THURSDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1861.

Nine Majority. It now appears that George H. Rowland has nine majority over John C. Westbrook for the Assembly.

This is to be regretted, because any man who has been guilty of ustering sympathy with the Rebels, ought not to be elevated to a position in which he may have the slightest power to even remotely abet the enemies of the country. But Mr. Rowland has repeatedly declared that he is now a firm Union man. That everything he can do to aid the Govern on his mind the folly of his former posi will do their duty. tion in reference to the war.

Mr. Rowland may thank bis friends in this county for his safety. Had they not decive and mislead the voters, Westbrook in the U. S. Navy. His family have left would have had an easy triumph.

Important to Heirs of Deceased Soldiers. A circular has been issued from the Tressury Department in relation to the settlement of the accounts of deceased soldiers. The widow of an officer or pri wate is entitled to receive the money due; if there is no widow the pay goes to the dresses, but no ladies, and after putting them of England was but fifty five millions of red in Boston.
