

Systematic Libertinism.

The New York Tribune has recently been making some investigations into the extent of the 'Free Love' organization in New York city.

The Club, on the other hand, is a fixed fact. It meets on Monday and Thursday evening of each week, over Taylor's upper saloon, No. 555 Broadway.

Although the exercises, topics, and amusements indulged in take a wide range, the main idea which draws and holds together this motley party, is Free Love, or Passional Attraction, as some of them prefer to call it.

Sharp Retort.

Hon. Jere Clemens formerly U. S. Senator, who has been bitterly assailed by the Administration organs as an American, and his defeat the subject of rejoicing, writes:

I was beaten, it is true, but when I commenced the canvass the American party in this county did not number over 300, out of a voting population of nearly 2100.

Independent of thought or action, is something which the editor of the Union never understood, any more than he understood morality and honor when he sought, through an agent, to induce a drunken man to utter the foulest calumnies upon the reputation of a woman.

These, and a few like things, would doubtless, have won for me the sunniest smiles of the Executive, and saved me from the charge of having "repudiated principles."

Playing 'Old Sledge' for a Baby.

On the mountain near the summit, lives a woman, who, albeit not possessed of many goods and chattels, has a plentiful supply of offspring.

The cards were cut, shuffled, and dealt and by dint of close playing A. made five points and B. six points, leaving him one to go.

Who can conjecture what part in life's drama may yet be performed by the boy that was won at a game of old sledge?—Holidaysburg (Pa.) Standard.

The Great Twenty Thousand Dollar Shooting Match.

The great pigeon shooting match between Wm. King of Florida and B. Duncan of Kentucky, for $10,000 a side, was concluded at Cincinnati on Monday, having commenced on Saturday.

Duncan has been victorious according to the rules by which they shot, but neither contestant can feel that they have come from a field on which they have done honor to themselves.

Late intelligence from the Plains states that Gen. Harney has received a reinforcement of 600 men.

Wisconsin, by her new census, has a population of 552,109, against 305,391 in 1850.

The Scientific American. ELEVENTH YEAR. Splendid Engravings and Prizes.

The Eleventh Annual Volume commences on the 17th day of September, 1855. The "Scientific American" is an illustrated periodical, devoted chiefly to the promulgation of information relating to the various mechanic and chemic arts, industrial manufactures, agriculture, patents, inventions, engineering, millwork, and all interests which the light of practical science is calculated to advance.

Reports of U. S. Patents granted are also published every week, including official copies of all the Patent claims, together with news and information upon thousands of other subjects.

The contributors to the Scientific American are among the most eminent scientific and practical men of the times. The editorial department is universally acknowledged to be conducted with great ability, and to be distinguished, not only for the excellence and truthfulness of its discussions, but for the fearlessness with which error is combated and false theories are exploded.

Mechanics, Inventors, Engineers, Chemists, Manufacturers, Agriculturists, and people of every profession in life, will find the Scientific American to be of great value in their respective callings. Its counsels and suggestions will save them hundreds of dollars annually, besides affording them a continual source of knowledge, the experience of which is beyond pecuniary estimate.

The Scientific American is published once a week; every number contains eight large quarto pages, forming annually a complete and splendid volume, illustrated with several hundred original engravings.

Specimen copies sent gratis. Terms.—Single subscriptions, $2 a year, or $1 for six months. Five copies, for six months, $5; for a year, $8.

For further Club rates and for statement of the fourteen large cash prizes, offered by the publishers, see Scientific American.
