

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

PUBLISHED BY PENNIMAN, REED & CO., Proprietors. 7, B. PENNIMAN, JOSIAH KING, T. P. HOUSTON, N. F. REED, Editors and Proprietors.

OFFICE: GAZETTE BUILDING, 84 AND 86 FIFTH AV. OFFICIAL PAPER OF Pittsburgh, Allegheny and Allegheny County.

MONDAY, OCT. 4, 1899. UNION REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR: JOHN W. GEARY.

JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT: HENRY W. WILLIAMS.

COUNTY. ASSOCIATE JUDGE DISTRICT COURT: JOHN M. KIRKPATRICK.

ASSISTANT JUDGE COMMON PLEAS: FRED K. H. COLLIER.

STATE SENATE—THOMAS HOWARD, ASSEMBLY—MILES S. HUMPHREYS, ALAN D. HARRIS, JAMES W. HARRIS, JOHN H. KERR, JOHN W. FLEMING, TREASURER—JOS. F. DENNSTON, CLERK OF COURTS—JOSEPH BROWN, RECORDS—THOMAS H. HUNTER, COMMISSIONER—JACOB B. BOSTWICK, REGISTER—JOSEPH B. GRAY, CLERK ORPHANS' COURT—ALEX. HILANDS, DIRECTOR OF POOR—ABRAHAM McCLEURE.

WE PRINT on the inside pages of this morning's GAZETTE—Second Page: Poetry, "The Darkened Nursery," General News, State Politics, State Items, Third and Sixth pages: Finance and Trade, Markets, Imports, River News, Seventh page: New Publications, Personal, Foreign News and Rumors, Amusements.

U. S. BONDS at Frankfurt, 87 1/2. PETROLEUM at Antwerp, 56 1/2.

GOLD closed in New York Saturday at 129 1/2.

THE MEETING TO-NIGHT: Let none of our friends forget the grand Republican rally to be held this evening at City Hall, at which Senator JOHN SCOTT and other distinguished speakers will be present to address their fellow-citizens on the important issues of the hour.

They are figuring up, at Washington, a Republican majority in Pennsylvania. A full vote next week will furnish figures vastly more reliable. And we shall have them.

It is said that the Methodist Book scandal, which first appeared in the N. Y. Times, was the immediate cause for the recent severance of Mr. Bigelow's editorial connection with that journal.

The Chicago Journal expresses great confidence that the frosts have as yet done no injury to the corn crop of the Northwest, which is likely to be the largest in quantity, and in quality one of the best ever produced in this country.

So MANY candidates offer for the Senatorial places from Virginia, that the election is likely to be deferred until after the final admission of the State. That little circumstance would make a great hole in our Attorney General's logic.

THE ARCTIC researches of Captain Hayes have settled the question that Sir John Franklin was the first actually to solve the problem of the North-West Passage. Having, on previous voyages from the West, sailed Eastward as far as Cape Herschel, the Westward Expedition which resulted fatally, penetrated beyond that point and so completed the chain of communication. A late navigator, Captain McClure, in the Investigator, lived to achieve the same success and to receive the reward therefor.

A SO CALLED Cuban privateer has found the open seas. The Hornet is a fast sailing, well-manned and heavily armed steamship, and threatens serious mischief to the Spanish commerce. She is legally no privateer, but simply a pirate—to be so regarded in every port and by every flag in the world except those of Mexico, the only power which has recognized the belligerency of the insurgents. She has successfully slipped through the fingers of our own authorities at Philadelphia and New York, and of the British authorities at Halifax, going finally to sea from the latter port. It is thus fortunate that England and Spain cannot turn the Alabama tables upon us. But our own obligations of international duty toward Britain, nevertheless, are not thereby released. Our navy should be forthwith instructed to capture this pirate, after her first overt act, and bring her into our ports for adjudication. Spain can settle the question with England as she sees fit.

IN THE Northumberland district the Democrats are running two candidates for Senator, both claiming to be regular, with about equal show. These are Mr. Buckalew, late United States Senator, and Mr. Chalfant, the editor of a newspaper at Danville. The Republicans have nominated Mr. Whitmoyer, of Columbia county, with what chances, if any, it is hard to tell at this distance. The district is composed of Columbia, Montour, Northumberland and Sullivan counties, and polled, last year, a Democratic majority of 3,007.

Mr. Buckalew has all the Democratic newspapers on his side except Mr. Chalfant's. How far this circumstance may be taken as an index to popular opinion in the party, we shall not undertake to determine. But it is clear that the hindmost of their candidates, if both remain in the field, must poll a respectable number of votes, or Mr. Whitmoyer will certainly be defeated. Fortunately, the Republican majority in the next Senate will not depend on his election.

It is a fact worthy of remark that the Democracy of the western section of the State, and indeed, we think, of the entire Commonwealth, have in the present campaign thus far failed to hold a single public meeting, conducting their part of the canvass in a quiet and unobtrusive manner. This course they hope will win, but it seems that they are particularly distrustful of the people, since no open avowal of their policy or principles dare be made. The simple truth is that they are assumed to be found occupying the same old positions in which they have so often been stormed and defeated, and from which they have never dared to make a progressive step. Their silent campaign, with its mysterious dark lantern proceedings, certainly presents a striking contrast with the open and fearless course of the Republicans, who are every where aroused to the importance of the issues involved in the canvass, and who are anxious to proclaim to the whole world the principles they have espoused.

LAST WEEK the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company resumed its monthly sales of coal at auction. Ninety thousand tons were sold, in lots, and at low prices, lump bringing only $5.12 and smaller sizes in proportion, but none exceeding $6.50. Of course these are wholesale rates, and retail prices, to compensate for handling and profit, must be at least $1 higher, and perhaps $2. This decline sustains abundantly the assurances given by the leading coal companies during the panic about coal two months ago, when they offered to contract at $7 for winter delivery.

This falling off in prices, while it suits consumers exactly, does not gratify the miners. The point of depression is nearly reached at which "the basis" provides for a strike with a view to sending up prices, by diminishing the supply. In the Mahanoy district, Schuylkill county, the miners in nearly all the collieries have actually struck, demanding an advance of fifty per cent, which is clear enough the employers cannot concede, unless the price of coal shall advance. Negotiations are progressing between the operators and miners, but we do not see any probability of their coming to an arrangement.

THE STRATEGY OF FAINT HEART.

The New York Tribune has no choice between the opposing tickets in Texas and Mississippi; and it insists that the Federal Administration shall indicate none. Why? Because that journal apprehends that the Xvth Article would thereby be endangered. The Tribune may dismiss its own sense of anxious responsibility in the premises. The people of those two States have themselves drawn the lines of discrimination clear and sharp.

Every Republican in Texas supports the Davis ticket, and every rebel—no matter whether he calls himself Democrat or Conservative—will vote the ticket just set in the field by a convention of opposition editors. The Hamilton movement has gone up; or, at least it left of means nothing else but the disruption of the Republican party of the State. Does the Tribune suppose that with the defeat of Davis the Article would be ratified, except for the fact that no reconstruction is otherwise possible? It is true that either party, if successful, must ratify that proposition, but it is nothing to secure the control of the State government in sound Republican hands? And shall the President deny the legitimate influence of the Federal government against a murderous faction of which Gen. Reynolds has exposed the true character to the world, and which, in all these loyal States, finds not one to defend it except the editor of the Tribune.

We have a report that the Administration's avowal of sympathy with the Davis ticket stirs up the local pugacity that twenty more Republican speakers are to take the field for the Hamilton ticket. Very likely! Drawing lines straight and sharp, in the midst of so much previous confusion, usually results in unmasking a large amount of pretension, and Texas Republicanism will be the purer and stronger for the weeding which this report indicates. Whether the cause of secure Unionism is, for the moment, to gain or to lose thereby, its permanent and effective advantage demands that the discriminations be fearlessly made and adhered to without flinching. Hamilton and his "twenty or more Republican" advocates will, in due time, report them-

THE CAPITAL.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) WASHINGTON, October 3, 1899. THE ADMINISTRATION AND THE GOLD PANIC.

As comments have been made in the newspapers affecting the Administration in connection with the recent gold panic, and much interest is felt on the subject, the Washington agent of the Associated Press to-night called upon the President to ascertain whether there was any foundation for the insinuation, or direct charges against the Administration. The President consented to be interviewed on the subject, and said he had not thought proper to publicly contradict the statements concerning himself, as he had done nothing whatever to influence the money market, or to afford any advantages to private parties. While in New York he had many voluntary advisers, but he had never said to them that the Administration always held itself in a position to act as it seemed best, and from time to time changes of policy for the public interest. In the course of the conversation he stated that while on the eve of going to New York, he had been informed by the Secretary of the Treasury that the Secretary of the Treasury was going to change its action or policy, the Secretary of the Treasury would give notice to the public of such a change as usual, or he did not think so himself. Fisk admitted that it would not be fair. The President then informed that the President's Administration was going to change its action or policy, the Secretary of the Treasury would give notice to the public of such a change as usual, or he did not think so himself. Fisk admitted that it would not be fair. The President then informed that the President's Administration was going to change its action or policy, the Secretary of the Treasury would give notice to the public of such a change as usual, or he did not think so himself. Fisk admitted that it would not be fair.

It is a fact worthy of remark that the Democracy of the western section of the State, and indeed, we think, of the entire Commonwealth, have in the present campaign thus far failed to hold a single public meeting, conducting their part of the canvass in a quiet and unobtrusive manner. This course they hope will win, but it seems that they are particularly distrustful of the people, since no open avowal of their policy or principles dare be made. The simple truth is that they are assumed to be found occupying the same old positions in which they have so often been stormed and defeated, and from which they have never dared to make a progressive step. Their silent campaign, with its mysterious dark lantern proceedings, certainly presents a striking contrast with the open and fearless course of the Republicans, who are every where aroused to the importance of the issues involved in the canvass, and who are anxious to proclaim to the whole world the principles they have espoused.

LAST WEEK the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company resumed its monthly sales of coal at auction. Ninety thousand tons were sold, in lots, and at low prices, lump bringing only $5.12 and smaller sizes in proportion, but none exceeding $6.50. Of course these are wholesale rates, and retail prices, to compensate for handling and profit, must be at least $1 higher, and perhaps $2. This decline sustains abundantly the assurances given by the leading coal companies during the panic about coal two months ago, when they offered to contract at $7 for winter delivery.

NEW YORK CITY.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) NEW YORK, October 3, 1899. The Times asserts positively that notwithstanding the denial of the fact by Marshal Barlow, the steamer Alabama, under command of Captain Limeburne, left the port last Sunday evening for Cuba, carrying several hundred men and an extensive supply of munitions for the Cuban revolutionary army. Her armament consisted of thirteen pieces of heavy ordnance, two thousand Remington rifles, and a large amount of powder and ordnance stores. Exactly five hundred and thirty men, among whom were one hundred and sixty-eight of the disastrous Whitney expedition, which was seized at Gardner's Island last summer, took passage on her. The brig B. F. Nash was recently suspected of having concealed arms on board, but a search proved it to be a false report.

The steamer Cuba, formerly the Hornet, is reported to have been off Barnegat on Thursday last. She was seen about five m. by a pilot who returned here yesterday, who spoke her. He describes her as being a schooner. Exactly five hundred and thirty men, among whom were one hundred and sixty-eight of the disastrous Whitney expedition, which was seized at Gardner's Island last summer, took passage on her. The brig B. F. Nash was recently suspected of having concealed arms on board, but a search proved it to be a false report.

A member of the firm of Lockwood & Co. denies with authority, the rumor that the liabilities of their house approach anywhere near the sum mentioned between twenty and thirty millions of dollars. While their losses have not yet been fully developed, it is positively asserted they are not involved to half this extent in the Board.

It is proposed by some members of the Gold Board Exchange to commence at once the work of weeding out the "iams ducks" in the Board.

The rules which were suspended by the Gold Board Exchange on Thursday will go into operation on Monday, parties who have failed to make settlements will be liable to have their gold sold out, and will also be liable to fines for their delinquency.

Yesterday morning the French steamer Villa de Paris took on board twenty-two French Canadian soldiers for Rome. They are the third division of Papal recruits. Several Canadian priests accompany them. These new recruits are to replace those Zouaves whose term of service has expired.

A special despatch from Fernandina, Florida, yesterday, states that the vessel of the Cuban expedition had sailed before Marshal Barlow's despatch to detain them was received. Two hundred recruits for the Cuban army arrived there yesterday from Mason, Ga.

An American revenue cutter, and three Spanish gun boats, are off Cedar Keys on the look out for Cuban reinforcements.

New Orleans special of yesterday reports that the steamship Lillian left for a L'outré early yesterday morning for Florida ports. The steamer Tessa is still there, with no preparations for sea.

Washington special states that the Government has not decided to take any action in the case of the Cuban privateer Hornet, of Cuba, nor is it probable one will be captured, unless she is taken on some depredations on American commerce. The Administration takes the Hornet cannot be considered strictly a pirate, and the United States is not bound to attempt her capture.

NEWS BY CABLE.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) LONDON, October 3.—The coroner gives the number of killed at the Fair grounds on Friday, including two wounded that have since died, at twenty. There is still one boy at Weaver's undertaker's office not recognized, and the head and some fragments of flesh of another.

John Loring, of Franklin, Ind., died at the City Hospital yesterday, and J. A. McVay, from the country, near this city, at the Surgical Institute today.

One of the bodies at Weaver's is supposed to be that of Jno. Slack, from Rob Roy, Ind.

Nine of the dead were buried here today. Two or three more of the wounded are in a very critical condition and will probably not recover.

As near as can be ascertained, between fifty and sixty were wounded. The coroner's jury is still in session, taking evidence, but will probably render a verdict for several days.

It has been definitely ascertained that there were no females killed, except one girl, Miss Dawson, twelve years old. Several ladies were badly scalped, and three of them are still at the hospital.

THE LATE DISASTER AT INDIANAPOLIS.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) INDIANAPOLIS, October 3.—The coroner gives the number of killed at the Fair grounds on Friday, including two wounded that have since died, at twenty. There is still one boy at Weaver's undertaker's office not recognized, and the head and some fragments of flesh of another.

John Loring, of Franklin, Ind., died at the City Hospital yesterday, and J. A. McVay, from the country, near this city, at the Surgical Institute today.

One of the bodies at Weaver's is supposed to be that of Jno. Slack, from Rob Roy, Ind.

Nine of the dead were buried here today. Two or three more of the wounded are in a very critical condition and will probably not recover.

As near as can be ascertained, between fifty and sixty were wounded. The coroner's jury is still in session, taking evidence, but will probably render a verdict for several days.

It has been definitely ascertained that there were no females killed, except one girl, Miss Dawson, twelve years old. Several ladies were badly scalped, and three of them are still at the hospital.

THE LATE DISASTER AT INDIANAPOLIS.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) INDIANAPOLIS, October 3.—The coroner gives the number of killed at the Fair grounds on Friday, including two wounded that have since died, at twenty. There is still one boy at Weaver's undertaker's office not recognized, and the head and some fragments of flesh of another.

John Loring, of Franklin, Ind., died at the City Hospital yesterday, and J. A. McVay, from the country, near this city, at the Surgical Institute today.

One of the bodies at Weaver's is supposed to be that of Jno. Slack, from Rob Roy, Ind.

Nine of the dead were buried here today. Two or three more of the wounded are in a very critical condition and will probably not recover.

As near as can be ascertained, between fifty and sixty were wounded. The coroner's jury is still in session, taking evidence, but will probably render a verdict for several days.

It has been definitely ascertained that there were no females killed, except one girl, Miss Dawson, twelve years old. Several ladies were badly scalped, and three of them are still at the hospital.

THE LATE DISASTER AT INDIANAPOLIS.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) INDIANAPOLIS, October 3.—The coroner gives the number of killed at the Fair grounds on Friday, including two wounded that have since died, at twenty. There is still one boy at Weaver's undertaker's office not recognized, and the head and some fragments of flesh of another.

John Loring, of Franklin, Ind., died at the City Hospital yesterday, and J. A. McVay, from the country, near this city, at the Surgical Institute today.

One of the bodies at Weaver's is supposed to be that of Jno. Slack, from Rob Roy, Ind.

Nine of the dead were buried here today. Two or three more of the wounded are in a very critical condition and will probably not recover.

As near as can be ascertained, between fifty and sixty were wounded. The coroner's jury is still in session, taking evidence, but will probably render a verdict for several days.

It has been definitely ascertained that there were no females killed, except one girl, Miss Dawson, twelve years old. Several ladies were badly scalped, and three of them are still at the hospital.

THE LATE DISASTER AT INDIANAPOLIS.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) INDIANAPOLIS, October 3.—The coroner gives the number of killed at the Fair grounds on Friday, including two wounded that have since died, at twenty. There is still one boy at Weaver's undertaker's office not recognized, and the head and some fragments of flesh of another.

John Loring, of Franklin, Ind., died at the City Hospital yesterday, and J. A. McVay, from the country, near this city, at the Surgical Institute today.

One of the bodies at Weaver's is supposed to be that of Jno. Slack, from Rob Roy, Ind.

Nine of the dead were buried here today. Two or three more of the wounded are in a very critical condition and will probably not recover.

As near as can be ascertained, between fifty and sixty were wounded. The coroner's jury is still in session, taking evidence, but will probably render a verdict for several days.

It has been definitely ascertained that there were no females killed, except one girl, Miss Dawson, twelve years old. Several ladies were badly scalped, and three of them are still at the hospital.

THE CAPITAL.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) WASHINGTON, October 3, 1899. THE ADMINISTRATION AND THE GOLD PANIC.

As comments have been made in the newspapers affecting the Administration in connection with the recent gold panic, and much interest is felt on the subject, the Washington agent of the Associated Press to-night called upon the President to ascertain whether there was any foundation for the insinuation, or direct charges against the Administration. The President consented to be interviewed on the subject, and said he had not thought proper to publicly contradict the statements concerning himself, as he had done nothing whatever to influence the money market, or to afford any advantages to private parties. While in New York he had many voluntary advisers, but he had never said to them that the Administration always held itself in a position to act as it seemed best, and from time to time changes of policy for the public interest. In the course of the conversation he stated that while on the eve of going to New York, he had been informed by the Secretary of the Treasury that the Secretary of the Treasury was going to change its action or policy, the Secretary of the Treasury would give notice to the public of such a change as usual, or he did not think so himself. Fisk admitted that it would not be fair. The President then informed that the President's Administration was going to change its action or policy, the Secretary of the Treasury would give notice to the public of such a change as usual, or he did not think so himself. Fisk admitted that it would not be fair.

It is a fact worthy of remark that the Democracy of the western section of the State, and indeed, we think, of the entire Commonwealth, have in the present campaign thus far failed to hold a single public meeting, conducting their part of the canvass in a quiet and unobtrusive manner. This course they hope will win, but it seems that they are particularly distrustful of the people, since no open avowal of their policy or principles dare be made. The simple truth is that they are assumed to be found occupying the same old positions in which they have so often been stormed and defeated, and from which they have never dared to make a progressive step. Their silent campaign, with its mysterious dark lantern proceedings, certainly presents a striking contrast with the open and fearless course of the Republicans, who are every where aroused to the importance of the issues involved in the canvass, and who are anxious to proclaim to the whole world the principles they have espoused.

LAST WEEK the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company resumed its monthly sales of coal at auction. Ninety thousand tons were sold, in lots, and at low prices, lump bringing only $5.12 and smaller sizes in proportion, but none exceeding $6.50. Of course these are wholesale rates, and retail prices, to compensate for handling and profit, must be at least $1 higher, and perhaps $2. This decline sustains abundantly the assurances given by the leading coal companies during the panic about coal two months ago, when they offered to contract at $7 for winter delivery.

NEW YORK CITY.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) NEW YORK, October 3, 1899. The Times asserts positively that notwithstanding the denial of the fact by Marshal Barlow, the steamer Alabama, under command of Captain Limeburne, left the port last Sunday evening for Cuba, carrying several hundred men and an extensive supply of munitions for the Cuban revolutionary army. Her armament consisted of thirteen pieces of heavy ordnance, two thousand Remington rifles, and a large amount of powder and ordnance stores. Exactly five hundred and thirty men, among whom were one hundred and sixty-eight of the disastrous Whitney expedition, which was seized at Gardner's Island last summer, took passage on her. The brig B. F. Nash was recently suspected of having concealed arms on board, but a search proved it to be a false report.

The steamer Cuba, formerly the Hornet, is reported to have been off Barnegat on Thursday last. She was seen about five m. by a pilot who returned here yesterday, who spoke her. He describes her as being a schooner. Exactly five hundred and thirty men, among whom were one hundred and sixty-eight of the disastrous Whitney expedition, which was seized at Gardner's Island last summer, took passage on her. The brig B. F. Nash was recently suspected of having concealed arms on board, but a search proved it to be a false report.

A member of the firm of Lockwood & Co. denies with authority, the rumor that the liabilities of their house approach anywhere near the sum mentioned between twenty and thirty millions of dollars. While their losses have not yet been fully developed, it is positively asserted they are not involved to half this extent in the Board.

It is proposed by some members of the Gold Board Exchange to commence at once the work of weeding out the "iams ducks" in the Board.

The rules which were suspended by the Gold Board Exchange on Thursday will go into operation on Monday, parties who have failed to make settlements will be liable to have their gold sold out, and will also be liable to fines for their delinquency.

Yesterday morning the French steamer Villa de Paris took on board twenty-two French Canadian soldiers for Rome. They are the third division of Papal recruits. Several Canadian priests accompany them. These new recruits are to replace those Zouaves whose term of service has expired.

A special despatch from Fernandina, Florida, yesterday, states that the vessel of the Cuban expedition had sailed before Marshal Barlow's despatch to detain them was received. Two hundred recruits for the Cuban army arrived there yesterday from Mason, Ga.

An American revenue cutter, and three Spanish gun boats, are off Cedar Keys on the look out for Cuban reinforcements.

New Orleans special of yesterday reports that the steamship Lillian left for a L'outré early yesterday morning for Florida ports. The steamer Tessa is still there, with no preparations for sea.

Washington special states that the Government has not decided to take any action in the case of the Cuban privateer Hornet, of Cuba, nor is it probable one will be captured, unless she is taken on some depredations on American commerce. The Administration takes the Hornet cannot be considered strictly a pirate, and the United States is not bound to attempt her capture.

NEWS BY CABLE.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) LONDON, October 3.—The coroner gives the number of killed at the Fair grounds on Friday, including two wounded that have since died, at twenty. There is still one boy at Weaver's undertaker's office not recognized, and the head and some fragments of flesh of another.

John Loring, of Franklin, Ind., died at the City Hospital yesterday, and J. A. McVay, from the country, near this city, at the Surgical Institute today.

One of the bodies at Weaver's is supposed to be that of Jno. Slack, from Rob Roy, Ind.

Nine of the dead were buried here today. Two or three more of the wounded are in a very critical condition and will probably not recover.

As near as can be ascertained, between fifty and sixty were wounded. The coroner's jury is still in session, taking evidence, but will probably render a verdict for several days.

It has been definitely ascertained that there were no females killed, except one girl, Miss Dawson, twelve years old. Several ladies were badly scalped, and three of them are still at the hospital.

THE LATE DISASTER AT INDIANAPOLIS.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) INDIANAPOLIS, October 3.—The coroner gives the number of killed at the Fair grounds on Friday, including two wounded that have since died, at twenty. There is still one boy at Weaver's undertaker's office not recognized, and the head and some fragments of flesh of another.

John Loring, of Franklin, Ind., died at the City Hospital yesterday, and J. A. McVay, from the country, near this city, at the Surgical Institute today.

One of the bodies at Weaver's is supposed to be that of Jno. Slack, from Rob Roy, Ind.

Nine of the dead were buried here today. Two or three more of the wounded are in a very critical condition and will probably not recover.

As near as can be ascertained, between fifty and sixty were wounded. The coroner's jury is still in session, taking evidence, but will probably render a verdict for several days.

It has been definitely ascertained that there were no females killed, except one girl, Miss Dawson, twelve years old. Several ladies were badly scalped, and three of them are still at the hospital.

THE LATE DISASTER AT INDIANAPOLIS.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) INDIANAPOLIS, October 3.—The coroner gives the number of killed at the Fair grounds on Friday, including two wounded that have since died, at twenty. There is still one boy at Weaver's undertaker's office not recognized, and the head and some fragments of flesh of another.

John Loring, of Franklin, Ind., died at the City Hospital yesterday, and J. A. McVay, from the country, near this city, at the Surgical Institute today.

One of the bodies at Weaver's is supposed to be that of Jno. Slack, from Rob Roy, Ind.

Nine of the dead were buried here today. Two or three more of the wounded are in a very critical condition and will probably not recover.

As near as can be ascertained, between fifty and sixty were wounded. The coroner's jury is still in session, taking evidence, but will probably render a verdict for several days.

It has been definitely ascertained that there were no females killed, except one girl, Miss Dawson, twelve years old. Several ladies were badly scalped, and three of them are still at the hospital.

NEWS BY CABLE.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) LONDON, October 3.—The coroner gives the number of killed at the Fair grounds on Friday, including two wounded that have since died, at twenty. There is still one boy at Weaver's undertaker's office not recognized, and the head and some fragments of flesh of another.

John Loring, of Franklin, Ind., died at the City Hospital yesterday, and J. A. McVay, from the country, near this city, at the Surgical Institute today.

One of the bodies at Weaver's is supposed to be that of Jno. Slack, from Rob Roy, Ind.

Nine of the dead were buried here today. Two or three more of the wounded are in a very critical condition and will probably not recover.

As near as can be ascertained, between fifty and sixty were wounded. The coroner's jury is still in session, taking evidence, but will probably render a verdict for several days.

It has been definitely ascertained that there were no females killed, except one girl, Miss Dawson, twelve years old. Several ladies were badly scalped, and three of them are still at the hospital.

THE LATE DISASTER AT INDIANAPOLIS.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) INDIANAPOLIS, October 3.—The coroner gives the number of killed at the Fair grounds on Friday, including two wounded that have since died, at twenty. There is still one boy at Weaver's undertaker's office not recognized, and the head and some fragments of flesh of another.

John Loring, of Franklin, Ind., died at the City Hospital yesterday, and J. A. McVay, from the country, near this city, at the Surgical Institute today.

One of the bodies at Weaver's is supposed to be that of Jno. Slack, from Rob Roy, Ind.

Nine of the dead were buried here today. Two or three more of the wounded are in a very critical condition and will probably not recover.

As near as can be ascertained, between fifty and sixty were wounded. The coroner's jury is still in session, taking evidence, but will probably render a verdict for several days.

It has been definitely ascertained that there were no females killed, except one girl, Miss Dawson, twelve years old. Several ladies were badly scalped, and three of them are still at the hospital.

THE LATE DISASTER AT INDIANAPOLIS.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) INDIANAPOLIS, October 3.—The coroner gives the number of killed at the Fair grounds on Friday, including two wounded that have since died, at twenty. There is still one boy at Weaver's undertaker's office not recognized, and the head and some fragments of flesh of another.

John Loring, of Franklin, Ind., died at the City Hospital yesterday, and J. A. McVay, from the country, near this city, at the Surgical Institute today.

One of the bodies at Weaver's is supposed to be that of Jno. Slack, from Rob Roy, Ind.

Nine of the dead were buried here today. Two or three more of the wounded are in a very critical condition and will probably not recover.

As near as can be ascertained, between fifty and sixty were wounded. The coroner's jury is still in session, taking evidence, but will probably render a verdict for several days.

It has been definitely ascertained that there were no females killed, except one girl, Miss Dawson, twelve years old. Several ladies were badly scalped, and three of them are still at the hospital.

THE LATE DISASTER AT INDIANAPOLIS.

(By Telegram to the Pittsburgh Gazette.) INDIANAPOLIS, October 3.—The coroner gives the number of killed at the Fair grounds on Friday, including two wounded that have since died, at twenty. There is still one boy at Weaver's undertaker's office not recognized, and the head and some fragments of flesh of another.

John Loring, of Franklin, Ind., died at the City Hospital yesterday, and J. A. McVay, from the country, near this city, at the Surgical Institute today.

One of the bodies at Weaver's is supposed to be that of Jno. Slack, from Rob Roy, Ind.