PETROLEUM MARKET,

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, October, 11, 1869. The oil market opened up considerably stronger this morning, in sympathy with the improved character of the foreign news, but in the afternoon the feeling seemed to be a little easier, though there was no quotable change in prices. in request and steady; cut meats firmer The report of the Titusville Herald, in regard to the production for September. was received, by telegraph, or at least the most important parts of it, and as might be expected it caused considerable discussion both pro and con. So far as we could learn, there were none disposed to doubt its correctness, but both the bulls and bears were disposed to put their particular; construction upon it, so as to make it appear, favorable to their particular interests, and both appeared to be successful, at least to their own satisfaction. While it was acknowledged on the one hand that there has been an increase in the production, compared with August, it had to be conceded on the other hand, that there is a decrease in stocks, and an increase in shipments, and the one appeared to offset the other. bulls and bears were disposed to put and the one appeared to offset the other.
