The Explosion of Dapont's Mills.

WILMINGTON, Del. Saturday, Oct. 22. The explosion of Dupont's powder mills THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY. on the Brandywine, yesterday, occurred about 103 o'clock, p. m., while the men in the lower or hagles yard were employed in loading powder-dust (as it is called PROTECTED when in a certain condition) at the press room, to be conveyed to one of the other mills to go through another process. A one horse cart stood opposite the pressroom door, partly loaded. The press room "tlew up" with a terrible crash; the composition room immediately followed; a minute or too later the glazing room and the two rolling mills simultaneously be relied on -being five in all.

Seven men were killed, and another had his arm broken. The wind was portbwest and high at the time, which deadened the sound so much in the immediate vicinity that the men in the upper yard did not cease work on the in -tant, and Mr. Henry Dupont, who was in the basement of a cotton mill not far distant, did not think from the light report, that it was necessary to burry to the yard to ascertain the damage, if any had been done.
