GIVE ME A HOME IN THE COUNTRY BY THE BARD OF THE EASTON HALL OF FASHION. Give me a bome in the country, Said a maiden young and fair : When June is come in her beauty, And on the still Summer air

Is borne forth the fragrant breathing Of thousands of lovely flowers, And the warblings of birds From our natures leafy bowers.

Give me a home in the woodlands, When Sol with his scorehing beams Is withering the flowers in their beauty, And drying the murmuring streams.

Give me a home where peace ever Will greet me when labor is done: And though fortune, in show ring her fa-fashion, The grace and peculiar style Which characterize the apparel Made up at the great store of Pyle,

I'll covet no more of earth's blessings; But lightsome, and happy and gay,

Shall my days pass in sweetness away.
