

The Jeffersonian,

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1864.

It is said that Maj. Gen. MacGunboat McClellan, has resigned his commis- radient as sun shine. It was just what sion, sold his soldier clothes, and turned his attention to piscatorial pursuits. He is now fishing for a six years term in the United States Senate, from New Jersey, to take the place of Senator Ten Eyck, whose time expires in March next.

IT Cotter, in the last Milford Herald, fills two long columns with fuss and feathers, to convince his readers that "though beaten he is not conquered." As a most appropriate closing couplet for his next article on the same subject, we would suggest the following :

"Whose does these Boots displace Must meet Bombastees face to face!"

The Squire predicted 30,000 majority for the nominee of the Chicago Convention, in Pennsylvania We wonder if he has been able to find it? We looked. diligently through the papers for it but couldn't see it.

P. S .- Squire, can you tell us whether George B. McClellan was a candidate in the late election?

Installation.

The Rev. B. S. Everitt, will be install ed as Pastor of the Presbyterian Church of this place, on this (Thursday) evening, by a Committee of the Presbytery of Newton. Preaching on the occasion by the Rev. Mr. Studdiford, of Stewardsville, N. J. Charge to the Pasfor by the Rev. Mr. Kirk, of Belvidere, and to the people by the Rev. Mr. Bush, of Hackettstown. Services will begin at 7. o'clock. The public are invited to at-

A Buck as is a Buck.

Mr. Moses Coolbaugh, of Middle Smithfield, shot a Buck, in that township, on Monday, which weighed 252 pounds .-Moses is a young man both of merit and mettle and deserves that good luck should follow him wherever he goes. On the 8th of October he fought copperheads at the polls all day, and succeeded in paying his respects to Father Abraham in the evening. He evidently knows how to shoot as well as vote.

A Veteran.

HENRY RANSBERRY, a citizen of Stroud township, aged about 97 years, attended the Election on the 8th inst. and voted for Lincoln and Johnson. He is one of the very few links remaining which conweet us with the infancy of the Republic. Mr. R. cast his first Presidential vote for Sulness to God that he was permitted to east this, which may be his last Presidential vote, for one who now so worthily fills the chair once occupied by his immortal predecssor. Notwithstanding his extxame old age Mr. Ransberry retains all his faculties to a remarkable degree .-May the time-honored veteran live to see and enjoy his country again restored to Waity, peace and prosperity.

Why Do'nt They Howl.

Why don't the Copperhead editors, who have been so rampant over Abolition, New England, begin to howl now at the abolitionism of Jeff Davis and his rebellious associates in the South. It is seriously contemplated to arm all able bodied slaves in Jeff's dominions, and give them their freedom, as a consideration for their service in the armies of the Confederacy, and yet we hear "nary a word" against it Come, gentlemen, tune your pipes and begin to howl over the high-handed out rage of placing the "nigger on an equality with the white man." Only think of It is enough to make Copperhead blood boil over to see how changed has become "the character of the war."

The Differance.

It is singular to witness, in their ef ect on mens countenances, the similarity between the manner of recieving news the Union victories at the Polls. Previ- The election of the second Tuesday of victories on our country's battlefields, and ous to the election it was easy to tell a Mc-Clellanite by the effect which the report of a battle had on him. If the rebels had got the better of our men, his face was he expected. He knew all the time that just as well give them their rights at once, and be done with it. If our men gained the day, his face turned blacker than a thunder cloud; and fearing the effect of the victory on the prospects of little Mac. he always felt it his duty to so explain things always that victory would, after all, dwindle into defeat. And just so is it with regard to the victory gained by the people over treason at the Polls. "Democracy" (?) have not got so far yet as explaining things away; the victory is too plain and heavy for that, but the dull heavy eyes-the dismal countenancesand the general appearance of soreheadativeness, (if we may use the word,) are as plainly marked, as they were when Sherman captured Atlanta, and Sherridan threshed Early in the Shenandoah Valley. The Union victory on Tuesday the 8th inst. was just as heavy upon them and the little Mac, with a bundle of sermons undisappointment just as severe. How different from this is the conduct of the loyal Unienists.

Previous to the election it was as easy to tell a lover of his country, as it was to was just the antipode of that which we have described above. He mourned over victories. McClellan's imbecility or treachery, perhaps both, drew forth his ing a small Demijohn of "chin." perfect hatred, while the skill of Grant, Sherman, Farragut and Sherridan, secured his warmest admiration and support. The victory at the Polls was a setand by the man who had stood by the country. He was not disappointed, and hence the joy which lit up his counte nance was the index to the loyalty and love of country which pervaded his breast. In the result of the election he sees as certain an assurance of the speedy crushing of the rebellion, as he would in the defeat of Lee, and the entrance of our armies into richmond. It is an unmistakable proclamation to the world that the Patriot North will never consent to a dismemberment of the Union; and he is happy over it. He is pleased with the himself, and has even a kind and forgiving word for those who apposed him.

Raader mark the difference.

A Suggestion.

We do hope that now, the election is over, the Squire, and those who joined him in his political prereginations through the County, will give up Democratic Washington, and he expressed his thank- fabrication, and turn their attention to honest, truthful, heartfelt prayer. They have certainly an immense amount of sin. committed within the last three months, to answer for, and as they hope for happiness, either temporal or eternal, they should proceed to shrive themselves of its burden. In a strictly temporal point of view, the suggestion is one worthy of their serious consideration. They have dealt so wholly in the fictitious, that their minds must be bordering on that peculiar species of insanity which attacks the livered a most eloquent and appropriate boarding school Miss, on the discovery that her "Yaller covered" heroine has been doomed to disappointment.
