Agricultural Report for September. The Commissioner of Agriculture says: The season has been peculiar. The region most subject to drought, that west of the Mississippi and Missouri, has had the most regular supply of rain, and the valley of the former has had an abundant rain-fall to its mouth, while Alabama and Georgia have suffered from drought, and the Atlantic States in a still higher degree, not only throughout the tide-water region, but in a large portion of the eastern States. On the Southern Atlantic seaboard the heat has been greater this year than in '68, and the rain fall less; north and east of New York the heat has been less, as also the rain-fall. In the one case it was too hot, in the other too cold for corn and other summer crops, which suffered accordingly. While drought has prevailed east of the Alleghenies, the great Mississippi basin has had an unusual amount of rain. West Virginia and Ohio alone of the central area had less rain-fall (in August) than in 1868. The excessive moisture of the summer is sustained to its close, especially in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and Missouri. Both the early and the latter rains have been somewhat extraordinary west of the Missouri, yet the high temperature and deep thirsty soils of that region have converted the visitation into a blessing.

The drought of the seaboard has not been equalled in many years. "Extracts from correspondence" will show the injurious effects of this excessive drought on corn, cotton, and garden vegetables.

Corn.—The corn crop has been the prey of numerous ills in every section of the country. The only States that now show an average condition are: Nebraska, Kansas, Florida, Louisiana, Texas Ra, Kansas, Florida, Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas. Excessive rains retarded planting, and necessitated replanting in the spring throughout the west and south: cold, wet weather prevented healthy, viging the serious drought affected it on the Atlantic coast, with injurious heat in the South, and unfavorable reduction of temperature in the North. In deep soils, naturally drained, the extreme moisture of the West did no injury; in heavy or flat lands, with clay subsoil, the damage was great, in some cases resulting in total failure. The loss, as shown in the table, is forty-nine per cent. in Virginia; from thirty to forty in Maine, Vermont, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin; from twenty to thirty in New Hampshire, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Connecticut, New Tork, New Jersey, Delaware, Georgia, Indiana, Ohio Lowentee the spring throughout the west and south; and succeeding the spring throughout the west and south; and succeeding the senting for maintens, nervous debility, irritability, erunting form self-abase, producing unmaintens, nervous debility, irritability, erunting formsissions, and flually imposed the with califace, intricate and long stand-fined with delicate, intricate and long sta and Arkansas. DANIEL NULL, of Frankstown, Blair county, was found dead recently on his grain drill, with which he had been working in a field. He was lying on the machine, with his face mashed and his neck broken, and it is supposed he took a fit and fell with his head on the wheel. He was found near the scene of the accident, the horses having stopped. GENERAL MATTERS.

Any election officer or qualified elector has the right to challenge any person offering to yote; and, when objection is thus made, it is the duty of the inspectors to require such person to prove his right to vote. The testimony must be satisfactory to the inspectors.

Persons whose names are registered may be challenged, and when challenged they are required to produce the same proof as to their right to vote as persons who are not registered.
