place of the disaster is harrowing in the extreme. Thousands of people are present, and others are arriving. The gonizing woe of the unfortunate miners' families is heart-rending. Attempts to descend the shaft will be made this afternoon, and before night it is thought the extent of the calamity will be known PREPARING FOR A SEARCH. SCRANTON, PA., Sept. 7-11 A. Carson and Davis then went down one hundred feet, and then lowered lights to within fifteen feet of the bottom of the shaft. The lamps burned freely. After making such observations as were possible, they returned, and those who have formed a committee to go down are now preparing to descend to remove obstructions and explore in search of their brethren.

Thousands of miners, women and children cover the hills and grounds in the vicinity. A Committee is circulat-ing among the immense throng for sub-

The whole community is thrilled with horror here at the great calamity. Mining cannot be resumed at any of the works of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Co.'s mines within a week; not at least until all the funerals of the Avondale dead are over. The fact of the long and sowere strike just ended adding greatly to the destitution which will follow the calamity. The widows and orphens will number not less than aix hundred.

PREPARING FOR A DESCENT. At three o'clock the crowd was cleared and a rope enclosure made around the mouth of the shaft by the police. THE LATEST PARTICULARS.

1 P. M.—The second party of men returned safely as had the first. They penetrated the gangway a distance of seventy-five feet and found the large door wide open. They then went one hundred feet further in one of the passages and found a small door closed. After opening this door, to give a circulation of air around to the entrance, they returned. Had this small trance, they returned. Had this small door been opened, there might have been a shade of hope, as the gas and smoke and fire would have been passing around the circuit and out again. As it is, the fears are that the smoke has pen-etrated the inner mine and sufficated all the men. The main doorway leading to the mine has not yet been reached, A THIRD DYSCENT—TWO MEN OVERCOME BY GAS.

The third set of men, four in number went down and came back in fifteen minutes, two of them so overcome with the effects of gas that they are being restored with difficulty. The gas is coming out of the outer mine very fast since the passage way was opened. The wildest excitement prevails and the mass of people are kept back with great difficulty. THE LAST HOPE GONE.

No attempt can of course be made to reach the main down as the gas is so strong. door, or to penetrate the mine until the outer gangway is cleared of gas. It is uncertain how long this will take. There is really no ground to hope a sin-gle life fremains of those who went to work in the mine. Everybody gives them up, and nothing probably remains to be done but to recover the bodies.

They returned in afteen minutes, saying that the water hose was landed in the shaft and they could hot find the hole by which they expected to enter. They were not seriously affected by foal air.

At 7:10 another relay of four men went down. They returned in about twenty minutes, reporting that they had been at

State of Emperor Napoleon's Health. Nothing Reliable or Satisfactory. London "Times" on the French Situation_Spain and the Cuban Question_ Every Effort to be Made to Retain the Sovereignty of the Island-Protest of General Sickles Against Executions Without Trial.

LONDON, September 6.—The condition of Napoleon's health commands universal attention. The most reliable reports received from Paris in this city to-day represent the health of the Emperor as unaltered, and not improved. He has been quite weak during a couple of days past, and not in sufficient strength or situation, says: Many think Prince Napoleon's speech was only a feeler to arrive at a knowledge of men's minds. If so, it was promptly answered. The clamor raised places the real liberal aspirations of France beyond a doubt. The Prince's speech may be taken as the programme of the Imperial government, such as must arise when the present men and principles are re-moved, and when the constitution is removed, and when the constitution is re-formed on the basis of national sover-eignty, municipal self-government and ministerial responsibility. Prince Na-poleon's part in the new order of things poleon's part in the new order of things depends on the chances of the Emperor's recovery. Should the Emperor live, a liberal Ministry, with Prince Napoleon at the head, would be an experiment worth trying. If the Emperor's absence from the Cabinet is to be indefinitely prolonged, it is difficult to see who could dispute the lieutenancy of the Empire with Prince Napoleon. The present crisis in France cannot be without grave consequences, and the Prince
