

Kerosene Oil Explosive.
To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune.
Sir: In your paper of this morning I noticed an article on Kerosene, in which it is stated that pure kerosene is not explosive, and that the recent accident resulting from the use of this article was due to its adulteration by camphene, &c. Having had considerable experience as consulting chemist in the manufacture of this oil, I take the liberty to make the following statement, in the hope that it may be instrumental in preventing similar accidents and loss of life.

Kerosene, as well as all other pyrogenic oils, may or may not be explosive, according to the process of manufacture. Such oils are mixtures of several hydrocarbons, having boiling points varying from below 200 deg. to above 600 deg. F. If the whole product of the distillation is collected together and sold for kerosene, or illuminating oil, the profit to the manufacturer is of course larger than if any portion of the product is separated, but this cannot be done without great danger to the consumer; and, in my opinion, all the accidents that have occurred, or are likely to occur from the use of kerosene, are, or will be, due to the cupiditv or ignorance of the manufacturer rather than to the use of any foreign substance, such as camphene.

It is a very popular error to believe that camphene is explosive. It is not. All the accidents which have resulted from its admixture with alcohol, in the form of burning fluid. Consequently, the addition of camphene to kero-e-ne cannot make the latter explosive, provided the kerosene has been properly made.

The question now arises, how can accidents from the use of such liquids be prevented? I answer, use no mixture for burning, in which alcohol, Fossil oil, benzole, or any liquid having a boiling point below 300 deg. F. forms a part. Camphene boils at 314 deg. F. and may be safely used for burning, provided it is not mixed with alcohol. In my opinion, however, kero-e-ne, if properly made, is destined to supersede all other fluids for illumination, but, in order to fulfill this prediction, it is necessary that the manufacturers should exclude that portion of the oil which passes over below the temperature of 200 deg. F. and sell for kerosene that only which has a boiling point above 300 deg.

EDWARD N. KENT, Chemist.

Care for Neuralgia.
The following is given by high medical authority as a certain cure for neuralgia: Take a watch glass, and a piece of lint a little less in size than the watch glass to be used—which need not be more than two inches in diameter—putting it on the hollow side of the glass. Pour on a few drops of chloroform sufficient to saturate it, and then apply it at once to the part affected, keeping the edges of the glass closely applied to the skin, by covering it with the hand, for the purpose of assisting the evaporation of the chloroform. This done from five to ten minutes, according to the amount of irritation wished for. The patient during this time will complain of a burning sensation—not so severe as that produced by a mustard sinapism, which reaches its height in five minutes, and then abates, but does not entirely disappear for more than ten minutes. To insure the full operation of the remedy, it is necessary that the watch glass be rather concave, that it be closely applied to the skin, and the hand applied over it be sensibly warm. The immediate effect of the application is to remove all local pain in neuralgia.

Severe Penalty.
We give the following extract from the Penal Code for the information of the "fancy" who delight in bloody heads and damaged countenances. It will be seen that the full extent of the law is dealt out to them. Upon conviction, the punishment is by no means of a light character: "If any person shall unlawfully and maliciously inflict upon another person, either with or without any weapon or instrument, any grievous bodily harm, or unlawfully cut, stab or wound any other person, every such person shall be guilty of misdemeanor, and being convicted thereof, shall be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, and to an imprisonment either at labor by separate or solitary confinement, or to simple imprisonment, not exceeding three years."

Contemplated Seizure of the Federal Capital.
The following is an extract of a letter received in New York city from a gentleman of high position in Washington. It is dated on the 2d inst:—"The possession of the seat of government by the southern confederacy is an event most confidently predicted to take place within sixty days. The wife of a United States Senator told me an anecdote illustrative of the purposes of the President of the southern confederacy. He holds a very eligible pew in the Rev. Mr. Hall's church, and a lady, wishing to obtain it, wrote to him that she would give what he gave for it. He replied, 'that so far from relinquishing my (his) pew, I have ordered an engraved plate to be affixed to it bearing my name.' A lady just from Montgomery, in taking leave of Mrs. Davis, asked, 'And what message must I bear from you to my lady friends in Washington?' She replied, 'Tell them I shall be happy to receive their calls at the White House some two months hence.' This is very elaborate, trifling, or unsurpassed castle building."

A Singular Confession.
Our attention was called a few days ago to what purported to be the proceedings of a Democratic meeting, held at Allentown, Lehigh county, to denounce the course of the Hon. Mr. Schindler in voting for the bill commuting the tonnage tax on the Pennsylvania Railroad; and in the same connection, to an editorial article in the Allentown Democrat, in which the editor confessed that he had received a "large sum of money" for sustaining the vote of the Senator. Here is an extract from the article.

"One of the hired lackeys of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company came on to beset the press and hold out with an un-sparing hand the temptation of lucre.—We were offered a large sum of money to sustain Mr. Schindler; WE TOOK THE MONEY.—The most singular part of this confession is shown in the fact that after having 'TOOK THE MONEY' a payment, of course, for 'sustaining' Mr. S., follows a homely on morality, interspersed with abuse of the Senator that would put to shame the veriest Maw-worm that ever existed. How a man who openly confesses that he took a bribe, can so openly ensure another whom he charges, at least, by implication, with the same thing, is a species of ethics that we confess we cannot understand. This confession discloses certainly a new phase to this tonnage tax business, while it at the same time lays bare a depth of degradation to which we had no idea any man connected with the press was capable of sinking.

It is conceded that the bill could not pass without the vote of Mr. Schindler in the Senate. It is also understood that Mr. Schindler had expressed himself in favor of its passage; but could not vote for it because the press and the people of his district were opposed to it. Now, if this editor would have preserved his honor, when the offer of "lucre" was presented him, what was his duty? Would any honest man have hesitated? Instead of spurting it, while still clutched by the dollars, he sat down and wrote a letter to Mr. Schindler, which was read in the Senate while the vote was being taken, in substance as follows:

"Hon. J. Schindler. I have examined Bill No. —. I can see no objection to its passage, and if you vote for it, I will sustain you." Signed, &c.

God knows our government is becoming corrupt enough! Legislators are freely charged with being duly mindful of their pockets;—but what is to become of our liberties, if the controllers of the press will accept bribes, make a boast of their shame, and then turn round and charge dishonor upon their victims? If the Allentown editor TOOK THE MONEY, what agreement did he make in return? Did he not make a pilgrimage to Philadelphia to see a brother editor, then in that city, to induce him to join in sustaining Mr. Schindler? Did he not write the above letter to that gentleman before the passage of that bill? These are questions that deeply interest his honor and the honor of the press of Pennsylvania.

Whatever may be our views of the merits or demerits of this bill (for it has both) if the Allentown man deemed it so injurious, he had the power to present its passage, by simply turning his face toward Harrisburg (instead of Philadelphia) and disclose the whole thing to the Senate.—But did he do that? Alas no! He pocketed the bribe—be "TOOK THE MONEY," and then proclaimed his shame to the public.—Luzerne Union.
The Hon. Mr. Rev. Jeremiah Schindler above named, and the editor of the Allentown Democrat, are both members of the Democratic party.

Sheep Killed by an Owl.
On the 13th inst., Mr. A. North went to feed his sheep, and found two or three quite bloody, and one missing.—There being a light snow upon the ground, he concluded he could discover the depredator by his tracks. He made diligent search, found the missing sheep dead and partly eaten. About the carcass were tracks of a large bird. He set a trap upon the carcass, and next morning had a monster owl, weighing eight pounds. It seems that he lit upon the sheep's back, and with his talons clung to the wool, and with his beak severed the large vein on the side of the neck, thus bleeding him to death. This occurrence would not seem so strange had the sheep been small and poor. Mr. North being a thorough man, and a reader of the Ohio Farmer, keeps but few sheep, and keeps them well. Therefore the crows and owls have no claims on his flock.—Ohio Farmer.

Fever and Ague! Chill Fever! Dumb Ague!!!
It is not a very difficult thing to break the ague—that is, for a time to scatter it over the system, with Quinine, Arsenic, or similar poisons. But a vegetable medicine which not only breaks the fits, but eradicates it from the system, is a remedy worth having. Such is HUMPHREYS' HOMEOPATHIC AGUE PILLS—a harmless sugar pill; it cures the disease; breaks up the fits; and eradicates it from the system; and even prevents it where persons have been exposed. Children, infants, and the most feeble, may take it with impunity. The most inveterate cases are radically cured by it.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
And for the speedy cure of the following complaints: Scrofula and Erysipelas, Swellings, such as Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Psoriasis, Itch, Rheumatism, Dropsy, and all the Skin Diseases arising from the impurities of the Blood.
OCTOBER 1st, 6th, 10th, 15th, 20th, 25th, 30th, 31st, 1860.
J. C. AYER & Co. Gents: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. Having suffered a scrofulous disease, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in Ulcers on my face and arms, sometimes it turned inward and distressed me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered my scalp beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from any thing. In fact, the disease grew worse. At length I was applied to read in the Register Assurance that you had prepared an alternative (Sarsaparilla) for I knew living your reputation that may think you must have found a new and useful medicine. I at once bought a bottle, and used it till it cured me. I feel it my duty to state to the public that you have done me a great service, and that I will be glad to recommend your Sarsaparilla to all who are afflicted with the same. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying, when I tell you that I had you to be one of the apostles of change, and remain ever gratefully.

I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from any thing. In fact, the disease grew worse. At length I was applied to read in the Register Assurance that you had prepared an alternative (Sarsaparilla) for I knew living your reputation that may think you must have found a new and useful medicine. I at once bought a bottle, and used it till it cured me. I feel it my duty to state to the public that you have done me a great service, and that I will be glad to recommend your Sarsaparilla to all who are afflicted with the same. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying, when I tell you that I had you to be one of the apostles of change, and remain ever gratefully.
ALFRED B. TALLEY.

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co. Gents: I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. Having suffered a scrofulous disease, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in Ulcers on my face and arms, sometimes it turned inward and distressed me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered my scalp beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from any thing. In fact, the disease grew worse.
