

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

STATE ITEMS.

THE Johnstown Zouaves have reorganized. A GANG of horse-thieves from Eastern Ohio have been operating in Lawrence county.

JOHNSMEN tailors of New Castle, Lawrence Co., decided to advance their rate of prices twenty-five per cent. Their demand was acceded to.

On the 4th, Mr. Knapp, foreman of the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad shops at Leavittsburg, was killed by being run over by a switch engine, while standing on the track.

A THREE-year-old son of Mr. Gunderman, of Greenville, Mercer county, was killed at the Pacific Mills in that place on Tuesday of last week. He was caught neck broken and right side badly bruised.

Mr. S. O. CARLISLE, engineer on the Iron Mountain Railroad in Missouri, was recently injured in a collision, and it became necessary to amputate one of his legs. His wife, who resides at Meadville, had received a dispatch that he was in a fair way of recovery, but on the sixth day after the accident, she learned that he was dead and that she remains would be forwarded. Mr. C. formerly employed on the Atlantic and Great Western road.

At a railroad meeting held in Bedford, on the 6th, Hon. S. J. Russell presiding, addresses were made by a number of gentlemen on the subject of a railroad from that place to connect with some route already surveyed. Col. James Worrall, of Harrisburg, declared that he proposed by him to lead from the route to Bedford, and that he would be glad to connect with the Connellsville Railroad, was a better route than that of the Pennsylvania Railroad; that while Bedford enjoys the advantages of position and natural wealth, she is situated status quo, and might as well be at the North Pole, for her energies really seem frozen up. He offered himself to incur the preliminary expense of surveying, engineering and arranging the details incident to building a road. Hon. T. W. Rowe thought that with a through railroad, Bedford Springs would rival the waters of Vichy and Baden Baden. On motion, a committee, with two members appointed by the President, to receive subscriptions—one from Bedford to Mt. Dallas and one from Bedford to Bridgeport.

FOREIGN NEWS AND RUMORS.

THE son of the famous Russian engineer, General Todeben, is said to be a greater military genius than his illustrious father.

THE new executioner of Paris is opposed to the further use of the guillotine for dispatching criminals. He says the best way of executing them is to strangle them as the old Venetians and Spaniards do, by seating them on a chair and putting around their necks a rope, turned by a fellow in the passage outside until they are dead.

WEEK Napoleon the Third drove out for the first time, after his recent dangerous illness, he fainted after riding for a quarter of an hour. A very strong dose of cognac, administered to him by Dr. Corvisart, who was with him in the same carriage, restored him to a little vitality, but during most of the ride, he was unable to open his eyes. Very few cheers greeted the Imperial couple, during the ride through the city.

The harvest in England, according to the statement of the Board of Trade, will be a good one, but the accuracy of this prediction is doubted by the Saturday Review. According to this latter authority, the grain crop in the northern counties and Scotland were seriously injured by the heavy rains which fell in the middle of September. Though the crops in the south of England were secured before that time, yet, it is asserted that the ricks have suffered by being stripped by the wind and by being saturated with the rain water. The root crop, however, has been improved by the fall of rain, which, nevertheless, came too late to benefit the autumn growth of the grass. The barley crop is good and sufficiently large to contain a surplus of grain into England continue to be large, and with the prospects of a good hay and root crop, there is no anxiety felt in regard to a sufficiency of food for the cattle.

It is claimed that Fall River is the largest cotton manufacturing town in the United States, its spindles being more than those of Lowell or Lawrence. There are twenty-two mills within its limits, and the place can boast of twelve hundred eight hundred looms and nearly six thousand spindles. These give employment to 7,500 hands, whose wages approximate a quarter of a million monthly, and whose labor produces one hundred thirty and a half million yards of goods a year. It is said that the mills, although a thrifty, and undoubtedly profitable, have been the subject of but little improvement for a number of years past, except in the character of the mechanism used. Some of the most part imported. The managers of one establishment have recently ordered ten thousand spindles from English makers, and in spite of duty and cost of transportation, claim to find a profit in so doing.

Mr. HARRISON ARSWORTH, the novelist, founded one of his stories on a curious old custom which has recently been revived in Dunmore, a little town in Essex, England. It was once the practice at that little village to present a fitch of rotting, or a married couple who could prove that not a single cross word had passed between them for a twelvemonth, and a day, but of late years the ancient ceremonial has been neglected. Last month the Dury Lane theatre presented a show of a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance.

Mr. HARRISON ARSWORTH, the novelist, founded one of his stories on a curious old custom which has recently been revived in Dunmore, a little town in Essex, England. It was once the practice at that little village to present a fitch of rotting, or a married couple who could prove that not a single cross word had passed between them for a twelvemonth, and a day, but of late years the ancient ceremonial has been neglected. Last month the Dury Lane theatre presented a show of a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance.

Mr. HARRISON ARSWORTH, the novelist, founded one of his stories on a curious old custom which has recently been revived in Dunmore, a little town in Essex, England. It was once the practice at that little village to present a fitch of rotting, or a married couple who could prove that not a single cross word had passed between them for a twelvemonth, and a day, but of late years the ancient ceremonial has been neglected. Last month the Dury Lane theatre presented a show of a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance.

Mr. HARRISON ARSWORTH, the novelist, founded one of his stories on a curious old custom which has recently been revived in Dunmore, a little town in Essex, England. It was once the practice at that little village to present a fitch of rotting, or a married couple who could prove that not a single cross word had passed between them for a twelvemonth, and a day, but of late years the ancient ceremonial has been neglected. Last month the Dury Lane theatre presented a show of a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance.

Mr. HARRISON ARSWORTH, the novelist, founded one of his stories on a curious old custom which has recently been revived in Dunmore, a little town in Essex, England. It was once the practice at that little village to present a fitch of rotting, or a married couple who could prove that not a single cross word had passed between them for a twelvemonth, and a day, but of late years the ancient ceremonial has been neglected. Last month the Dury Lane theatre presented a show of a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance.

Mr. HARRISON ARSWORTH, the novelist, founded one of his stories on a curious old custom which has recently been revived in Dunmore, a little town in Essex, England. It was once the practice at that little village to present a fitch of rotting, or a married couple who could prove that not a single cross word had passed between them for a twelvemonth, and a day, but of late years the ancient ceremonial has been neglected. Last month the Dury Lane theatre presented a show of a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance.

Mr. HARRISON ARSWORTH, the novelist, founded one of his stories on a curious old custom which has recently been revived in Dunmore, a little town in Essex, England. It was once the practice at that little village to present a fitch of rotting, or a married couple who could prove that not a single cross word had passed between them for a twelvemonth, and a day, but of late years the ancient ceremonial has been neglected. Last month the Dury Lane theatre presented a show of a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance, and a procession down a Maypole dance.

The Suez Canal—Can Large Ships Navigate It?

Professor Alexander Ryer has written to the Granger Telegraph of Germany an interesting letter on the Suez Canal, from which we take the following remarks. He says: Two circumstances render it doubtful whether the whole length of the canal will be navigable for large ships at the beginning of next November. They are, first, the fact that the canal is not only filling very slowly, as the current cannot be increased from the north for fear of injuring the sides of the canal and there; and next, the rocky formation there; and next, the rocky formation there; and next, the rocky formation there.

There are others of a more serious nature which, were they to occur, would seriously affect the opening of the undertaking. There are particularly the following points: 1. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor. 2. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor.

There are others of a more serious nature which, were they to occur, would seriously affect the opening of the undertaking. There are particularly the following points: 1. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor. 2. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor.

There are others of a more serious nature which, were they to occur, would seriously affect the opening of the undertaking. There are particularly the following points: 1. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor. 2. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor.

There are others of a more serious nature which, were they to occur, would seriously affect the opening of the undertaking. There are particularly the following points: 1. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor. 2. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor.

There are others of a more serious nature which, were they to occur, would seriously affect the opening of the undertaking. There are particularly the following points: 1. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor. 2. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor.

There are others of a more serious nature which, were they to occur, would seriously affect the opening of the undertaking. There are particularly the following points: 1. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor. 2. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor.

There are others of a more serious nature which, were they to occur, would seriously affect the opening of the undertaking. There are particularly the following points: 1. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor. 2. The harbor of Port Said is in danger of being filled up by the fine deposit brought down by the Nile; a bank has already formed on the outside of the west mole, and in the course of a short time it will extend beyond the harbor.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

The Republican County Executive Committee respectfully submit the following suggestions relative to the election on Tuesday next, and earnestly invite the attention of our friends throughout the county to the following: 1. See that the polls are opened in every district at the earliest hour named by law, and that they are kept open until the latest hour. The polls may be opened between six and seven o'clock in the morning and must be closed at seven in the evening. If full Boards are not present, the election shall be held at seven o'clock. The polls are to be opened at seven o'clock A. M., see that the vacancies are filled as soon as possible.

2. See that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district. 3. See that every Republican voter in the county is properly informed of the time and place of the election, and that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district.

4. See that every Republican voter in the county is properly informed of the time and place of the election, and that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district. 5. See that every Republican voter in the county is properly informed of the time and place of the election, and that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district.

6. See that every Republican voter in the county is properly informed of the time and place of the election, and that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district. 7. See that every Republican voter in the county is properly informed of the time and place of the election, and that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district.

8. See that every Republican voter in the county is properly informed of the time and place of the election, and that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district. 9. See that every Republican voter in the county is properly informed of the time and place of the election, and that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district.

10. See that every Republican voter in the county is properly informed of the time and place of the election, and that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district. 11. See that every Republican voter in the county is properly informed of the time and place of the election, and that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district.

12. See that every Republican voter in the county is properly informed of the time and place of the election, and that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district. 13. See that every Republican voter in the county is properly informed of the time and place of the election, and that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district.

14. See that every Republican voter in the county is properly informed of the time and place of the election, and that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district. 15. See that every Republican voter in the county is properly informed of the time and place of the election, and that the Republican vote is early as possible in every district, keeping lists as nearly correct as practicable, while the voting is going on of all who have voted in every district.

NOTICES TO LEASE.

NOTICES TO LEASE. For Sale. 4000 lbs. of First Quality Flour, 4000 lbs. of Second Quality Flour, 4000 lbs. of Third Quality Flour, 4000 lbs. of Fourth Quality Flour, 4000 lbs. of Fifth Quality Flour, 4000 lbs. of Sixth Quality Flour, 4000 lbs. of Seventh Quality Flour, 4000 lbs. of Eighth Quality Flour, 4000 lbs. of Ninth Quality Flour, 4000 lbs. of Tenth Quality Flour.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP—AT EMBROIDERY. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—BOARDING. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEW OPERA HOUSE. Entertainment for six nights of the celebrated and popular Grand Opera. Mr. JOSEPH PROCTOR, Manager. Monday Evening, October 11th, 1899. Mrs. M. J. W. WILSON, Soprano. Miss M. J. W. WILSON, Soprano. Miss M. J. W. WILSON, Soprano.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEW OPERA HOUSE. Entertainment for six nights of the celebrated and popular Grand Opera. Mr. JOSEPH PROCTOR, Manager. Monday Evening, October 11th, 1899. Mrs. M. J. W. WILSON, Soprano. Miss M. J. W. WILSON, Soprano. Miss M. J. W. WILSON, Soprano.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.

WANTED—HELP. A man for a position in a factory. Apply to J. E. MCKEY, 157 1/2 North Street.