

The Jeffersonian.

Since the late insane Insurrection at Hurper's Ferry, headed by John Brown, all kinds of imaginable black ful-choods and gross, wilful perversions have been set affont by the Administration Democrats; and as absurd as it may seem, they have made strenuous and persistant efforts to connect the Republican party with this crazy affair, which filled us all (except the Administration Demoerats) with surprise as well as serrow, and rone could have more seriously regretted it than the Republicans, for we, knowing how hard run the Administration Democrats were for political capital, believed that many of them would prove to be base, mean and cowardly enough to try to make us responsible for it, and this too without a shadow of evidence, save that which their lying minds have invented

The Monroe Democrat after having cowardly copied several articles intima ting and charging on the Republicans the authorship of the Harper's Ferry In-urrection, has, it would appear, come to the conclusion that his Administration brother Democrats are rather out-doing him in meanness, and in order to be equal with them he published last week the following article, and by failing to credit it to any other source, assumed its authorship, and thereby gives no leave to hold him responsible for it, which we accordingly do: "A FEW QUESTIONS .- What was Ossa
