GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, September 10.—The Prince of Wales has directed Captain Hatten Saunders to communicate to the Harvard University Boat Club his regret at being precluded from paying his personal respects to them individually and collectively during their stay in England.

The Times contrasts the French revolution of 1848 with the present revolution in Spain. In the former the people ruled, when the power given to Gen. O'Connell was turned against the people's sovereignty after a short but fierce struggle. In Spain the army governs, yet the army, although ruling, has neither conquered nor sought for power. A struggle with the people is always imminent, but the contending forces are unequal and the odds are against the people.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Lady Palmerston, widow of the late Lord Palmerston, died yesterday.

PARIS, September 11.—Official newspapers to day announce Napoleon well—rumors of the possible abdication foreboding a not improbable event as the Emperor is not likely to return, his sick condition being such that he is unable to do his duty.

PARIS, September 12.—A fearful hurricane has swept over the north of France, causing much damage to the crops and other property.

PARIS, September 12.—The Emperor did not go to day on account of the severity of the weather. The Journal (official) publishes the text of the Senatus Consultum, which is promulgated in the name of the Emperor and signed by Rouher, and countersigned by Dreyfus. The following is a synopsis of the document.

Article 1. The Ministers are dependent on the Emperor. They deliberate under his Presidency, are responsible, but can only be impeached by the Senate.

Article 2. The Ministers may be members of either Chamber; they have free access to and the right to speak in both.

Article 3. The Ministers may be members of either Chamber; they have free access to and the right to speak in both.

Article 4. The Ministers may be members of either Chamber; they have free access to and the right to speak in both.

Article 5. The Senate, after pointing out modifications in a bill, may send it back for further consideration to the Corps Legislatif and in any case they oppose the promulgation of a bill, in such case the bill cannot be presented in the Corps Legislatif again during the same session.

Article 6. The Corps Legislatif elects its own officers. At the opening of each session the members of the Legislatif make their own internal regulations.

Article 7. Every individual member of the Senate and Corps Legislatif has the right of interpellation. Votes of confidence or want of confidence, orders of day motions, can be adopted, but they must be referred to the bureaux as a matter of right whenever the government demands it, and the bureaux will then appoint a commissioner to consider the matter, on whose report the Corps will decide whether to accept or reject.

Article 8. No amendment of a bill can be discussed unless it has been previously considered by the Committee which considered the bill, and also communicated to the government. If the government and Committee disagree on the amendment, the Council of State shall pronounce its opinion, but the final decision rests with the Corps Legislatif.

Article 9. The budgets are presented and voted on by chapters and articles.

Article 10. All modifications in customs or postal tariffs made through treaties with foreign nations, will require a law to make them binding.

Article 11. The relations of the Emperor, Senate and Corps Legislatif are changed only in so far as they are modified by this Senatus Consultum. Their formal intercourses will be settled hereafter by Imperial decree.
