A Good Motto Well Displayed. One of the neatest and best designs of sign painting to be found in the city, arrests the eye of the passer on Liberty street at the corner of Ninth (late Hand) street, which, while in itself worth attention as a work of artistic merit, displays the true motto that "the best is the cheapest." It is needless to say to our readers that at Mr. Renshaw's well known establishment are to be found the best of goods, and you have only to test them by a small purchase to be con-vinced that they are the cheapest in the city: A large and fresh stock from the East is just coming in store, and as the season is just at hand for laying in winter supplies, we can do our readers no better service than advise them to give Suicide.

Joseph Thompson, Janitor of the Birmingham Public School House, committed suicide yesterday about eight o'clock A. M. by shooting himself with a revolver. It appears that he attended to his duties at the school house as usual in the morning, after which he returned to the residence of his mother, on Franklin street, where he made his home. Shortly after, the report of a pistol was heard in the privy, and some of the neighbors went to ascertain the cause, and found the door fastened and went away again.

It appears that he had always been subject to epileptic fits, in consequence of which his mind was weak and predis posed to insanity. He had accumulated considerable property which, it has been accertained, he willed to an old German lady in Birmingham, leaving his mother, who was very poor and dependent upon him for support, without a cent.

made prisoners of the Civil Guards. The reports in regard to the embarkation of troops for Cuba are contradicted. Some say it continues notwithstanding the trouble at home, and others have it that orders have been received at Cadiz suspending for the present, preparations for the departure of reinforcements.

BRYON, U. T., October 6.—According to the views of the older citizens of Sait Lake, Tuesday night was one of the most marked occasions eyer witnessed in the city. Vice President Colfax, who, with his party, had been there for the two days previous, was strended by the band from Camp Douglass. In response to repeated calls, the distinguished gentleman addressed an immense crowd in front of the Townsend House, in the course of which he gave his views on the subject of poligamy.

He quoted the Book of Mormon and proved, at least to the satisfaction of his gentile auditors, that the whole thing was unwise and illegal, and ought to be abolished.

He was followed by Gav. Breas of Ille.

He was followed by Goy. Bross. of Illinois, who fully endorsed the arguments of the Vice President. Such freedom of speech from such sources, and on such a subject has never before, it is claimed.

Organization of the Legislature—Governor Walker's Message—He Counsels the Adoption of the 15th Amendment.

By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette. RICHMOND, Oct. 7 .- In the Senate, the protest of the Republican caucus against the legality of that body was taken up and read at length. It announces that Dr. Porter conclusively refutes all the the Republican members reserve to themselves the right at any time to secede from the present Legislature and organize by themselves a legal and loyal Legislature. The Senate voted to lay it on the table. In the discussion a Republican said he regarded those who joined in making their protest as repre-senting the Administration and Congress until the President and Congress should decide otherwise was announced.

General Canby had replied to the Committee of the Legislature which waited on him. He had no communication to nake.

Governor Walker sent in a message on Governor Walker sent in a message on the Fifteenth Amendment. He says the people of this Commonwealth, at the late election, by an overwhelming majority, accepted and adopted the principle sought to be incorporated into the Constitution by this amendment, viz: The civil and political equality of all men before the law. The well known honor and integrity of the people of Virginia forbid even the supposition that they would fall to adhere to and mainthey would fail to adhere to and main-tain, while necessary and possible, any tain, while necessary and possible, any principle to which they had yielded their adherence. Virginia always fulfils with most ample good fatth all her pledges; but our people, by their action, have not only placed the political rights of all our citizens on a firm and enduring basis they have accomplished much more,—they have increased prospectively the power and influence of our State in the National Council by providing the basis of representation under the 14th article of representation under the 14th article of the Constitution of the United States.

When in any State the right of sugrage is abridged, except for crime, the basis of representation must be reduced in a corresponding proportion. Although we have wisely settled this question so far as our State is concerned, and banished from the theatre of State politics this prolific source of irritation and discord, there is reasonable ground for appre-hension that if the Fifteenth Amendment should fail of adoption, as a part of the Federal Constitution, our State the Federal Constitution, our State may be flooded with, and the control thereof pass into the hands of a class of emigrants from the great States lying upon or near our border, who will seek the enjoyment of those civil or political rights accorded to them here, but denied to them there. Self protection, therefore, demands that we do our part the ratification of that towards securing the ratification of that amendment. Our interests require it our faith is pledged to it.

He considers the election of Senators clearly a requisite to admission, and adds: Complete restoration is accom-plished by the admission to representation in Congress, and there can be no question that admission to representation may, to some extent, depend on the representatives elected. While the the election sentatives elected. While the the election of Senators would fully complete every preparation necessary for the prompt admission of the State to representation in both Houses of Congress, the election of suitable men for those exalted positions would unmistakably demonstrate the sincority of our past action and afford a sure guaranty of our intentions and purposes for the future.

In conclusion he says: Permit me to congratulate you upon the progress al-ready made towards the restoration of the State to civil government. Its good effects are already visible everywhere within the State. Confidence is being restored, commerce is reviving, mining and manufacturing enterprises are being organized, capital is seeking investment in our public improvements, and in our rich agricultural and mineral lands, and rich agricultural and mineral lands, and above all and more gratifying than all, joy and hope are taking the place of gloom and despondency. Peace and prosperity are once more dawning upon our desolate land. Conscious of the recitinde of our own acts, motives and intentions and rallying on the continued tentions, and relying on the continued fercions, and relying on the contained fives of the Almighty Disposer of human events, let us grapple with the living present, and confidently hope for a glorious future for the Commonwealth. RICHMOND, Va., October 7.—The legislature adjourned after reading the Govlature adjourned after resulting the dovernors measage. The Governor, in his measage, expresses the conviction that the legislature would ratify the Fifteenth Amendment voluntarily, even if it was not a requisite to admission. He recommends the appointment, at this session of standing committees, in view of the fact that the educational and judiclary systems must be remodeled and placed in harmony with the constituion, and that internal improvements demand the greatest consideration.

A caucus of Conservative members tonight resolved to adopt the 14th and 15th amendments at once.

In Joint Committee on the Governor's Message to day, a proposition, to add to the bill passing the 15th amendment a clause showing that it was requisite to the admission of the State, was rejected, only two of the Committee voting for it. To morrow an amendment will be offered in the House to make the adoption of the Fifteenth Amendment conforces. tion of the Fifteenth Amendment constitutional on the admission of the State.
This proposition had no friends in the aucus to night.
