PITTSBURGH GAZETTE: MONDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1869.

-The Wild Duck, St. Louis to Pitts-burgh with two barges of ore, passed Cairo on Thursday. -The river front at Memphis has lately been caving in, and has excited the seri-ous fears of river men and Memphis citizens generally. -There are now nineteen first class -There are now nineteen first class steamers plying the Red river trade from New Orleans. What a field of oper-ations for some of our enterprising steamboatmen.

-Shipments of goods this year up White river have exceeded two thirds those of last year, when only five steam-ars did the whole business. This season it is found impossible for seven boats to do the business. do the business.

-A late Memphis exchange says: An epidemic of "jumping" vessels just as they are about leaving port is just now prevailing to an alarming extent at this and other ports. The jumping business is induiged in generally by the deck crew. When boats have steam up, ready to back out, the men jump ashore, and thus cause detention.
