Cultivation of Indian Corn.

Frank Paslin, of Malone, New York, gives in the last Albany Cultivator, his experience in Corn Raising, which we think is worth republishing. It is true, there is nothing very original in his method, or can be, in any that may be adopted; still his course may influence some one of our readers, to pursue it with equal success, who is now among the laggards in producing this important crop.

Raising corn has always been, and still continues to be, one of the most extensive operations of the agriculturists of this country. We perceive by examining into the circumstances of the case, that there is an astonishing amount of capital invested in this one branch of farming, and that the common profits are exceedingly small, compared with favored fields, in favorable localities. This is the subject which appears to be before the public, and its remedy requires the consideration of practical farmers.

There are several causes which directly or indirectly tend to produce this common effect, among which may be enumerated soil, tillage, seed, &c. Large crops are raised on all kinds of land in favorable seasons; yet the risk is so great that experienced farmers seldom trust their capital in this lottery; but rather take land of a light, warm nature, that is easily tilled, and can be made productive by manuring, and is sure with care to produce a remunerating harvest. I consider a sand or gravelly loam most suitable and profitable, though most soils can, by a thorough draining and subsiding, be made to produce good crops of corn.

After many experiments I have adopted the following mode of operating. Take land that has been in sward two years; break with flat furrow as deep as convenient, late in autumn, before the severe frosts injure the vegetable matter; let it settle till planting season and then harrow until mellow. Be sure to harrow enough, for there is no fear of working the soil too much, and few think that one day's work in spring will save four at hoeing time. Mark both ways with a marker which will make four marks three and a half feet apart; be careful to go straight, so that you can do your hoeing with a cultivator. Plant in intersections, after putting one spoonful of gypsum in each hill. Plant good seed, and no more than you wish to grow, this will save a vast amount of bending while hoeing. At first hoeing, put a small handful of ashes on each hill; hoe two or three times as circumstances require, and you are sure of a good growth. I find that the planter increases the product fifty per cent, or more, which is a better dividend than all the railroads, banks, manufacturing or mining companies in the Union pay.

I harvest by cutting near the ground, and putting in small stacks before fully ripe, where it is left until cured. The stalks, if harvested in this manner, will pay half the expense of the crop; and are eagerly devoured by most kinds of stock. I find them to be the best feed ever used for cows. Butter made while feeding them is always of a beautiful color, and an excellent flavor.

Under this treatment, I have always succeeded in obtaining a remunerating harvest, while some of my neighbors often do not get corn enough to pay expenses.

BROOD MARES IN FOAL.—Animals in this condition should not be solely fed on hay, straw or fodder, as is too often the case; but should receive at least two feeds of oats daily, in order that the materials may be thereby furnished to keep up the supply of bone, muscles and flesh, in the mothers, and yield the wherewithal to the young to form it out of. Thrice a week the mares should receive one or two ounces of salt, or the same quantity of the salt, oyster-shell lime, and ashes mixture so recommended the American Farmer.

COAL ASHES.—Farmers are beginning to put a proper value upon anthracite ashes. They find that they possess fertilizing qualities for particular soils, of no mean importance. On low, heavy, or clay soils, which are deficient in silex, coal ashes are undoubtedly of great benefit. But they contain, besides silex, alumine, carbon, and iron, in a soluble form, nearly to the amount of 20 per cent, and therefore must be of value to many others, but especially to these soils.

Cost of Living in California.

A San Francisco correspondent of the Boston Transcript writes, "In order that your readers may form some estimate of the expenses of housekeeping, I send the current rates of wages and provisions:—Female servants, $50 to 75 per month; wood $15 per cord; coal, 100 lb. sack $3; per ton delivered, $50; at market, best cuts beef, pork and mutton, 27 1/2 cents per lb; venison, 31 cents per lb; salmon 25 cents per lb; best fresh butter, $1 per lb; second quality do., 65 cents; Goshen butter, 50 cents; fresh eggs, $1 25 per dozen; Boston eggs, 75 cents per dozen; turkeys, $6 to $10 each; geese or ducks, $1 each; chickens, $2 50 to $3 each; quails, $6 per dozen; potatoes, 4 cents per lb; cabbages, 25 cents a head; cauliflowers 37 to 50 cents; turnips, parsnips, and beets, $1 per dozen; milk 25 cents per quart, &c.

Grain at the West.—From accounts received from all parts of the West, we infer that there never was so much grain in store, awaiting spring shipments as at present. At all principal ports, every warehouse is crammed, and in many places cellars, private houses, stables, &c., are used as places of deposit.

The following rules are posted in a Western school-house: "No kissing girls in school time. No licking the master during holidays."

Whatever concerns the happiness and health of a people is at all times of the most valuable importance. I take it for granted that every person will do all in their power, to save the lives of their children, and that every person will endeavor to promote their own health at all sacrifices. I feel it to be my duty to solemnly assure you that worms, according to the opinion of the most celebrated Physicians, are the primary causes of a large majority of diseases to which children and adults are liable; if you have an appetite continually chargeable from one kind of food to another, Bad Breath, Pain in the Stomach, Picking at the Nose, Hardness and Fullness of the Belly, Dry Cough, Slow Fever, Pulse Irregular—remember that all these denote worms, and you should at once apply the remedy.—

Hobensack's worm Syrup. An article founded upon Scientific Principles, compounded with purely vegetable substances, being perfectly safe when taken, & can be given to the most tender Infants with decided beneficial effect, where Bowel Complaints and Dyspepsia have made them weak and debilitated. The Tape Worm! This is the most difficult Worm to destroy of all that infest the human system.—It grows to an almost indefinite length, becoming so coiled and fastened in the Intestines and Stomach affecting the health so sadly as to cause St. Vitus Dance, Fits, &c. that those afflicted seldom if ever suspect that it is Tape Worm hastening them to an early grave. In order to destroy this Worm a very energetic treatment must be pursued, it would therefore be proper to take 6 or 8 of my Liver Pills so as to remove all obstructions, that the Worm Syrup may act direct upon the Worm which must be taken in doses of 2 Table spoon's full 3 times a day, these directions followed, have never been known to fail in curing the most obstinate case of Tape Worm.

Hobensack's Liver Pills. No part of man is more liable to disease than the Liver, it serving as a filter to purify the blood, or giving the proper secretion to the bile; so that any wrong action of the Liver affects the other important parts of the system, and results variously, in Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, &c.—We should, therefore, watch every symptom that might indicate a wrong action of the Liver. These Pills being composed of Roots and Plants furnished by nature to heal the sick; Namely 1st, An Expectorant, which augments the secretion from the Pulmonary mucous membrane, or promotes the discharge of a secreted matter. 2d, An Astringent, which changes in some explicable and insensible manner, the certain morbid action of the system. 3d, A Tonic, which gives tone and strength to the nervous system, renewing health and vigor to all parts of the body. 4th, A Cathartic, which acts in perfect harmony with the other ingredients, and operating on the Bowels, and expelling the whole mass of corrupt and vitiated matter, and purifying the Blood, which destroys disease and restores health.
