

tery, and the last words he is known to have said were these, to his men: "Boys, remember New-York is looking at you."

Sergeant S. G. Goodwin of Company H, Fire Zouaves, member of Engine 30, saw one of our men lying on his back near his horse, the man was severely wounded, if not already dead.

Another instance of the Rebel manner of dealing with our wounded men I could cite, but the stories I have told I think will establish beyond question the truth of the following conclusions:

1st. That as this slaughter of our wounded was not the work of a single company, or regiment of the enemy, but was going on in all parts of the field at the same time, it was done in obedience to an order from Rebel Headquarters.

2d. That, if this is the policy of the enemy, it is to be feared that our own men will retaliate in kind, for their officers will never be able to restrain them in another action.

My letter is already very long, but I still desire to repeat my former remark. Every statement in this communication about the treatment of our wounded men by the enemy, was taken by me from the lips of the officers whose names are herein mentioned, and who themselves saw the occurrences.

Not a line is hearsay evidence.

BARTONSVILLE, July 25, 1861. Mr. Editor:—On Saturday evening last, at the request of several friends, I attended a Sunday School Exhibition at Scribner's School House, got up for the purpose of procuring funds to increase the library of that place, which is very small.

Not being an advocate of exhibitions, (for they generally consist in mere "sing song" speeches, repeated by wrote, parrot like, without any regard to emphasis, gesticulations, &c.) I did not attend with the expectation of perceiving anything more than is usually displayed; but I must confess I was greatly disappointed.

We only regret, that there was not a larger number present.

SPECTATOR.

Bull Run Prisoners. Seventy-five prisoners taken at Bull Run are incarcerated in the old Capitol. They live like princes. The ladies of Washington provide them with all the delicacies, and Senators of Rebel tendencies give them mental and moral aid and comfort.

Storing Butter in a Cellar. A correspondent of the Prairie Farmer writes that "during several years of our first farming in Iowa, we found it extremely difficult to preserve sweet, for winter use, the butter that we made during the months of June, July and August."

Sensible Queries! The self examining society has proposed the following queries to all people about this financial period: Does it cost anything to print a paper?

Does it cost anything to print a paper for nothing? Do printers eat, drink, and wear clothing? If so, how do they get it? Do I owe for my paper? Is not this particular period a first-rate time to pay up?

The hypocrite steals the most, lies the most, prays the loudest.

WASHINGTON, July, Monday, 29, 1861. Information from Manassas.

E. P. Dougherty of the 71st Regiment, and Captain Allen of the 11th Massachusetts, arrived here this morning from Manassas, whence they escaped on Friday. They were employed as attendants at the hospital by our surgeons who allowed themselves to be taken for the purpose of caring for our wounded.

Another escape from Manassas. R. H. Gray, of Company I, Fourth Maine Regiment, escaped from Manassas on Sunday morning, and, guided by the sun and a Tribune map, made his way to the Potomac, five miles above here.

All the prisoners able to walk were at once sent to Richmond to work on the Rebel intrenchments. He feigned utter inability to stir, and, with forty others, was left in one of his hospitals.

Another Exploit of the Gun Thief. Floyd, the gun stealer, turns out also to have been a cartridge thief.

Fresh Pennsylvania Troops. Harrisburg, Friday, July 26, 1861. On Sunday night last Gov. Curtin was urgently requested to push on troops to the Capital, and within the ensuing four days ten infantry regiments, nearly 11,000 picked men, thoroughly uniformed and equipped, and most of them regularly drilled in camps of instruction for two months, were thrown forward, and additional regiment will be sent before the close of the week.

Received a Kicking. On Saturday night, a tall nondescript specimen of humanity entered Monument Square as the band attacked to Col. Lytle's Regiment was playing the "Star Spangled Banner."

No Compromise. A patriotic Irish woman, who has reached the age of sixty or more, stepped into a store, the other day, and accosted the proprietor with: "Misther—, is it thrue they're agoin' to compromise?"

A Bird's Nest in Camp. Miss Catharine Beecher, travelling in the West, relates in a private letter, the following pretty incident:—"At the camp at Lafayette (Indiana), we saw a novel sight. It was a bird feeding its young, directly in the midst of the camp."

THE OHIO REGIMENTS. The Ohio regiments were in the thickest of the fight, but fortunately lost but few men. The 1st Regiment, under Col. McCook, has covered itself with glory.

DEATH OF CAPT. MCCOOK. His younger brother, 17 years old was a member of the 2d Ohio Regiment and was left as a guard to the hospital.

MISMANAGEMENT—THE FIRE ZOUAVES. The victory was fairly won by our men, and had they been re-enforced as they should have been, after fighting all day, they could have maintained their ground.

Important Capture in Back River. Commodore Stringham reports to the Navy Department a very considerable capture made in Back River. Three masted and equipped launches from the Minnesota, two from the Roanoke, with four boats from Fort Monroe, about noon on Wednesday, went up Back River, returning at 2 o'clock on Thursday morning.

Another Jeff. Davis prize Captured. The Navy Department has information of the recapture of the schooner Enchantress, from the prize crew put aboard her by the Jeff. Davis. One of the blockading squadron nabbed her as she was creeping along the coast toward Charleston.

A Bird's Nest in Camp. Miss Catharine Beecher, travelling in the West, relates in a private letter, the following pretty incident:—"At the camp at Lafayette (Indiana), we saw a novel sight. It was a bird feeding its young, directly in the midst of the camp."

Receipt of a Masked Battery by Brownlow. One day last week, the Southern Mail brought us a small package done up precisely like a newspaper, and about equal in size to one of our exchanges, with the usual endorsement, "Brownlow's Whig, Knoxville, Tennessee," and post paid.

Another kind of Deadly Weapon. A young mechanic of Detroit, Michigan, named Stephen Bowerman, has invented a battery by which it is claimed that three hundred and twenty balls per minute can be discharged, with an accurate range of nine hundred yards.
