NO. 43.

Published by Theodore Schoch.

TERMS-Two dollars a year in advance- and if not paid before the end of the year, two dollars and fiffy ets, will be charged. No paper discontinued until all arrearages are paid, No paper discontinued until all arreal ages are paid, except at the option of the Editor.

ILPAdvertisements of one square of (eight lines) or less, one or three insertions $150. Each additional insertion, 50 cents. Longer ones in proportion.

JOB PRINTING.

OF ALL KINDS. Executed in the highest style of the Art, and on the most reason ble terms.

S. HOLVIES. JR., ATTORNEY-AT-LAW, AND GENERAL CLAIM AGENT.

STROUDSBURG, PA. Office with S. S. Dreher, Esq. All claims against the Government prosecuted with dispatch at reduced rates. An additional bounty of $100 and of $50 procured for Soldiers in the late War, FREE OF EXTRA CHARGE. August 2, 1866.

DR A. REEVES JACKSON. PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,

Begs leave to announce that, in order to prevent disappointment, he will hereafter de- "How shall I say my prayers to-day?" vote THURSDAY and SATURDAY of each week exclusively to Consultations and SURGICAL OPERATIONS at his office .-Parties from a distance who desire to consult him, can do so, therefore, on those days. Stroudsburg, May 31, 1866.-tf.

Furniture! Furniture!

DREHER'S NEW BUILDING, two doors below the Post-office, Stroudsburg, Pa. He is selling his Furniture 10 My handkerchief and gloves you'll find per cent. less than Easton or Washington Just in that draw. Luce, are you blind? prices, to say nothing about freight or break-

DINING-ROOM FURNITURE in Wal-nut, Oak and White Ash, Extension Tables, any size you wish, at McCARTY'S Thank you, my dear, I b'lieve I'm dressed; That boy will break my heart yet!" May 17, 1866.-tt.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD PARLOR For if, on all the other six, Suit in Rose, Mahogany or Walnut, McCARTY has it. May 17, 1866.-tf.

IF YOU WANT A GOOD MELODEON, from one of the best makers in the United States, solid Rosewood Case, warranted 5 years, call at McCARTY'S, he would especially invite all who are good judges of Music to come and test them. He will sell you from any maker you wish, $10 less than those who sell on commission. The reason is he buys for cash and sells for the same, with less than one-half the usual per centage J. H. McCARTY. that agents want. May 17, 1866.-tf.

UNDERTAKING IN ALL ITS BRAN ches.

Particular attention will be given to this branch of the subscriber's business. He will always study to please and consult the wants and wishes of those who employ him. From the number of years experience he has had in this branch of business he cannot and will not not be excelled either in city or country. Prices one-third less than is usually charged, from 50 to 75 finished Coffins always on hand. Trimmings to suit the best Hearse in the country. Funerals attended at one hour's notice. J. H. McCARTY. May 17, 1866.-tf.

Saddle and Harness Manufactory.

The undersigned respectfully informs the citizens of Stroudsburg, and surroun- cupation. ding country, that he has commenced the above business in Fowler's building, on Elizabeth street, and is fully prepared to sternly. "I thought when I saw you in furnish any article in his line of business, at short notice. On hand at all times, a pet Bags, Horse-Blankets, Bells, Skates, Oil Cloths, &c.

JOHN O. SAYLOR. Stroudsburg, Dec. 14, 1865.

Gothic Hall Drug Store. William Hollinshead,

STROUDSBURG, PA. Constantly on hand and for ply of Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oil, Glass, Putty, Varnish, Ker-

Sash, blinds and Doors. Pure Wines and Liquors for Medicinal

P. S.—Physicians Prescriptions carefully compounded. Stroudsburg, July 7, 1864.

TIN SHOP!

The undersigned begs leave to inform his friends and the public generally, that he has now opened a TIN SHOP, on Main street, near the Stroudsburg Mills, opposite Troch & Walton's, formerly R. S. Staples' Store, where he is prepared to manufacture and sell at wholesale and retail, all kinds of

In, Copper and Sheet Iron-Ware. ALSO,

Stoves, Stove Pipe and Elbows. Old and second hand Stoves bought and sold, at cash rates. CASH paid for Old Lead, Copper and promptly attended to and warranted to give ny will make a garden? satisfaction. Call and see for yourselves. WILLIAM KEISER. Stroudsburg, Dec. 8, 1865.

COMMON CHAIRS of all kinds, Cane Flag and Wood Seats; Dining, Bartion at McCARTY'S Ware-Rooms, May 17, 1866,-tf.

Dressing for Church.

Has any body heard the bell? You have ?- dear me, I know full well! I'll never dress in time-For mercy's sake, come help me, Luce, I'll make my toilet very spruce-This silk is quite sublime!

Here lace this gaiter for me-do! "A hole!" you say ! plague take the shoe! Please Lucy try and hide it-Just think, it's Sunday, and my soul, I can not wear it with a hole! The men will surely spy it.

They're always peeping at our feet, (Tho' to be sure, they needn't peep, The way we hold our dresses:) I'll disappoint them, though, to-day! "And cross myself." Ah, did you siv ! Don't laugh at my distresses!

How splendidly the silk will rustle," (Please hand my "self-adjusting bustle," My corset and my hoop;) There, now, I'll take five skirts or six-Do hurry, Luce, and help me fix,

You know I can not stoop! As if girls went to church to pray! How can you be so foolish? Here damp this ribbon in colonge; "What for !" to paint, you silly one-Now, Lucy, don't be mulish.

Now then, my hat-how he abhors This thing-it's big as all out doors-The kightful sugar scoop! Thank heaven, my cloak is handsome, too, It cost enough to be, I know-(Straighten this horrid hoop!) (Does my dress trail !) [May 17, 1866.-tf. It's all the fashion now, you know; (Pray, does the paint and powder show Through my loose veil !) The saints be praised! the day of rest Comes only once in seven,

This trouble I should have to fix

I'd never get to heaven!

A Slight Mistake. possessor of the shining orbs leave the boy's perverseness of temper. tleman to tell the rest in his own way: his mother.

to the bonds of custom."

her face toward me. My heart swelled horse."

"Are you a pedlar?" she said.

"Well, I don't know," continued she, mouthful of supper." not very bashfully, and eyeing me very peddler who passed off a pewter half dol eat. lar on me three weeks ago, and so I degood for nothing rascal after all."

The Mischief of Passion.

"Will putting one's self in a passion mend the matter?" said an old man to a boy, who had picked up a stone to throw in play.

"Yes, it will mend the matter," said sale cheap for CASH, a fresh sup- the passionate boy, and quickly dashed the stone at the dog.

The animal thus enraged, sprang at the osene Oil, Perfumery and Fancy Goods; boy, and bit his leg; while the stone bounded against a shop-window, and broke his hands were busy with his knife and returned Mrs. Burton, as gently as she

Out ran the shop-keeper, and seized finely, indeed !

It never did, and it never will, mend a matter to get into a passion about it. If the thing be hard to bear when you are "Keep your feet still?" caused this to tone so unlike his mother, that the child calm, it will be harder when you are in only increase it by losing your temper. Try to be calm, especially in trifling troubles, and, when great ones ceme, try to bear them bravely.

If 20 grains make a scruple, how many will make a doubt? If 7 days make one words rewarded his feat. week, how many will make one strong? If 5 yards make a pole how many will gain, you incorrigible, bad boy, not to pour ed a true victory over the perverse tenmake a Turk? If three miles make a the whole of your tea into your saucer? dencies of both her own heart and that of "but this is too little!" league, how many will make a confedera- Just see what a mess you have made with her boy. It was a little act, but it was @ Roofing, Spouting and Repairing cy? If four quaters make a yard, how ma- that clean table cloth? I declare I am the first fruits, and the gathering, even of > other the other day. Finally, one of but in grief. He had spilled his tea by ry never once interrupted the conversa- enterest the world weeping, while all friends. them exclaimed. "Well there's one thing accident. His mother had so many re- tion that passed at intervals between his around smile; contrive so to live, that you ly rejoined the first, "it is an impossibility a time, he had no recollection of any in- essary to correct some little fault in manto put a bogshead into a barrel."

Speak Gently.

"I am entirely at a loss to know what face and in an anxious tone of voice. " ] never yield to his imperious temper; I never indulge him in anything; I think about him, and care about him at all times, but see no good results.

While Mrs. Burton was speaking, a bright active boy, eight years of age came dashing into the room, and, without heeding any one, commenced beating with two large sticks against one of the window-sills and making a deafening noise.

"Incorrigible boy!" exclaimed his mother, going quickly up to him, and jerking the sticks out of his hand, "can I teach you neither manners nor decency? I have told you a hundred times that when you come into a room where any one is sitting you must be quiet. Get up stairs this for an hour!"

The boy became sulky in an instant, and stood where he was, pouting sadly. "Did you hear what I said, get up stairs this moment!"

Mrs. Burton spoke in a very angry tone, and looked up quite as angry as she Slowly moved the boy toward the door, a scowl darkening his face, that was but a moment before so bright and cheerful. His steps were too deliberate for the overexcite feeling of the mother; she sprang door loudly after him.

"I declare I am out of all heart!" she exclaimed sinking down upon a chair. - plainly enough that it was not all the and feel completely at a loss." A capital story is told of a young fel. and her peculiar sensitiveness about ev. manage him far better than you do." low who one Sunday strolled into a vil. erything that looked like charging any electrified and gratified by the sparkling harm than good would result from an at. her self-esteem was severely wounded. of a pair of eyes which were riveted upon tempt on his part to show her that she church alone, and emboldened by her Once or twice the little fellow showed voice." glances, he ventured to follow her, his himself at the door but was driven back heart aching with rapture. He saw her with harsh words until the hour for tea look behind, and fancied she evinced some arrived. The sound of the tea bell caus. calculated to keep up the excitement unemotion at recognizing him. He then ed an instant oblivion of all the disagree. der which she was laboring, her feelings, quickened his pace, and she actually slack. able impressions made on his mind. His in a little while, quieted down, and her ened hers, as if to let him come up with little feet answered the welcome summons thoughts became active. The words, her-but we will permit the young gen- with a clatter that stunned the ears of "speak gently," were constantly in her

"Her artless and warm heart is superior he burst open the dining-room door, and could not to sleep for several hours; her I had reached within a stone's throw against the wall, " and see if you cannot her conduct toward her child. She clearof her. She suddenly halted and turned walk down stairs more like a boy than a to bursting. I reached the spot where Master Henry withdrew, pouting out and that she was often annoyed at trishe stood ; she began to speak, and I took his rosy lips to the distance of nearly an fles which ought to have been overlooked. off my hat as if doing reverence to an an inch. He went up one flight of stairs, and then returned.

"No, my dear girl, that is not my oc. first started from, and come down quietly

Harness, Whips, Trunks, Valices, Car- termined, to keep an eye on you. Broth- rience had taught him might be execu- stantly disturbed the even surface of the er John has come home now, and says if ted, and so he deemed it better to submit mother's feelings. She was about telling he catches the fellow he'll wring his neck than pay too dearly for having his own him, angrily, to be quiet until she could Carriage Trimming promptly attended for him; and I ain't sure but you're the way. The distance to the third story was finish dressing herself, when the words, made in a few light springs, and then he "speak gently," seemed whispered in her came pattering down as lightly, and took ear. Their effect was magical; the mothhis place at the table, quietly, but silently. er's spirits was subdued.

plenty to eat, and time enough to eat in." and went into Harry, who was still crying Harry settled himself down to the table out fretfully. Wholesale and Retail Druggist. at a dog. The dog only barked at him let him, and tried to wait until he was in a quiet, kind voice. basket. A look from his mother caused of his face was changed in an instant. him to drop the slice he had raised; it "I cannot find my stockings, mamma," was not a look in which there was much he said. affection. While waiting to be helped "There they are, under the bureau," > fork, making a most unpleasant clatter. had at first spoken. the boy, and made him pay for the bro- ken, remedied this evil, or rather sent the plied Harry: "I could not see them anyken pane. He had mended the matter, active movement from the little fellow's where." hands to his feet, that commenced a swing. "Did you think crying would bring for them that hurt me." ing motion, his heels striking noisily them?"

If you have met with a loss, you will boy was left to himself. As soon as he mingled with pleasure. received his cup of tea he poured the entire contents into the saucer, and then asked. tried to lift it steadily to his lips. In do- "No mamma," he replied cheerfully, ing so he spilled one-third of the contents " I can dress myself." upon the table cloth from the table this instant!"

terdiction on that subject, although it ner, but the way in which she did it did ed when they are fresh.

often. In a little while he came creeping slowly back and resumed his place at the her words, as had almost always been the table, his eyes on his mother's face. Mrs. case, he regarded all that was said, and to do with that boy," said Mrs. Burton Burton was sorry that she had sent him tried to do all she wished. away from what was an accident; she felt that she had hardly been just to the words," remarked Mr. Burton to his wife, mind of those who navigate this lake, for thoughtless boy. She did not; therefore, after Harry had left the table. object to his coming back, and said, as he took his seat, "Next time see that you surprises me." are more careful. I have told you again and again not to fill your saucer to the brim; you never can do it without spilling the tea upon the table-cloth."

This was not spoken in kindness. A scene somewhat similar to this was enacted at every meal; but instead of improving in his behavior the boy grew more and more heedless. Mr. Burton rarely said anything to Harry about his unruly manner, but when he did, a word was enough. That word was always mildly yet firmly spoken. He did not moment, and do not let me see your face think him a bad boy or difficult to manage-at lest he had never found him so. "I wish I knew what to do with that child," said Mrs. Burton, after the little yourself, and speak gently." fellow had been sent to bed an hour before his time, in consequence of some violation of law and order; "he makes me constantly feel unhappy. I dislike to be scolding him forever, but what can I do? If I did not curb him in some way there would be no living in the house with him. I am afraid he will cause us a great deal

Mr. Burton was silent. * He wanted to toward him, and seizing him by the arm, say a word on the subject, but he feared pushed him from the room and closed the that its effect might not be what he de-

"I wish you would advise me what to do, Mr. Burton," said his wife, a little "It is line upon line and precept upon petulantly. "You sit, and do not say a precept, but all to no good purpose. - single word, as if you had no kind of interest in the matter. What am I to do? Mr. Burton said nothing, but he saw I have exhausted all my own resources child's fault. He doubted the use of "There is a way, which, if you would speaking out and saying this unequivo- adopt it, I think might do good." Mr. cally, although he had often and often Burton spoke with a slight appearance of been on the point of doing so involuntarily, hesitation. "If you would speak gently He knew the temper of his wife so well, to Harry, I am sure you would be able to

Mrs. Burton's face was crimsoned in lage church, and during the services was fault upon herself that he feared more an instant; she felt the reproof deeply; "Speak gently, indeed!" she replied. his face. After the service he saw the was much more than half to blame for the "I might as well speak to the wind; I am scarcely heard now at the top of my

As her husband did not argue the matter with her, nor say anything that was mind, and there was a reproving import "Noble young creature !" thought I .- | "Go back, sir!" she said, sternly, as in them. On going to bed that night she sent it swinning with a loud concussion mind was too busily engaged in reviewing ly perceived that she too frequently suffered her mind to get excited and angry,

"I am afraid I have been unjust to my child," she sighed over and over again, "Go up to the third story where you turning restlessly upon her pillow.

"I will try and do better," she said to all the way, or you shall not have a herself as she rose in the morning, feeling but little refreshed from sleep. Before "I do not want to," whined the boy. she was ready to leave her room she heard "Go up, I tell you, this instant, or I Harry's voice calling her from the next the meeting-house that you looked like a will send you to bed without anything to chamber where he slept. The tones were fretful; he wanted some attendance, and This was a threat which former expe- was crying out for it in a manner that in-

"There-there, not too fast; you have "I will speak gently," she murmured, as quietly as his mercurial spirits would "What do you want, my son," she said helped, but in spite of all his efforts to do The boy looked up with surprise; his

so, his hand went over into the bread- eye brightened, and the whole expression

"Put down your hands!" harshly spo- "Oh yes, so they are!" cheerfully re-looked up again into her face with sur-After one or two more reproofs, the prise that was, Mrs. Burton plainly saw, "Do you want anything else?" she

This first little effort was crowned with A box on the ears and a storm of angry the most encouraging results to the moth-" Have I not told you over and over a bosom, the consciousness of having gainout of all patience with you? Go away so small a harvest, was sweet to her spirit.

Flag and Wood Seats; Dining, BarRoom and Office Chairs, with or without Cushions, Rocking-Chairs, with or without tion at McCappage of every descrip-

had been made over and over again very | not in the least disturb her child's temper, and instead of not seeming to hear

" Love is strong." by; during all this time the mother con-continued to strive very earnestly with warm summer's day there would not be herself, and very kindly with her child. the slighest difficulty in going to sleep The happiest results followed; the fretful, upon the lake, and allowing yourself to passionate, disorderly boy became even- be blown about as the wind permitted; minded and orderly in his habits. A only one would need an umbrella to keep word gently spoken, was all powerful in off the rays of the sun. its influence for good, but the least shade It has been stated that three buckets will and deform his fair young face. Whenever mothers complain to Mrs. hold above twenty-five per cent. of saline Burton of the difficulty they find in man- matter in solution, and if more be added aging their children, she has one piece of it is instantly deposited upon the bottom, advice to give, and that is, "command this estimate is, of course, too large. On

Western Simplicity.

Western simplicity-not greenness, but abtained one bucket of salt, which gives genuine candor of character-is to be the proportion as no less than twenty per seen in the following incident furnished cent. No visitor to the lake should omit some time since by a Western correspon- the bath; the sensation in the water is sound of church-going bells had never to the city it will be as well for the bathbeen heard; notice was given that the er to stop at the superb sulpher baths just byterian divine, should preach on a cer- incrustations which will have formed up-

The natives, who consisted mainly of ming bath, whose only objection is its pethose hardy pioneers who have preceded | culiar order and its great heat, which recivilization, came to hear him. They had quires a large admixture of cold water. an indistinct idea that "preachin" was something to be heard, and attended to

After service had begun, a raw bound hunter with rifle in hand, and all the accoutrements of the chase about him, entered and took the only vacant seat-a nail keg without either head. The current of the preacher's thoughts led him into a description of heaven and its in-

With great power he had drawn a picture of the habitation of the blessed, and was assigning each of the patriarchs, apostles and prophets, his appropriate place .-His Calvanistic tendencies led him to reserves the Apostle Paul for the climacteric. With his eye fixed upon the highest point, and with an upward gesture that seemed to be directed to the loftiest altitude of the heavenly places, he said : "And where, my brethern, shall we seat the great Apostle Paul?" Then pausing to give the imagination time to reach the elevation designed for the Apostle, he fixed his eyes upon our hero of the rifle, He, rose therefore thinking the address personal, rose instantly, and then replied: "If he can't do any better he can take

It is needless to say that this climax was never reached.

Drinking for Solace or Comfort.

This is the most dangerous of all the motives by which the moderate drinker is influenced. It is absolutely false; and acting at a time when most likely to deceive, the young man or the middle-aged, thinking that excitement is a release from has once formed the habit to drink for attributes of manhood. solace, or cheerfulness, or comfort. While the world goes well they will likely be and affectionate sisters," we once heard a temperate; but the habit is built, the lady of much observation and experience railroad to destruction is cut ready for use, the rails are laid down, the station houses erected, and the train is on the line waiting only for the locomotive; it go in a moment, down the line we have every word." been years constructing, like a flash of lightning, to destruction."-Nation.

Love Your Enemies. Some years since a clergymen in Litchfield county was reproving an old Indian for his cruel and revengeful conduct towords them that had offended him .-"You should love your enemies," observ- warped and false philosopher has reasoned the parson, "and preserve an affection | ed into expediency, and even weep for the

for those that hurt you." "I do love my enemies," retorted the son of nature, "and have a great affection

"No such thing," retorted the clergyman, "you don't love your enemies."

"Who are the enemies you love?"

"Rum and eider !"

Beautiful Sentiment.

For the first time in many months the ties un infant, he utters the following quiet virtues of life, the Christian tem-Two young fellows got to bantering each Harry went crying away, not in anger, breakfast table was pleasant to all. Har- beautiful sentiment : "Little babe, thou per, the good qualities of relatives and Opportunities like eggs must be hatch-

Water will not Drown.

All travelers, writes a correspondent. have mentioned with astonishment the peculiar buoyancy of the water of Great Salt Lake, and it is truly surprising. No "There is a wonderful power in gentle danger of shipwreck need ever cross the it would be simply impossible for them "Yes, wonderful indeed; their effect to sink if thrown overboard. With my hands elasped together under my head, and my feet crossed, I floated lon the Days, weeks, months and years went very surface of the lake with at least one-of harshness would arouse his stubborn of this water will yield one buckets of solid salt, but inasmuch as water will not inquiring of the Mormons engaged in procuring salt, they unanimously stated that for every five buckets of water they most luxurious, and leads one to think In a wild Western neighborhood the himself floating in air. On the way back -, a distinguished Pres- out-side the town, and remove the saline on him, by a plunge into the fine swim-

Learn All You Can. Never omit any opportunity to learn all you can. Sir Walter Scott said that, even in a stage coach, he always found somebody who could tell him something he did not known before. Conversation is frequently more useful than books for purposes of knowledge. It is, therefore, mistake to be morose and silent among persons whom you think to be ignorant ; for a little sociability on your part will draw them out, and they will be able to teach you something, no matter how ordinary their employment. Indeed, some of the most sagacious remarks are made by persons of this description, respecting their particular pursuit. Hugh Miller, the Scotch geologist, owes not a little of his fame to observations made when he' was journeyman stone mason and working in a quarry .-Socrates well said that there was but one good, which is knowledge, and one evil, which is ignorance. Every grain of sand goes to make the heap. A gold-digger takes the smallest nuggets, and is not fool enough to throw them away because he hopes to find a huge lump some time.

So in acquiring knowledge; we should never despise an opportunity, however unpromising. If there is a moment's leisure, spend it over good or instructive conversation with the first you meet.

A Sister.

He who has never known a sister's kind ministration, nor felt his heart warming beneath her endearing smile and lovebeaming eye, has been unfortunate incare and sorrow, renew their potations to deed. It is not to be wondered if the increase the effects and are lost before fountains of pure feeling flow in his bothey dream of danger. Charles Reade som but sluggishly, or if the gentler emosays, "No man or no woman is safe who tions of his nature be lost in the sterner

> "That man has grown up among kind "And why do you think so?" said we.

"Because of the rich development of all the tenderer and more refined feelings comes to us; it grapples us, and away we of the heart, which are so apparent in

A sister's influence is felt even in manhood's later years; and the heart of him who has grown cold in his chilling contact with the world, will warm and thrill with pure enjoyment, as some incident awakes within him the soft tons and glad melodies of his sister's voice. And he will turn from his purposes, which a gentler influences which moved him in his earlier years.

Silent Influence.

The Rev. Albert Barnes says: "It is the bubbling stream that flows gently; the little rivulet which runs along day and night by the farm house, that is useful, rather than the swollen flood or warring cataract. Niagara excites our wond A Constable was stationed at the door | er and we stand amazed at the power and of the hustings to prevent the crowd from | greatness of God there; as he pours in forcing their way among the candidates. from the hollow of his hand. But one A gentleman came up to him, and put- Niagara is enough for the continent of ting a shilling into his hand, said, with an | the world, while the same world requires attempt to put off the smallness of the thousands and tens of thousands of silver er; she felt a deep peace settling in her donation, "I take it for granted there is fountains and gently flowing rivulets that a little corruption here." "Yes sir," water every farm and meadow, and every said the constable, looking at the shilling, garden, and shall flow on every day and night with their gentle, quiet beauty .-So with the acts of our lives. It is not by great deeds, like those of the martyrs, When the Hindoo priest is about to bap- good is to be done, but by the daily and

> A Prussian Soldier receives six cents daily-but after the first of January, is to receive seven cents. Heavy wages.

Read the newspapers.