Severely Injured.—Last evening a son of Mr: Jacob Walz, of the firm of Lutz & Walz, brewers, Seventh Ward, Alle-gheny, was severely injured by being thrown from a buggy while the horse at-tacked free running away. The accident tached was running away. The accident occurred on Ohio Street. He received medical attention at the residence of his parents.

Palsled.—Tuesday evening Mr. Danis Kellar, doing business on Ohio street, Fourth ward, Allegheny, while walking across the yard at the rear of his premises, suddenly fell to the ground. When picked up it was ascertained that he had received a stroke of palsy, depriving him of the use of his lower limbs. He is receiving medical attention at his resi-the office. He is liberal minded and progressive, thoroughly honest and hon-orable, and perhaps has as great an in-terest in the conduct of municipal affairs as the large majority of his constituents.

On the whole the ticket is a most excel-lent one and is wortby the hearty sup-port of all the citizens of the ward. For the Refuge,-Yesterday afternoon For the Refuge.—Yesterday alternoon a colored boy was observed robbing the till of a stand in the Allegheny market. The owner, Mr. Burchill, seized the lad and had him taken to the lock up. He will have a hearing this morning. This is the third time the boy has been de-tected in pilfering in the market, and it is quite likely he will go to the House of Refuge. port of all the citizens of the ward. Refuge.

Correction .- Messrs. Lockhart, Frew & Co. desire us to correct some errors in yesterday's item regarding the fire at the Brilliant Oil Works. The fire was not occasioned by an explosion of a still, not occasioned by an explosion or a still, but by a leak. The Works were in no danger of destruction at any time, and the fire was promptly extinguished with little or no loss. We are glad to make the correction.

Pumpmakers at War.

The pump making business, like other trades, sometimes engenders a little illfeeling between those engaged in it. It was so yesterday in the case of Messrs. H. Tyler and James Charles, carrying on the business in the Third ward, Allegheny. This rivalry proceeded so far that a personal encounter was the result, followed by two informations made before Mayor Drum against Tyler. The first, made by Charles, was for surety of the peace, the defendont claiming that the threats of Tyler had made him fear for his life. the threats of Tyler had made him fear for his life. longer even a snadow of hope that any one survives from Franklin's company. It is thought that none of them reached even as far as Montreal Island, and their bonesile scattered along the coast of King William's Land, some in isolated graves, others in camping places, where they died in companies. The melancholy his-tory has its crowning terror in the knowl-edge that they died by starvatioe, edge that they died by starvatioe, through the base behavior of the Esqui-maux, and that on learning their fate, Capt. Hall was reduced to the awful ne-cessity of taking the life of one of his own mutinous men. Mr. Hall states that the Erebus and Terror were aban-doned. One of them consummated the great North-West passage, having five men aboard. The evidence of the exact number is circumstantial.
