

The Jeffersonian.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1859.

A large fire occurred at Oakland, in Price Township, on Monday night last, by which the extensive tannery of Wm. S. White, was entirely destroyed, together with his entire stock of bark, and a large proportion of the leather.

We have not learned where the property was insured, nor what amount, but Mr. White is undoubtedly a heavy loser. This is the third tannery that Mr. White has lost by fire within about three years.

We understand that Mr. White intends rebuilding.

Bank Election.

The following named persons were elected Directors of the Stroudsburg Bank, on Monday last:

- John Boys, John Butz, Charles Saylor, Reuben Gregory, John N. Stokes, Thomas W. Rhodes, J. D. Lohar, H. M. Lohar, James Place, Philip Swartwood, Michael Ramsberry, James N. Darling, Dupue S. Miller.

Gubernatorial.

The Republicans of Pennsylvania are beginning to look about in earnest for a good strong gubernatorial candidate.

The gentlemen named, as far as we know, are as follows: Andrew H. Reeder, of Northampton. Hon. Andrew G. Curtin, of Centre.

With such names to select from, the Opposition Convention cannot fail to select a candidate that will be acceptable to the people.

The outcry kept up by the Lecontean presses, for three or four weeks past, about old Brown and his actions at Harper's Ferry, has not alarmed anybody, nor advanced their party prosperity one iota.

We do not disapprove of concentration of mind or action on any subject, but on the other hand approve of it as far as business is concerned, provided it is seasoned with charity to the rest of mankind.

Judge Parker, at the instance of Gov. Wise, has handed over Stephen, one of the Harper's Ferry conspirators, to Mr. Martin, United States Marshal for the Western District of Virginia.

Cassius M. Clay made a speech at Covington on Wednesday evening, in which he denounced slavery with his accustomed force and bitterness, and predicted the triumph of the Republican party.

Erection of a Bridge.

FREEMANSBURG, Pa., Friday Nov. 18. The Lehigh and Delaware Water Gap Railroad have commenced the construction of a bridge over the Lehigh at this place.

Refinement.

The American people are noted for their plainness, bluntness and lack of refinement. This trait is more readily perceived by the traveler, as he listens to the various strains of argument—the lofty strains of logic which ever vibrate upon the tympanum in our public houses and on our public conveyances.

Our limits will not permit us to illustrate these facts, or need we. Every intelligent mind can readily perceive, if it takes a peep within itself or into the world, these truths standing in bold relief, without a fear of contradiction.

These are some of the causes which tend to make us, the people we are.—The cure must, perhaps, be apparent to all; viz: teach our sons to think for themselves and respect the opinions of others, ever remembering that others have feelings as well as ourselves.

Reader, if you are a business man, it is your duty, as well as privilege, to be posted in your legitimate business; and if another, who follows a different calling, is not acquainted with the principles of yours, you have no right to pronounce upon him a verdict of veridancy.

R. W. H. Richard, Ill., Nov. 1859.

The Court of appeals of Virginia, refuses to award a writ of error in the case of Brown, and he will be hung on the 2d.

Shop Lifting.

The Easton Argus gives the following account of their operations in Easton and of their consequent arrest:

A man and two women came to Easton on Monday morning of last week, who proved to be professional thieves, and shop-lifters. They put up at the Franklin house and registered their names as "G. Franklin and lady," all three occupying the same room.

Mark T. Warne, a dry goods merchant of Easton, testified that John Fox and the two women came to his store on Tuesday last, and after they left, several dress patterns and pieces of silk were missed.

Jacob Rader, a merchant of Easton, testified that Fox and the two women, whom he positively identified, came to his store and bought three yards of black silk.

Detective Franklin testified that he searched the house in Fifteenth street, near Girard avenue, where the parties resided, and found a large chest full of goods, those identified by the witness being with them.

D. L. Staeboune, druggist at Eighth and Spring Garden streets, in this City, testified that Fox and Baker came to his store a short time since and purchased some toilet articles; two women who accompanied them were sitting near the sewer stand, while the men were being waited on; after the departure of the parties and before any one else had entered the store, three boxes of cigars valued at $15, were missed; he identified a box found in the chest at Fox's house as his property.

District attorney Mann, who appeared for the Commonwealth, asked that Fox and the two women be held for their appearance at Court at Easton, Pa., and that Baker be held to answer the charge of stealing cigars, and receiving stolen goods, knowing them to have been stolen.

Baker was committed in default of $1,000 to answer the charge of larceny, and receiving stolen goods, knowing them to be stolen, at the next term of the Court of Quarter Sessions.

Grasse was committed in default of $1,000 bail, for a further hearing on Monday afternoon next.

The prisoners are all German Jews.—They had three children with them, all of tender age, one of them being an infant in the arms.

The Tammany Hall Locofocos, New York, have nominated Ex-Mayor Havemeyer for re-election.

Coal Oil versus Burnig Fluid.

The Lancaster Daily Express, in an article on this subject, says very truly, that the daily record of burning fluid accidents stamps it as the Great Domestic Assassin of the age; and still many families who know the danger continue to use it, because they have been unable to obtain anything else so cheap and convenient as a substitute.

The trials at Charlestown, of the parties indicted for participation in the so-called insurrection at Harper's Ferry, terminated last week, and on Friday the convicts were brought up to be sentenced.

The negroes are to be hung on the morning of the 16th of December, and the whites during the afternoon of the same day.

Stephens, one of the men, indicted for murder, arson, &c., had his case handed over to the U. S. Courts. He is desperately wounded, and there is little probability that he will survive long enough to be tried.

Great efforts have been made to get Cook clear. He is a brother-in-law of Gov. Willard, the democratic Governor of Indiana, who has in person attended at Charlestown, procured eminent counsel to defend Cook, and done everything in his power to rescue his kinsman.

The editor of the New York Herald says that he has seen a letter from Gov. Wise of Virginia, in which he states that there is no possibility of a pardon or reprieve being extended to Brown, who therefore will certainly be executed on the appointed day.

An important document has been prepared for the press and published in St. Louis, presenting an authoritative exposition of the views of the Hon. Edward Bates, on the slavery question.

Virgil Vanauken gathered, this fall, one hundred and twenty-five bushels of buckwheat, from a plot of ground upon which only one bushel of seed was drilled in.
