These three make up the trio of the learned professions. As we belong just now to the unlearned profession, the profession, of a farmer, in which it is the privilege of the student to admit, whether others do or do not allege, that he is an "ignoramus," we will presume to say, that in our profession, there are also three classes, including the farmer who is a farmer, the farmer who Saddles, Brudles, Collars, Whips, Carriage is no farmer, and the farmer who cannot make a farmer.

When we see a farmer who now has, or has had some other way of making or getting money, and then turns to and lays out his money in large sums upon some little farm, year to year, and yet gets which he will dispose of upon very reasonasmall crops, compared with the large ex- ble terms.
