

Agricultural.

The Cashmere Coat.

The Editor of the Farmer and Planter says:—This goat, which has recently been introduced into the United States from Turkey, by Dr. Davis of S. C., is of larger size than our common goat, and is easily kept and by this experiment is proven to be admirably adapted to our climate. Its great excellence is, that instead of a coat of hair, it has a fleece of fine silky appearance, from 4 to 6 inches long in one year's growth. It is from the fleece of this goat the celebrated Cashmere shawls from China are made. Besides its beautiful silky appearance, textures made from the fleece of this goat outwear all known substances. Stocks made of it have been worn six winters without material injury. They can be shorn annually, and the average weight of each fleece is about four pounds, being in value to the united flocks of 16 Merino sheep annually. Dr. Davis considers these so well adapted to the climate, and so valuable that he refuses to sell blood cases at all, but sells the buck from $100 to $200. He is liberal, however and has given several to friends.

Is the Best Milk Poison.

A friend informs us that Mr. H. B. Wyman, of Indiana, lost a valuable sow not long ago, in consequence of giving her the first milk of a cow after calving, and asks if it invariably causes such trouble. We are glad to hear of it. We believe that it does. We one year gave such milk to a sow that was with pig. It made her sick and she cast her pigs before her time, all of which were dead. We were told that such would be the result if we fed her with it, but were faithless. The next year we fed it to another under the same circumstances and the result was the same—all the pigs were dead. We found that rather costly experimenting, and have never tried it again. Last spring one of our neighbors who had a very fine sow, fed her with a pretty generous portion of such milk, and she immediately became sick and came very near dying. We think these experiments sufficient to warrant the conclusion, that such milk is highly injurious to sows, or at least to sows. It would be rather expensive to go into a series of experiments, to prove that such milk is invariably injurious to sows, but when isolated and incidental cases are followed by the same result, it is fair to consider it an established law of nature, and worthy to be put down among the scientific facts in animal physiology. —The Farmer.

Wholesale—Its Atonement Character.

Some farmers are disposed to ridicule the idea that in the simple and hitherto unaccounted article of charcoal, the agricultural processes an assistant of great and surpassing energy. Yet such is the fact, undeniably unless science is to be regarded as a mere house of cards, built up but to be thrown down again. But it is not for the purpose of defending it against the cavilling and carping spirit of such as deny its claims to the character of a manorial agent, that we now take up the pen, but rather to represent a few isolated facts in reference to its capacity of assisting in some cases, and under certain conditions, and somewhat peculiar circumstances as a substitute for the food of animals, instead of an aliment of plants.—The incidents of facts given below in illustration of the truth of the position suggested, are from the most reliable sources, and may be depended upon as strictly and accurately correct.

Some years since, while one of the Liverpool traders was fitting out in the city of New York, a pig was missing from an hoard, and was supposed to be lost. After taking in her cage, the vessel put to sea. A few days after it was found that the pig supposed to have been lost, was in the vessel, but as the location of the latter rendered approach somewhat difficult, it was concluded to leave the animal to his fate. At the termination of the voyage his pig-ship was not only found to be alive and well but very considerably improved in condition, though, with the exception of charcoal, there was nothing within his reach that he could have swallowed from the commencement to the conclusion of the voyage—a period of 39 days.

A family being driven from the city of New York by the fever, were about six or eight weeks, before it was deemed prudent to return. A number of fowls were confined in the lot of a work-shop, were forgotten at the time of leaving and as it was known that there was nothing provided for their subsistence, it was expected by their return that they would be found starved to death. To the astonishment of all, the fowls were found alive and fat, though there was nothing upon which they could have fed, except a quantity of charcoal and shavings; water being supplied from the grind stone trough.

The following experiment was made by a gentleman of New York, to whom the foregoing facts were communicated by a friend.

He placed a turkey in a box or inclosure, four feet wide and three or four feet high, excluded light as much as could be done, and allowed a free circulation of air and fed the turkey with soft brick broken fine, pounded charcoal and six grains of corn per day. The box was kept locked. At the end of the month, the turkey was killed in the presence of several gentlemen; was large and heavy, and on being opened, was found filled with fat. On dissection nothing was found in the pizzard and entrals but charcoal and brick. Last winter the experiment was repeated and with the same success.

A late writer on this subject says:—When it is remembered that wood, sugar and several other substances, some of which are most nutritive, are compounded of nearly the same original elements, it would seem possible, by animal chemistry, to convert them to the purpose of sustaining animal life; though all experiments with wood or charcoal have failed.—N. L. Farmer.

BOOKS AND STATIONARY,
FOR CASH ONLY.
The Amount of goods in our line purchased by country merchants is usually quite small compared with their dry goods, hardware, and other bills, and this very circumstance absolutely compels jobbers in the book business, who sell on time, to get larger profits in order to make up for the losses and extra expenses necessarily involved in a credit business of small amounts. It is also easy for the merchant to make arrangements to buy his book bill for cash; though it might not be so convenient for him to purchase his larger bills in this way.
These considerations have led us to adopt in our business, from this date, January, 1854, the following principles, viz. STATE PROPERTIES, EXCHANGING TERMS AND TERMS ALWAYS CASH.
Being ourselves the sole publishers of a number of the leading and most extensively selling School Books in the country, as well as works in other departments, our facilities are unsurpassed.
Call upon us, or send an order, and judge for yourselves, if the saving you can make by buying of us for cash is worth while.
Our location is very central, and easily found. Stand on the Astor house steps, and look straight forward across the corner of the Park, and you cannot avoid seeing our signs. REMEMBER THE NAME IS MASON BROTHERS.

Raising Blood
And Consumption, pain in the side and night sweats, Asthma, Whooping Cough, palpitation of the heart, Liver complaint, Bronchitis, and all diseases of the throat, lungs and liver cured by Sherman's All-Healing Balm.
RAISING BLOOD & CONSUMPTION.
Mr. Mine, Builder, in Brooklyn, was attacked with raising blood, followed by a cough, pain in the side, and all the usual symptoms of consumption. He employed two of the best physicians; they did him no good, and told him he could not live.
Hearing of the wonderful cures performed by Sherman's Balm, he sent at 10 o'clock at night to Mrs. Hayes, 136 Fulton street, and got a bottle; it operated like a charm, stopped the bleeding and cough! Before he had taken one bottle he was able to be about his work. It had saved his life. His daughter, residing at 127 Myrtle Avenue, can attest it.
Miss Ann Maston, of Williamsburg living in Tenth, near South Fourth st., says—That she had been troubled with a hacking cough, and pain in the chest, for a long time, which at last became so bad that she was obliged to give up her school for more than a year. She then commenced taking the All-Healing Balm—which soon alleviated her symptoms. She is now fast recovering, and has resumed her laborious occupation as a teacher.
11 years Mr. John O'Neil, 10th avenue and 21st street, suffered with a cough, raising of phlegm, and pain in his side. He could get no relief till he tried the All-Healing Balm, which drove the pain from his side, allayed the cough, and brought the disease upon the surface; and before he had taken three bottles, was entirely cured.
PLEURISY AND CONSUMPTION.
Mrs. Baggas, a lady upwards of 70, residing 88 Sheriff street, has for years been subject to attacks of Pleurisy, Raising of Blood, severe Cough, Shortness of Breath, Pain in her Head and various parts of her body. Her friends believed past recovery. The All-Healing Balm relieved her at once of all her alarming symptoms, and now she is able to attend to her work.
ASTHMA AND WHOOPING COUGH.
Mrs. Lucretia Wells, 95 Christie st., L. S. Beals, 19 Delancy street; W. H. Youngs, 75 Walnut st.; know the value of this great remedy.

Landlords will find it greatly to their advantage to deal with us. We have no larger agents to sell and distribute liquors for us at great expense, which must be paid for by the consumer. Those dealing with us will not only be satisfied with the article they get, as well as the price, and whenever they are not, we will be pleased to have them return the liquor, and make the fact known, for we intend to make it a permanent business, and can only do so by dealing honorably. All orders sent us, by stage drivers or others, will be promptly attended to, the same as though the person was present dealing for himself.
