

dound to their credit and benefit our common humanity.

Among the accommodations arranged for visitors to the Crystal Palace, will be found two Telegraph Offices, Letter Boxes for the Mails, Express Boxes, a Police Station, an Office for Property Lost and Found, and two spacious Refreshment Saloons, where everything will be provided of unexceptionable quality at unexceptionable prices.

Arrangements have been completed with some, and are in progress with other Steamboat and Railroad Companies connecting this City with various portions of the Union, agreeably to which visitors will be conveyed to the Crystal Palace from the remotest spot, at greatly reduced rates of travel. Nothing else shall remain undone, on my part, to conduct this magnificent enterprise with that liberality which is due to the public, and that energy and economy which are due to the interests of the Association.

To conclude, I cannot help reiterating my firm impression, that the Crystal Palace has before it a brilliant and enviable future. All litigation has ceased. Every suit against either the Directors or the Shareholders, has been withdrawn, as untenable, or as now superfluous. The recent extension of the Charter by the Legislature, with power to increase our capital to a million of dollars, has opened to our choice, should it ever be expedient to avail ourselves of it, the most unlimited field of public usefulness. It has given our philanthropic ambition room to work as events may dictate, for the best interests of Production both at home and abroad. It has inspired us with a solid confidence in the manifold resources of our gigantic enterprise. It has taught us to believe that, when the Crystal Palace shall have been re-opened on the 4th of May with a grand Coronation of Labor and Art, and as a stable and homogeneous Institution for the People, it will present itself in a form that must command the sympathy of Skill and Industry throughout the world and deserve, as well as receive, a success at once gratifying to our patriotism, and consoling to our perseverance.

I have the honor to be,
GENTLEMEN,
Very respectfully,
Yours, &c.,
P. T. BARNUM,
President of the Association for the "Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations."

Circular to the Exhibitors of the Crystal Palace.
New York, April 15, 1854.

The undersigned joyfully announce to the Exhibitors and the public, that the formidable obstacles which threatened the complete discomfiture and destruction of the noble enterprise which they have chosen to serve, are at length removed, in good part through the liberality of a portion of our fellow citizens who have pledged advances in aid of the Exhibition to the amount of $100,000. Thus aided, we have been enabled to dissolve the injunction which was a source of embarrassment to us, and alarm or apprehension to many of our Exhibitors—to pay off or arrange all the debts pressing upon us, and provide against the possible recurrence of such annoyances in future. We therefore apprise you that the Exhibition will be temporarily closed this evening, in order to be completely renovated and refitted, preparatory to its formal re-opening, on Thursday the 4th day of May next.

The directors need not, surely, dilate on the value and importance of this Exhibition. Imperfect as it has hitherto been, and as, in view of the total want of experience on our side of the Atlantic in the arrangement of Exhibitions of such magnitude and variety, it could not fail to be, it has yet proved immensely beneficial to the Inventive views, Artistic developments, and Industrial progress of the country. The opportunity therein afforded for bringing valuable Inventions or Improvements to the immediate notice of the capable and appreciating, is but one among many benefits conferred on the leaders of Industrial enterprise among us. If overweening conceit or inordinate self complacency has been rebuked and chastened by irresistible evidences of European superiority in elaborate and delicate workmanship, or even in educated, ripened taste, the Exhibition of 1853 has fully demonstrated the indebtedness of Europe to America for very important Inventions and Improvements, stretching over the whole domain of Agriculture, Manufactures and the useful Arts. In farming implements, and machines for fitting the rude staples of Agriculture, for the convenient and economic use of the fabrication, our country need fear no comparison; and a young Nation of twenty-five Millions which while still ardently employed in the clearing away of its primitive forest, has found time in half a century to bestow on mankind such inventions as those of the Cotton Gin, the Steamboat, the Reaper and the Electric Telegraph, need surely neither repress nor conceal her anxiety to profit by all in the line of discovery, Art or Invention, which has been or may be exhibited by others. If the New York Exhibition has shown our people how to improve any implement or process in the light of European achievement, that impulse is a National benefit of signal and even increasing value.

If the past has witnessed mistakes in the great enterprise now confided to our hands, that circumstances will render our own task easier and our success more probable. If it has evolved many valuable suggestions and illuminated for us the path of duty by triumphs as well as defeats, we shall be able to walk surely where our predecessors stepped doubtfully and anxiously. With your co-operation, and that of the coming Fulton, Whitneys and Moses, whose triumphs are yet unachieved or unacknowledged, we hope to render to the Crystal Palace the recognised centre of attraction for the votaries of Industry, the devotees of Art and the admirers of Genius, throughout the Western World.

To effect this, we need the hearty and immediate co-operation of the present Exhibitors, both through the continuance of their best contributions, and the introduction of others, as new inventions, new patterns, new successes, shall render such further aid practicable. While we trust that the Exhibition is henceforth permanently established, and that before many more years shall have elapsed, specimens or models of every valuable Invention, eminent works of Art, improved Fabrics, or other Industrial achievements, will be exhibited in the Palace, as a matter of course, we shall yet remember with special gratitude, those friends of the enterprise who did not wait for its triumph, stood by in the days of experiment, and nobly aided to achieve the conquest which so many are destined to enjoy. We shall be able, and we rejoice in the fact, to accord more desirable positions and ample space to new Articles which shall be sent in between this and the 1st of May, than it is probable that we shall have at our disposal thereafter. The earliest possible transmission of all Articles intended for Exhibition, at and after the re-opening, is urgently solicited.

Trusting that you will agree with us, that the interest of Inventors, Artists, Manufacturers and Artisans, are all involved in the thorough and undeniable triumph of the first American Exhibition of the trophies of the World's Art and Industry, we remain,
Yours,
P. T. BARNUM,
President of the Association for the "Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations."

Rates of Postage—Reform.
The Post-office Committee of the House of Representatives, through its Chairman, Mr. Old's have reported a bill to increase the rates of Postage on letters to five and ten cents. This would increase the postage sixty per cent. a proposition which we apprehend will meet with but little favor at the hands of the public. It is true that the Post Office shows a deficit of two millions beyond the receipts, and it is equally true that the department ought to sustain itself, but when we consider the immense amount paid for ocean carriage, and for other purposes in which the utmost extravagance is allowed by law and by the Postmaster General, we need not be surprised that the deficit exists, but we have reason for astonishment when we are told in high quarters, that this exorbitant extravagance is to be made up by an increase upon the rates of postage. The Franking Privilege is to be left untouched, an item for which no return is made; a privilege which not only loads down the mails, and for all sorts of purposes, and to be and to sustain which a resort is to be had to a levy upon the business of the country by additional tax upon private correspondence.

When we have from twenty to thirty millions of surplus in the treasury, and every species of depletion is resorted to, and lavished upon the most useless objects, it is a sorry spectacle to behold an attempt made to impose burdens upon the most valuable and necessary branch of the government and in which the people derive a direct benefit and advantage. Can no other plan than this be concocted to save the Department from bankruptcy? Is not reform instead of more money from the pockets of the people the panacea?—Give them millions more, and judging from what is now done it would hardly keep pace with the mismanagement that exists. We hope and trust that Congress will adhere to the three and five cent postage, which is amply sufficient for all honest and practical purposes.

An item of loss to the Department is the insecure manner in which certain letters are carried, and this has come to a point that the Express and not the Post Office enjoys the confidence of the business community. Were reform adopted here, practical results would be produced. Postmasters ought to be authorized to receipt for monies deliverable at other offices, charging accordingly, by sending drafts instead of money, to be cashed by the officer of the proper office on the presentation of the draft. The government should be liable for the acts of its agents, and thus confidence in the department would be restored, resulting at once in the return of an immense amount of business now diverted or driven from the mails, simply because there can be no safety in the carriage of letters as now managed. This is but one of many salutary reforms that ought to be made, and then there would be no need of increasing burdens upon the people to pay for extravagance and mismanagement.—
