THE execution of Traupmann has revived a discussion in the Paris papers as to whether death by guillotining is instantaneous. THE profits of banking are reported to be very large in England, and it is contended that Parliament should direct an investigation of the affairs of the Bank of England and of private banking firms. The last six months, it is asserted, were very trying to lenders of money, and during this period the earning of large profits upon sound principles of dealing was exceedingly difficult; yet the "Joint Stock Bank" for the last half year declared a dividend amounting to 10½ per cent. per annum, with a balance to be carried over to the guarantee fund, which now amounts to over $2,000,000.

JUDGE JOSEPH P. BRADLEY, of Newark, N. J., is a graduate of Rutgers College, and was a member of Beasley Frelinghuysen's class. He graduated with high honors, and then studied law in the office of the late Chief Justice Hornblower, whose daughter he subsequently married. In 1862 he was a candidate for Congress on the Republican ticket, and was defeated by Gen. Wright, of Henderson county. He is a lawyer of eminent ability, and understood to be a firm supporter of all the reconstruction acts of Congress.

HERE is the latest story from Paris—a conversation between two friends on the Bourse: "How are you?" "Not as well as I might be." "So much the worse. What have you been doing that I haven't seen you lately?" "I have got married." "So much the better." "Not at all, for I have got a coquette for a wife." "So much the worse." "Not at all, for her dowry is 300,000 francs." "So much the better." "Not at all, for I risked the money at play." "So much the worse." "Not at all, for I doubled it." "So much the better." "Not at all, for my banker has absconded." "So much the worse." "Not at all, for my wife has gone with him."

THE statement, which was read and filed as Mr. Justice Grier's opinion in the legal-tender case, taken in connection with the dissenting opinion of the three Judges, leaves a strong inference that, as the Court stood when Grier was in it, the law would have been held valid as to contracts made after its passage, if such case had been before the Court. Mr. Justice Miller prepared the dissenting opinion, which is spoken of, by those accustomed to judge of such matters, as one of the ablest ever delivered in the Supreme Court. Attorney General Hoar, in private conversation, expressed his approbation of Judge Miller's opinion. The effect of the majority opinion is almost universally discussed among the leading lawyers in both Houses, and all sorts of opinions are expressed. It is pronounced one of the most important decisions that has ever been rendered, and many of the prominent Republican Senators believe that the decision will prove disastrous to the business of the country, as all the railroad corporations, county and State bonds, and all other obligations of individuals or associations contracted before the war, must be paid in gold and silver. It is also believed that it will have the effect of raising the price of gold and delay the day of specie payment.

THE TREASURY INVESTIGATION.

Mr. Mackey's Detailed Statements Not Ready—Written Document of Ex-Treasurer Irwin Not Received—Some Wrangling—The Committee Adjourns to Next Week.

(Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 9, 1870.

THE TREASURY INVESTIGATION.

The Senate Finance Committee met this afternoon to hear the detailed statements by Treasurer Mackey in conclusion of his examination. Mr. Mackey stated that the statements were not yet prepared.

Ex-Treasurer Irwin immediately afterwards presented a written document, which Chairman Billingfelt handed back, in pursuance of a resolution last night not to proceed with any other witness until Mr. Mackey's examination was complete.

Mr. White desired the Committee in the absence to proceed with other witnesses present, including Mr. Irwin, to hasten the investigation.

The Chairman ruled that the proper way was to reconsider the resolution of last night.

Personalities ensued between Messrs. White and Wallace, the former charging the latter with abusing to make partisan capital, which Mr. Wallace denied.

Mr. McIntire moved the Committee adjourn to Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock, to complete Mr. Mackey's examination. Agreed to.

Another Account—Ex-Treasurer Irwin Declines to be Sworn—Disorderly Scene in the House.

(By Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph Line.)

HARRISBURG, February 9, 1870.

The Committee of Investigation in the State Treasury affair met to-day at three o'clock. Mr. Irwin, the predecessor of Mr. Mackey in the Treasurership, appeared and presented a written statement, in which he declined to be sworn, or to answer the interrogatories of the Committee, on the ground that they have no right, his term of office having expired, to inquire into his official action. He utterly refused to answer any questions touching his disposition of the public money under his control.

The Committee refused to receive the paper and adjourned till Tuesday next, when Mr. Mackey will be recalled.

A DISORDERLY SCENE IN THE HOUSE.

The most disgraceful and disorderly scene of the session took place to-day in the House, on the motion to have the proceedings published in the two daily papers of Harrisburg. Personal remarks were indulged in by the members, and the Speaker pro tem. said that he would be compelled to call upon the Sergeant-at-Arms to restore order if the members did not take their seats and proceed with the discussion in a more orderly manner.

I think it is, perhaps, for some of the members, that the proceedings of this session have not been published, for could the people see and know how their Representatives are acting this winter, there would be but few of them returned.

CONNECTICUT.

Republican State Convention—Nominations—Platform.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

HARTFORD, February 9.—The Republican State Convention, presided over by Senator Buckingham, nominated the present State ticket, except for Lieutenant Governor, for which office Hon. Morris Tyler, of New Haven, was chosen.

J. H. Hawley, from Committee on Resolutions, reported a platform, which he supported in an earnest speech, and it was unanimously adopted. It expresses gratitude for the devotion of the Republican party to equal rights; reaffirms the Chicago platform; congratulates President Grant and the country upon the completion of reconstruction and the adoption of the XVth Amendment; praises the National Administration for economy and fidelity in collecting the revenue and reducing the debt; favors the payment of the national debt in coin and a speedy return to specie payment; denounces repudiation in all its forms, whether by taxation of bonds or their payment in paper; calls for continued economy in National and State affairs, for the impartial levy and prompt collection of taxes, for equal taxation of the necessaries of life and imposition of taxes on luxuries; favors a tariff for revenue, but so devised as to relieve labor, encourage industry and avoid strengthening monopolies, and advocates the generous discharge of obligations to disabled soldiers.

Governor Jewell and the candidate for Lieut. Governor made brief speeches, and the Convention adjourned with cheers.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

(SECOND SESSION.)

SENATE: Neutral Relations of the United States—The Case of Cuba—Reorganization of Judicial Circuits—Mississippi Admission—The Census. HOUSE: The Contested Election in 21st Pa. District—Mr. Covode Sworn In—The Legislative Appropriation Bill—The Outrage on Americans in Havana.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

WASHINGTON, February 9, 1870.

SENATE.

Resolutions were adopted calling for information as to the action of any of the departments relative to the claim of the Central Branch of the Union Pacific Railroad for bonds or lands in aid of the road, and directing the Judiciary Committee to inquire into the reorganization of the Georgia Legislature.

Mr. CONKLING, from Committee on Revision of Laws, reported with amendments the House bill extending the time for revising and consolidating statutes. It authorizes the President to appoint three commissioners to finish, within three years, the work prescribed in the act of June 27, 1866.

Mr. CARPENTER, from Committee on Military, reported with amendments the bill for withholding moneys due Georgia and in the hands of American captives.

Mr. HOWARD, from Committee on Territories, reported a bill to provide for the payment of expenses incurred by the territory of Montana in the suppression of Indian hostilities.

Mr. CONKLING introduced a bill to increase the number of Judges of the Supreme Court and Circuit Courts of the United States, and to establish boundaries of Judicial districts. Referred to Committee on Judiciary. It provides for eleven circuit judges.

The greater part of the morning hour was consumed by Mr. MORTON in speaking upon the neutral relations of the United States. He referred to the fact that Spain had lately fitted out in the harbor of New York thirty gunboats and publicly enlisted crews for them in the streets of that city, and intimated any purpose of subjugating the people of Cuba to her rule, the most despotic and inhuman known to modern times. We have knowingly furnished ships and sailors to put down the efforts of a neighboring people, with whom we have the most friendly terms and enjoyed the most intimate commercial relations, who were struggling to free themselves from the military despotism of the mother nation, separated from them by the broad ocean. He proposed so to amend our neutrality laws that this should not be repeated by authority of law. If any principle of the law of nations required that Spain should receive this assistance at our hands, that principle was not based upon reason and was improper. He held that no nation should fit out and maintain any pretended rule of the law of nations, when to do so would be to inflict great injustice, cruelty, misery and oppression on the masses of people, and cited from various authorities upon international law in support of his position. The revolutionary struggles of the colonies were those of parent and child. When protection, support and education were required on one side and allegiance and submission on the other; but when the son had arrived at manhood, and the colony had grown to the proportions of a State, capable of self government and self-protection, parental control should cease and independence be accorded. He insisted there was a difference between an attempt at revolution by a colony forming an integral part of the kingdom and a like attempt on the part of a distant colony, and remarked the time had arrived to proclaim this doctrine as one vindicated alike in reason and history. He regarded that when a nation took possession of a distant territory, and established a colony there, such territory became a part of the nation equally with its former possessions, was unsupported by reason or facts. The American colonies of England, France and Spain had never been treated theoretically or practically as integral parts of those countries. It was horrid imagery when the Spanish Government affected to treat Cuba as part of the kingdom of Spain, under the circumstances. We had under the fashionable places of worship half the pews vacant, and yet a visitor unable to obtain a seat, unless he or she would take one near the door or up in the organ loft."

PROFESSOR AGASSIZ is so unwell that he is not able to attend to his correspondence even. A recent letter from his wife states that he has been, and still is, seriously ill, having had several severe and alarming attacks, a consequence, as his physician assures him, of nervous prostration and overwork, from which he may recover with absolute rest, but which, it is, therefore, forbidden to work for a long time, and will be obliged to give up all public lecturing.

Noyes, Patterson, Pratt, Sliefmah, Sumner, Warner and Wilson.

Mr. CHANDLER, on leave, introduced the bill of last session to promote commerce among the States and cheapen transportation of mails and military and naval stores. The bill authorizes the construction of a first class railroad from Washington to New York, the capital stock to be ten million dollars. It also provides for a railroad and telegraph line from Washington to Pittsburgh, to be called the Washington and Northwestern Railroad and Telegraph Company, and also for a railroad and telegraph line from Washington to Cincinnati, the provisions as to the former being applicable to all.

The Senate at 5:15 adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The House resumed the consideration of the Foster-Covode contested election case from Pennsylvania.

Mr. Randall continued his argument in support of the claim of Gen. Foster.

After a discussion of about three hours the House proceeded to vote on the resolutions. Those of the minority, declaring Foster elected, were rejected—yeas 30, nays 133, a strict party vote. Those of the majority, declaring Covode duly elected, were adopted by a like vote.

The oath of office was administered to John Covode, as Representative from the 21st District, Pa.

Mr. JULIAN, from the Committee on Public Lands, reported a bill for the relief of settlers on certain lands in Iowa. Passed.

Mr. LAWRENCE, from the Reconstruction Committee, reported a bill to enforce amendments to the Constitution. Adopted.

Mr. COX asked leave to offer a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Navy for information as to the unexpended balances remaining from March 1869 to February 1870, the aggregate expenditure for same period, and if in excess of appropriations, the amount of excess; also, the amount of proceeds of sales of property for the same period.

Mr. KELSEY, New York, objected, remarking that all the information was in the possession of the House already.

The House, at 3.45, went into Committee of the Whole on the legislative bill.

Mr. DAWES moved to strike out the item for reports of the Congressional Globe, on the ground that the publication would be abolished after this session.

After discussion, the motion was rejected.

Without disposing of the bill, the Committee rose.

Mr. BINGHAM moved adjournment to-day until Saturday—lost, 51 against 91.

Mr. BANKS offered a resolution calling on the President for information that has been received by the Government in reference to the recent assault upon and reported murder of one or more American citizens in Cuba.

The House at 5:10 adjourned.

—The committee of the Grand Army of the Republic of the State of New York, appointed recently to effect an amalgamation of that body with the Union Home and School, whose object is similar, has succeeded in accomplishing its mission.

—The Labor Reform Party of New Hampshire have opened the campaign in that State. They claim to be able to throw the election of Governor into the Legislature and elect enough members thereof to defeat an election for United States Senator next June.

—Several hundred barrels of whisky were seized at San Francisco by the revenue authorities a few days ago, on the same grounds that twenty-five hundred barrels were seized in August last. Jobbers refuse to purchase the whisky until the matter is legally decided.

—Gen. Roberts, postmaster of Brooklyn in 1867 and 1868, was arrested yesterday on a charge of embezzling from the money order fund about $800. This deficiency in his accounts was discovered before Robeson was relieved from office, but by instructions at the time from Washington he was not prosecuted.

FRANCE.

PARIS, February 8—10 P. M.. At noon to day tranquility was restored in all the districts where disturbances arose last night. Up to this hour the city has remained quiet.

PARIS, February 9.—The disorders broke out again at Belleville and in Rue Du Faubourg Du Temple at midnight. Several additional barricades have been erected in narrow streets. Troops are still in the neighborhood of the Seine, but up to this hour have not fired on the rioters.

The police are active. There are rumors of many killed and wounded on the Boulevard Montmartre, the police having made several charges on the position of the rioters. This point is fully a mile and a half from the scene of the disturbance yesterday.

Many additional arrests have been made of Gustave Flourens, the leader of the disturbance, is still at large, though the authorities are making every effort to arrest him.

NOON.—The morning journals have the following details of the disturbances of last night:

There has been much excitement among the people during the day, which culminated about midnight in outbreaks. They were not confined to one locality, nor were they on the scene of those suppressed yesterday at La Villette, Belleville, but nearer the centre of the city and only a few squares from Palace Royal. New and stronger barricades were thrown up and vigorously defended. The police attacked several of these, but were quickly driven off. The military forces were then brought into position, and as on the day previous, carried all the barricades without firing on the crowd.

There seems to be a hesitation on the part of both troops and rioters to resort to the use of firearms. Strong detachments of police have been posted on all the boulevards, with orders to forcibly disperse all crowds. Hundreds of rioters have been arrested, and are being tried, mainly in conflicts with police, and it is reported some were killed.

The Marseillais did not appear to day. All its editors are under arrest for aiding the rioters. One of the editors of the La Rapell was also arrested for the same offence.

The Ministers remained at the headquarters of the police all night. The city is now tranquil.

LATER.—The city is now tranquil. A strong police force is patrolling the streets. Many workshops closed to-day.

A crowd of several persons gathered in the Marseillaise last night and hissed and in other ways insulted the editors and some of the writers. They were promoted to disperse, but refused. The police then charged on them and made a large number of arrests. After an examination of the prisoners this morning, only thirty were remanded to prison.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, February 9.—The newspapers comment variously on the Queen's speech, and the debate in the Parliament yesterday.

The Times thinks the weak point in the Ministry is timid policy on the Irish question. The Irish Church question is deemed by the courage displayed in the matter of the Fenians and promises to unravel itself.

The Daily News, Radical, only refers to the speech and debate which followed as urge immediate action on the educational grievances, for which the standard conservatives consider the government responsible.

In the House of Commons to-day writs were issued for elections in Southwark and Londonderry, to fill the vacancies caused by the appointment of Mr. Layard as Ambassador to Spain, and of Mr. Dowa as Solicitor General for Ireland.

Mr. Bruce, Home Secretary, promised to introduce a bill enabling aliens to acquire and hold land in England.

An address in reply to the Queen's Speech was agreed to, and the House adjourned.

An act of Parliament is proposed to protect foreign inventions sent to the Workmen's Exhibition to be held here.

The merchants of Cork complain of injuries done to that city by the transfer of shipments of all foreign mails save to chief ports.

The circumstances are exceedingly bitter against Dr. Dollinger for his letter against the proclamation of the dogma of infallibity. They even where denounce him, and in some quarters he is described as anti-Christ.

A dispatch from Paris confirms the statement of the arrest of the editors of the Marseillaise. The printer refuses to put the paper to press.

The Times to-day says it considers the symptoms manifested at the opening of Parliament last night contained no threatening elements.

Count Von Bernstorff, Consul at Chatham, who cut his throat a few days ago, is dead.

DUBLIN, February 9.—A Fenian demonstration took place at Mayo yesterday. Eleven hundred men attempted to rescue some prisoners. The priests successfully exhorted the mob to preserve the peace.

VALENTIA, February 9.—The sudden interruption of telegraphic communication yesterday before yesterday is thus explained: While Government employes were repairing the general telegraph office at London on that day, in order to accommodate the great increase in telegraphic business occasioned by the change in the system, it was necessary to cut all wires to westward. Communication was soon restored and the service is now excellent in all directions.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9, 1870.

GEORGIA AFFAIRS.

The Senate Committee on Judiciary today heard fifteen Georgians, who are here as a delegation of Conservatives, who took the ground that the present Legislature is illegally constituted, owing to the admission of minority candidates, and argued in favor of the reorganization of that body. Governor Bullock and others on the Republican side spoke briefly in opposition. Senators Carpenter, Edmunds and Conkling remembered that at the former hearing Governor Bullock said the expulsion of negroes and seating of minority candidates instead was sheer usurpation. The committee will, on Saturday, give Gov. Bullock an opportunity to explain this apparently contradictory position.

ADDRESS TO COLORED PEOPLE.

The National Executive Committee, George T. Downing, President, and T. G. Borbedee, Secretary, have issued the following address to the colored people of the United States:

Your National Executive Committee, created by you in Washington, assembled January 13, 1869, to urge legislation looking to the educational, material and political interests of the colored people of the country, deem that they have at length arrived, in the progress of their efforts, at the probable political consummation of their hopes, in so far as the organic law of the Republic is concerned. They recognize that desired result in the anticipated announcement of the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, which forbids any auridgement of the right of suffrage
