

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

OFFICE: GAZETTE BUILDING, 31 AND 35 FIFTH AVENUE, PITTSBURGH, ALLEGANY COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA.

TUESDAY, OCT. 29, 1860.

The temperance candidate for Governor in Ohio, at the recent election received, all told, 649 votes. His name is Samuel Root.

The Southern American feels "washed" by the very large majority favoring the repeal of the non-intercourse law which prohibits the general with the territory.

It is believed that Paris will be quiet to-day. The Liberal leaders perceive that an insurrection would result in the re-inauguration of very odious features of the Empire.

The Memphis Press predicts that the Tennessee Legislature, under its present management, will do little else than to "blow."

The order of the day "continues to be the introduction of bills to repeal existing laws and anything enacted by the late Republican Legislature, or to change the mode of electing the President."

Governor Grant has very properly met the public expectations, in the removal of H. H. Rowan, and the appointment of General Sherman as his successor.

As the Legislature, under its present management, will do little else than to "blow," it is believed that the Tennessee Legislature, under its present management, will do little else than to "blow."
