RM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD. A WORD TO FARMERS ABOUT SELLING EIR PRODUCE.-Farmers are often med for not selling their produce as | ing and delicious, never shrinking in the on as it is ready for market. And it pot. ld on in hopes of getting higher ices. They obtain their money soon er harvest, and are enabled to use it advantage. Dealers in grain can ob and consequently hold their grain-While, therefore, we think farmers of 1 do better by selling early, there is ll room for the excercise of judgment. te reason why it is usually best to sell ly is, that most farmers are disposed hold on to their grain as long as possible, il when the time comes that they must il, there are more sellers than buyers, d the price declines.

It is a curious fact that people genery are more inclined to sell when prices low than when they are nigh. When sol was eighty cents a pound it was re difficult to induce farmers to sell in when it was forty cents per pound. st fall, with red wheat at $2,25 in the erior of Michigan, farmers hesitated ager in making up their minds to let ir crops go than they did last summer by adopted this rule last autumn. We low of a great many who sold wheat is summer for one dollar a bushel less an they refused for it last fall. The nole nation suffered greatly by this insposition to sell when a good price uld be obtained. We might have ipped all our surplus wheat to England fair price, but by holding on we lost

e opportunity, and finally sold at a price low the cost of production. We should und wheat is an article that will keep, d it is an article that is always required, d it is absolutely certain that it cannot ng remain at a price much below the tual cost of production. We cannot ld out hopes to such farmers as only ow ten or twelve bushels of wheat per compensate them for their labor. The firmly believe that there is no reason doubt that a farmer who raises good ops is safe in calculating that sooner or er he will be able to obtain such a price r his wheat as will enable him to make There is one fact in this connection that ould not be overlooked. In a cool, wet, te season in England, the wheat crop is ways below the average. And they we had such a season the present year. h the other hand, it is very doubt-lif the wheat crop of the United States as large as was anticipated. We feel lerably certain, therefore, that before satisfied with this. He should be in hurry to take less.

The question arises: What price should e obtain for wheat, to afford us a fair ofit? At the present price of impleents, machines, and other necessary areles, not forgetting labor and taxes, we all not obtain extravagant profits if we ll good, sound red or amber winter heat—say in Michigan—for $1.50 per shel. A farmer who raises anything as than twenty bushels per acre will not tvery rich, even if he obtains, in our esent currency, $1.75 for red wheat, id $2.00 for choice white wheat. When e can get these figures in ordinary seans, it is not safe to hold on too long; it when, immediately after harvest, the ice is much below these figures, those ho can afford to hold their wheat run ry little risk of loss in doing so .-

merican Agriculturist TOO MUCH LAND. We know a farmer who, ten years ago, wned 150 acres, and was doing well; now owns five hundred, and is worse I than before. And why? Because is large farm is a great bill of expense od condition, and it hangs a mills one care about his neck. His wife and ildren, both sons and daughters, are bys declare they will leave home as soon ers. Neither sons nor daughters are a lid to shut tight, leaving room to lucated as they deserve to be; they can-ot be spared for this from work on the with lemon or vanilla or sweet sauce or g farm. Now we declare that such a farm is a n injury to the whole agricultural interit. If that man wants to save himself ad household, he should sell at least one-alf of his land, improve the remainder make it productive, release his chilren from bondage, and try to make his ome a comfort. He will live longer, lay p as good property, and will train up a ore intelligent and a happier family. —

WHY PORK SHRINKS IN THE POT. An "Old Farmer" gives in The Homeead the various notions on this question, id closes with his own views on the subct, which we condense below for our Store hogs kept low in flesh in summer nd autumn, and then fully fed when autumn, and then fully fed when autumn for fattening, will gain fast, apear to be doing well, and look well then dressed, but will weigh light, and alcohol take one ounce and a half of oil oiling will prove the flesh to be puffy, the of bergamot, one ounce of lemon, quar ard and firm—it is hardly soluble in olling water; hence pork shrinks in the ot. The same kind of pork results from eding hogs on mostly snimal food, as at the control of the same proportion.

Pears.—Pears, like peaches and quintered of the control of the contr ot. The same kind of pork results from seding hogs on mostly animal food, as at aughter houses, and from irregular feeding, or from killing sows when in heat.

To produce pork that will not shrink in the pot, the writer says that he first as a good oreed; they are never allowed of fall off in good condition from the lart they get with their mother's milk, and never know stint or stunt while alive. It is automa he takes them up in igh order, and begins to fatten them, acreasing their rations of grain till they re fat and ready to kill. Then he feeds aem one week more, and makes due or parations for butchering, which is done early in the day by good hands. When thoroughly cooled cuts up and salts down (not allowing his pork to freeze), using plenty of the best salt, and filling up the barrels with brine, and not with water as some do. This method secures pork, white firm, compact, and almost as solid as marble, which, when well cooked, will be tender, juicy, melt-ist be confessed that those who do so, ing one year with another, do quite as earth as a deodorizer for poultry houses, appears, says the London Field, to be worthy of more attention than it has hitherto received. The fact that four hundred to five hundred fowls can by this aid be kept in one building for months together, with less smell than is to be found in an ordinary fowl house capable of accommodating a dozen chickens, is very conclusive as to its efficacy. In the buildn money much more easily than farming of the National Company, where this fact has been ascertained, seven or eight fowls are kept in each compariment, twelve feet by three feet, and there is no smell or trace of moisture. It should be stated that the droppings that fall from the perches during the night are removed from the runs each morning, and that the dry earth only receives the manure that falls during the day; this has its moisture absorbed so speedily by the earth, that it at once becomes pulverized, mixes with the soil and ceases to smell. So powerful is the declorizing effect of the earth that it does not require to be renewed in the runs for many weeks together. THE following receipts for preserves are from Mrs. Putnan's Recipe Book:

Quinces. — The orange quince is the best to preserve. Peel and core the me wheat. It is a good rule to sell best to preserve. Peel and core the den you can get a price that will afford good living profit. Farmers, at the good living profit. Farmers, at the core into a kettle with just enough water them. Let this simmer about llions of dollars than they now are had to cover them. Let this simmer about two hours; then strain the liquor, put it back into the kettle, and put in as many quinces as the liquor will cover; boil them until they are tender, take them out and put them on a flat dish to cool; put in more until all are boiled, then put the sugar in, and let it boil until it becomes a syrup; then put in as many quinces as the syrup will cover; let them boil about thirty minutes; put them on a flat dish to low the cost of production. Peaches. - Weigh to a pound of peaches a pound of sugar; put the peaches into a preserving kettle, and turn on boiling water, enough to just cover them, and let them boil ten minutes. Take ee, that they will obtain prices sufficient them out carefully on a flat dish to cool, then peel them with your fingers, to keep the shape, take a little of the water that untry must be in a very unsatisfactory the shape, take a little of the water that modition when such is the case; but we they were bolled in, add the sugar, and let it boil until it becomes a syrup. Put in a few peaches at a time, so as not to crowd them; when they are done put them on a dish to cool. Lay them care-fully into a jar, boil the syrup a few minutes after the peaches are down, and strain it hot over the peaches.

Another Mode—Peel the peaches; weigh a pound of sugar to a pound of peaches; strew half the sugar on to the peaches, and let them stand over night. Next day turn off the syrup, and add the rest of the sugar; boil the syrup about fifteen minutes; put in the peaches and boil them until they are tender; take them other harvest, wheat will bring a price out to cool, then put up in jars and strain the syrup hot into them; let them stand two or three days. If the syrup has be. the syrup hot into them; let them stand two or three days. If the syrup has become thin at the top of the jar, turn the when cold. Put paper wet with brandy over the mouth of jars, and then a bladder over it, and tie them up.

Boiled Custard. - To one quart of milk add four well beaten eggs and a cup of white sugar; flavor with lemon or vanilla. Put tuis in a tin pail, which set in a kettle of boiling water, letting it remain until the custard just boils then remove

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCE'S PULMONIC bYRLP SEAWEED TONIC AND LIVER COMPAINT SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDEAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the livor and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in fiesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patients outgrows the disease and gets well. This is not only way to cure consumption. The Pulmont outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the stomach of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmont outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the stomach and structure in the tions, for when the philesm or matter is ripe a silght cough will throw it off, and the patient has reat and the lungs begin to heal.

the food with the Pumonic Syrup, and it is made into good brood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physiciaws do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Bemove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyrpepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the ungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial tritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of fo d. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets dealy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint dangles for large commence to heal up, and the patient gets dealy and well. This is the coll way to cure Consumption.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 245 pounds, was warted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He wascured by the aforesaid meetienes, and since his recovery many thousands similarly affilted have used Dr. Echenck, a preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street. New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 33 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday.
