

Surgical Monstrosity.

The Philadelphia correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune, furnishes that paper with the following remarkable case:

A child, seven months old, was brought to the College Hospital from the western part of the State, having appended to its left cheek a large mass of flesh, somewhat resembling a tumor. This mass grew more rapidly than the child itself. At birth it was no larger than an apple, but when brought here last month it was nearly a foot long. Its surface was neither smooth nor regular, but was divided into several globular masses, while pulsation was distinctly perceptible, regular and uninterrupted, from forty to a hundred beats per minute. It was traversed by a large artery, showing that it was largely supplied with blood. The tumor was connected to the child's cheek by a peculiar caul-like membrane, pierced with holes, and its presence was a source of constant irritation to the child, though supported by the mother's hand. How to remove this huge tumor without destroying the life of the child was the great surgical problem. The parents, warned of the danger, were yet extremely anxious to have the frightful parasite taken off. Dr. Pancoast, under whose charge the patient had been placed, decided that the use of the knife would result in a fatal hemorrhage, and determined to divide the caul-like membrane by using a French instrument, the ecraseur, which, by forcing down the skin, and bruising the vessel thoroughly before the chain of the instrument cuts through the mass effectually prevents all serious bleeding. The operation was performed in presence of an immense assemblage of medical men, students and others.

The child was placed under the influence of ether, when all pulsation in the parasite was observed to cease. The instrument being applied, the chain was rapidly worked until the parts were well compressed, and afterward very slowly. In fifteen minutes the tumor came away with the instrument, the chain having worked through the connecting membrane while scarcely a drop of blood followed the removal, and but one small vessel required a ligature. The surface left on the cheek was about two inches square, and the tumor weighed two and a half pounds. The whole operation was entirely successful, and the child lives and has fully recovered. But the extraordinary part remains to be told. The tumor thus taken off was found to contain a living child, imperfectly developed it is true, but still a living child. Fingers were seen, and a portion of the rudimentary arm. The intestines were well developed, and no doubt was entertained of its being a male child. A body, presumed to be the heart, contained, imperfectly formed auricles and ventricles. The mesenteric arteries and veins were of large size. The dissecting knife came repeatedly in contact with the osseous matter of rudimentary skeleton. Fat was found in large quantities everywhere. It was in fact a repetition of the Siamese Twins, only less perfectly developed. These results were received with profound astonishment by the crowded audience who witnessed the operation. The case is said to be unique in the annals of human malformation.

Jealousy.

A singular affair is said to have occurred in Pensacola a few days ago. Miss Susan —, daughter of one of the most distinguished jurists and politicians of Florida, entertained a most violent passion for Mr. G., Mayor of Pensacola, who had paid her some attentions previous to his marriage with another lady. She took no great pains to conceal from Mr. G. the nature of her feelings, and had on several occasions conducted herself in rather an extravagant and startling manner, but he supposed nothing serious would come of it. One day recently, however, she went to his house and called for Mrs. G., and, when the lady came to the door, drew a pistol, ready cocked, from the folds of her dress, and fired at her rival. The bullet missed, and Mrs. G. bravely rushed upon the desperate girl, and wrenched the pistol from her; but prepared and determined to shed blood, Susan drew a knife, and, before she could be disarmed by others who interfered, succeeded in inflicting a slight wound upon Mrs. G. The latter states that her father, in order to shield her from a criminal prosecution, was about to send her to an insane asylum.

Important Decision.

The Attorney General of this State has decided that all dealers in Merchandise, whether their sales amount to one thousand dollars or not, are bound to take out a license. He says: If the question was an open one, I should be disposed to the opinion that the proviso in the 10th section of the act of the 4th of May, 1841, was still in force. But as I understand the decision of the Supreme Court, in Osborne v. Holmes, 9th Barr 332, it is there held that this proviso is repealed by the 11th section of the act of the 23d of April, 1845. Under this decision, vendors of merchandise must take a license whether their sales amount to one thousand dollars or otherwise.

CASHIER ELECTED.—J. D. Cameron, Esq., of Harrisburg, son of the Hon. Simon Cameron, was on the resignation of the latter, elected Cashier of the Bank of Middletown, on Monday of last week.

On the 11th ult., the Texas farmers were planting corn; peach trees were in blossom, and the wheat looking well.—There will be a large emigration into Texas this spring.

A laboring girl, coming from the field, was told by her cousin that she "looked as fresh as a daisy kissed with dew." "Well," said she "it wasn't anybody by that name, but it was Harry Jones that kissed me; I told him every one in the village would find it out."

Buchanan on Packer.

A Washington Correspondent of the Harrisburg Telegraph is responsible for the following description of a rich scene at the White House:

"The President read my letters of introduction carefully, shook me by the hand, and entered quite minutely in the politics of the Hoosier State. But just as I was getting over my embarrassment sufficiently to reply, in comes that same white-headed gentleman of your convention, with another whose name I did not catch in the interruption of the moment. The President caught him convulsively with both hands, exclaiming 'Plumer, you are a hero! you have immortalized yourself! you have demolished Packer and Forney! you have driven them beyond the reach of the sounds of the last trumpet! We shall hear no more of them. I told Baker and Brennan you were the man to be relied on, and must be the President of the Convention.—Some talked of Hopkins, and some of Welsh and Bigler. I told them the first two were for temporizing and white-washing Packer, and the last was at times 'weak in the knees,' as well as myself.—Gillis, too, was urged upon me, and although a good fellow, seems to think of nothing but his big snuff-box. But, Plumer, you never deceived me, and most happily have you carried out all my plans. Now, Plumer, you must be the next Governor."

At this I observed the latter bluish up to the ears, exclaiming, "Oh! Mr. President, I never aspired to such a place; but yet several of my friends say I could not do worse than Packer has done."

"Packer! Packer!" said the President, "why he ought not to be named on the same day with you. You are a giant, Plumer, while he is a mere pigmy, and you have driven him out of the party.—That was a noble committee that Wharton appointed; the very names that I sent him. I would take care of that fellow Wharton, if I had not already appointed two many Old-line Whigs in Philadelphia. Why, they tell me that those I have appointed have not retained a single friend out the appointees themselves. I tell you Plumer, these Old-line Whigs are not to be trusted. They have nearly all gone over to the black Republicans.—But what have you done about the State Central Committee?"

"Well, Mr. President, that is just what I came over to consult you about. I came by Philadelphia, and Baker and Westcott say that they promised little Haldeman that he should be the Chairman, and he is to keep up a constant fire on Packer and his administration."

"Bah! Haldeman is a fool; a devilish smart little fellow though, Plumer. I had him to dine with me the other day, and he left as proud as a little dog with two tails. Plumer, it sets some of these little fellows up wonderfully when they go home to their mammas, and say they dined with the President of these United States. But the old fellow of all was a Hessian, taken at the battle of Trenton, and I never yet saw a Hessian that could be trusted. I never trusted a Haldeman in my life. No, no, Plumer, it must not be done. Baker is a fool, and Westcott a knave. I was told so at the time, and ought not to have appointed him; but Brennan would have it so. No, no, appoint the man I named to you, and you will be nominated for Governor as sure as you live, and lead the Democracy in Pennsylvania in 1860. I will see Hopkins and tell him he must wait this time, and go in with a hearty good will for you. You will have the whole weight of my administration to back you up."

I may have missed some names, and placed others in a wrong position; but as near as my memory serves me, I have given the conversation correctly. If time permits, I will write you again shortly, after I have seen more of the sights. Very truly yours,

MARRIED.

NORTHAMPTON ACADEMY, A BOARDING SCHOOL FOR Boys and Girls, Easton, Pa.

This Institution will open its second quarter of the Spring Session on Monday the 4th of April, and continue eleven weeks, when a vacation of six weeks will follow.

The Fall session will commence on Wednesday, the 29th of July, and continue twenty-two weeks.

The building, a large four story brick edifice, (formerly known as "Temperance Hall") is now being re-modeled and fitted up expressly for a first class Seminary for the education of pupils of both sexes. The boarding pupils will occupy two separate buildings, arranged with private rooms. Experience has taught that it is decidedly disadvantageous for more than two pupils to occupy the same room. The accommodations and advantages of this school are of a superior order, and it designs to train and fit boys and young men thoroughly for college or business. To young ladies are offered excellent facilities for the acquisition of a solid or ornamental education.

Competent teachers are employed. Having long experience in Teaching and devoting his whole attention to the business, the Principal hopes to merit a large share of public patronage, and would respectfully invite attention to his School.

Terms, per quarter, in the common English branches, for Boarding Scholars, $37 50.

Tuition for Day Scholars from $5 25 to $8 00.

Additional charges are made for the higher English branches and Classics.

Extra charges for the modern languages and the ornaments. Bills paid in advance.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION, PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution established by special Endowment, for the Relief of the Sick and Distressed, afflicted with Violent & Epidemic Diseases.

The HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life caused by Sexual diseases, and the deceptions practiced upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a CHARITABLE ACT worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of diseases, in all their forms, and to give Medical advice gratis to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.) and in case of extreme poverty, to FURNISH MEDICINE FREE OF CHARGE. It is needless to add that the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association, in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of their Surgeons in the cure of Spermatorrhoea, Seminal Weakness, Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self-Abuse, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves, with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhoea, or Seminal Weakness, the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self-Abuse, and other diseases of the Sexual Organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope), free of charge, on receipt of two stamps, for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of Sexual diseases, diet, &c. are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution, and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year, are of great value.

Address, for Report or treatment, DR. J. SKILLIN HOUGHTON, Acting Surgeon, No. 2 South Ninth street, Philadelphia, Pa.
