

The Jeffersonian

THURSDAY, MAY 16, 1867.

We this week commence sending bills to those of our subscribers who are in arrears, and hope to receive a speedy and encouraging response from each one.

Show me a man of sour, morose disposition, one who entertains good will towards none, and I will show you a dyspeptic. Dyspepsia is the bluest of all diseases. Rev. Mr. Aiken testifies that Coe's Dyspepsia cured him after 15 years suffering.

The Easton National Bank (old Easton), and the First National Bank of Easton (Farmers & Mechanics), have each declared semi-annual dividends; the former 6 per cent., payable on demand, and the latter five per cent., payable on and after to-morrow, the 17th.

A visit to the Depot a few days since revealed the fact that East Stroudsburg was rapidly growing into the proportions of a good sized town. Quite a number of new buildings have been put up within the last year, and we observed five new dwellings in course of erection. Mention was made of others yet to be built.

Wm. S. Kirpatrick, Esq., of Easton, has been appointed Assessor of the Fourth District of this State, under the act of Assembly passed at their last session, taxing the shares or stock of the National Banks. The District is composed of the counties of Northampton, Lehigh, Carbon, Pike, Monroe and Bucks.

Those of our readers who need anything in the way of Cosmetics or Toilet articles, would do well to patronize the firm of Berger, Shutts & Co., Troy, N. Y. They are the only Agents in America for many of the most valuable French and English Toilet Articles and Preparations that are used by the Beauties of the Old World, to beautify and make attractive their person.

See their advertisement in another column.

What lady would wear false hair or curls, when, by an outlay of One Dollar, she can procure an article that will cause her hair to curl in wavy ringlets, or heavy, massive curls?

It does not injure the hair, but on the contrary, renders it soft, glossy and healthy. It is equally efficacious in curling the hair of the opposite sex. Messrs. Berger, Shutts & Co., Chemists, of Troy, N. Y., are agents for the same.

See their Card in another column.

Jeff. Davis at Large. Jeff. Davis was taken from Fortress Monroe to Richmond, on Saturday last, in order to have him in readiness to be given up in answer to the Writ of Habeas Corpus on Monday. On Monday, Davis was brought before Judge Underwood and released from military custody, when he was immediately arrested under an indictment for treason. He was then, at the solicitation of Counsel, as the Government was not ready for trial, released on bail, and is now at large. Horace Greely is one of the eighteen who went upon his bond. The amount of bail required was $100,000.

Enlarged. We have neglected for several weeks, without exactly knowing the reason why, to notice the enlargement of the Scranton Republican, decidedly, for a year past, the best paper published in North-eastern Pennsylvania. The Republican is now a forty column paper; is the largest paper in the State north of the Bucks county line; and with the ability of Lieut. Eddy, added to that of friend Crandall, possesses an editorial strength, exceeded by no other paper in the State. We are pleased to see this evidence of its appreciation and support, in the dark region of copperish Luzerne. It argues that light is preparing to dawn upon that quarter.

The Flood. We have heard of no special damage to private property, in this neighborhood, by the flood last week. The Del., Lack & Western Railroad was injured at several points along its whole length. The most serious injury to the road in this neighborhood, was the washing away of the embankment surrounding the trestle work, this side of Bell's Bridge, which prevented the passage of trains for several days. Coal and freight trains stopped running until the damage was repaired, but by changing passengers, the passenger trains were kept on their usual time.

The flood in the Delaware river was very severe on lumbermen. Thousands of dollars were lost, in the carrying away of logs and sawed lumber.

The business portion of the town of Cambridge, Ill., was destroyed by fire on Sunday. Loss $100,000; insurance $25,000.

Caterpillars. A correspondent in noticing the destruction of caterpillars, says:— "I would not advise your plan of ascending the trees with hands in leather mittens. A better plan is to tie a swab, or bit of cloth, on a pole of suitable length. Fasten it well on with small nails or brads. Then wet it with kerosene oil or spirits of turpentine and apply it to the web. Twist or turn the pole, and you will find no difficulty in collecting the web and the worms on the swab. Wet, occasionally, with the oil. Try the experiment of bringing one of the worms thus treated to life, and the result will prove entirely satisfactory."

Ex-Gov. Joseph A. Wright, U. S. Minister to Prussia, died at Berlin, the capital of that kingdom, on the 11th inst. Gov. Wright was a native of Pennsylvania. When quite a young man he emigrated to Indiana, of which State he held the office of Governor from 1849 to 1857, when he was appointed Minister to the Court of Berlin, by Mr. Buchanan. In 1861 he returned to this country, and acting with the War Democrats, was, in 1862, elected to the U. S. Senate in place of Jesse D. Bright, where he served one session. In 1863 President Lincoln appointed him U. S. Commissioner to the Hamburg exhibition. In 1865 he was appointed, by President Johnson, Minister to Prussia, and continued to fill the position up to the time of his death.

Skillfully Done. A few days ago we witnessed an operation performed by Dr. Up De Graff, upon the eyelids of Henry Strunk, of Smithfield, for the removal of "Granular Conjunctiva," of which there were some twelve or fourteen pellets on the lids. The operation was most skillfully done, showing the Doctor to be a master surgeon.—The relief was instantaneous. The patient had been a sufferer for six years.—We yesterday saw a letter from James Hineine, of Smithfield, which speaks of two patients of the Doctor's, who reside in his neighborhood, both of whom are doing well.—Mrs. Catherine Hineine who had a Cancer removed, and George C. Tompkins who was treated for Rheumatism. One application of the Doctor's remedy enabled Mr. Tompkins to walk across the room without the use of his cane, a feat which he had not performed before in five years.

By request the Doctor will remain till the 31st of May.

Southern Famine Relief Fund. The Executive Committee on Collections, and the Committee on Distribution connected with the Southern Famine Relief Fund Association of Philadelphia, having resolved to organize Auxiliary Associations in the interior counties of Pennsylvania, and the counties of New Jersey and Delaware, contiguous to Philadelphia, for the purpose of furthering the noble object of their appointment, have appointed Samuel S. Dreher, John N. Stokes, Robert R. Dupuy, Dr. A. Reeves Jackson, Richard Staples, David Keller and Theodore Schoch, a committee to act in the organization of an association for Monroe county. We hope the committee will act promptly and that our citizens will contribute liberally for the relief of the suffering thousands of the South.

THE HISTORY OF THE SECRET SERVICE DURING THE REBELLION. By General L. C. Baker, late Provost Marshal and Chief Detective of the War Department. Jones Brothers & Co., Philadelphia, Pa., Cincinnati, Ohio, and Davenport, Iowa.

It is a well-known fact, both North and South, that the Secret Service of the United States War Department was conducted with consummate skill and marked ability. How so many elaborate and well laid plans against the Government were frustrated, puzzled and mortified the South, while it delighted and mystified the North. Now the curiosity of both parties is gratified by the publication of a full history of the Secret Service Bureau, from the pen of no less an individual than its persevering and indomitable chief himself. In these pages General Baker gives a full account of his official career, and a most wonderful and exciting career it was. He throws a flood of light upon many dark episodes of the late war; his review of the great conspiracy is particularly full and lucid, revealing many interesting and startling facts not hitherto made public. The revelations of official life in Washington are remarkably entertaining, and will produce an excitement in the first circles of our National Capital. An air of romance and mystery pervades the entire work, and strange as some portions of this narrative seem, they are all strictly true, being vouched for by high military and civil authorities. The book has been gotten up in very handsome and durable style, well printed on fine white paper, and embellished with seventeen artistic illustrations, among them a capital portrait of General Baker himself, and a picture of the last resting place of the mortal remains of John Wilkes Booth. Sold only by subscription, through the publisher's authorized agents.

Post Office Envelopes. Business men are quite familiar with the printed endorsement on the envelopes of business letters; requesting the post-ter, if the letter is not called for in ten days, to return it. A Schenectady merchant has got up an improvement on this, which runs as follows: "If Mr. _____ don't pay the bill in this dunning letter within ten days, the postmaster may open this and send us the money himself."

[The following communication was received publication in the Monroe Democrat, by the very gentlemanly editor of that impartial journal, because of its alleged "stabs" at himself and particular friends, who have been heaping upon us the meekest slang in two of the most uncalled for and undignified communications, we think we over read. For such literature this doubly-refined editor had abundance of room, but none for us in reply to their baseness. It is easy for some persons to strain at a gnat and swallow a camel; and the elegant editor alluded to, is one of them—if we may be allowed to judge.]

Mr. Editor:—We have with no small degree of mingled mirth and indignation, read the insane, scurrilous, ungentlemanly and cowardly onslaught made upon our offending head, through the columns of the Democrat, over the signature of "Smithfield;" and that exceedingly gentlemanly author may repose in peace after his exhaustive effort, with his hard-earned laurels encircling his brow, in his secret hiding place behind the beautiful and romantic hills of Smithfield, and hurl his maladictions, his personal denunciations, his wild-be-missed-of-death and destruction, his low bar-room slang and his unmanly and inurbane epithets, until those everlasting hills, behind which he has so cautiously, judiciously and cowardly concealed himself, shall be consumed with fervent heat; or, at least, until he can learn to apply a remedy that is not worse than the disease.

We have no disposition to follow his dirty trail, and search out his secret hiding place, fearing the game would not be worth the pursuit. Nor is it necessary to defend our political record, by "drawing lines; neither would we be allowed to do so, for when we asked the editor of the Monroe Democrat, if he had space in his columns for a reply, we were very politely informed, after a good deal of hesitation and stammering, that he had, providing we would use no personalities. Perhaps however, we will be permitted to say, that our political record is a plain one, and if "Smithfield" and those who assisted him in correcting that scurrilous article, and manifested so much interest in its production, should feel disposed to examine it, they will find that the conclusions of office have never seemed of sufficient importance, in our estimation, to induce us to barter our principles for a mess of pottage.

And now, Mr. "Smithfield"—the cow-powder man, not the cow-powder man of Allentown, but the cow-powder man of Stroudsburg, allow us to advise you to give your attention to correcting your infringements, and not hereafter attempt to correct what is notorious is utterly beyond your capacity; and as the fertile soil of Smithfield becomes more and more cultivated, each succeeding year, may you likewise cultivate your taste and learn to govern your passions, so that when you attempt to pull out the mote that is in our eye, you may also discover the beam that is in your own eye. Procure one of Ballou's latest editions of grammars, and make it rules the object of your study, so that when your feelings are hurt, and you think it necessary to flare up before the public with your low slang, that it may at least be clothed in correct language; or if it is your disposition to froth and foam, close up by saying, "do as I say and not as I have done;" and remember that example is more forcible than precept.

We have long since resolved to publish no article of which we are ashamed; hence none to which we cannot consistently attach our signature. We have never admired the Indian method of warfare, and do most certainly look upon that low, facetiously signed article, as entirely unworthy a reply. Smithfield, hug the consoling unctious to your bosom, that we have never asked for peace at the hands of any of the foul traducers you so ably represent. All we ask is, that you cease your "bush-wacking," and stand up before the public like a man (however small) in your own proper colors, however much befuddled they may be; and when you thus present yourself, all we demand of you is decency; and if this demand is too great for your capacity, then we have nothing more to do with you. For, however much a polecat or skunk may be whipped the victory is never a sufficient offset for the befoulment necessarily incurred. We are well aware that "Smithfield" is not the author of said article, but do not doubt that he acted as midwife at its birth. For these reasons, together with the fact that the communication in question is miserably ungrammatical, and grossly false, which clearly evince its origin to be low and illiterate, notwithstanding its silken dress, we must, with a due regard for self-respect, decline to notice in detail its items of indecency. D. S. LEE.

The Lehigh Register gives an account of a sad calamity which occurred at the Young Ladies' Seminary at Bethlehem, on Sunday evening a week ago, which resulted in the death of three of the servant girls connected with that institution, and the serious injury of several others. It appears that as the servants did not make their appearance as early as usual that morning, some one was sent to rouse them. Upon opening the door of their chamber it was found to be filled with the fumes of carbonic acid gas, and the occupants, six in number we believe, lay upon their beds in a state of insensibility. The alarm was at once given, and measures being taken to relieve the sufferers, it was discovered that two were already dead; and that another named Koull, whose parents live at Rittersville, Lehigh county, had inhaled so much of the poison that her recovery was hopeless. Two others were with difficulty restored to consciousness, though it is believed that they will live. The cause of this terrible calamity was some defect in the heating apparatus of the room immediately below that occupied by the sleepers, the gas finding its way to their apartment through some opening in the floor.

Standard Weights. The recent Legislature fixed the following figures as the standardized weight in this State for the following named articles: Wheat, 60 pounds; rye, 56; shelled corn, 56; cob corn, 70; corn meal, 40; coarse salt, 70; ground salt, 62; fine salt, 47; barley, 47; oats, 52; buckwheat, 50; clover seed, 54; timothy seed, 54; turnips, 65; onions, 46; peas, 56; malt, 38; unslacked lime, 80; anthracite coal, 80; bituminous coal, 76; coke, 40; potatoes, 56; sweet potatoes, 54; flax seed, 56; bran, 20; beans, 56; dried apples, 25; peaches, 38. Our readers should preserve this as a matter of reference.

The jury in the case of George W. Winemore, who was tried last week in Philadelphia for the murder of Mrs. Dorcas Magilton, on Friday evening, brought in a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree. The prisoner's counsel, Messrs. Kilgore and Warriner, made a strong effort to secure his acquittal on the ground of insanity, but in this they were not successful. This makes two murderers now awaiting execution in Philadelphia, for crimes committed under very similar circumstances—the killing of old and defenceless women. Gottlieb Williams, the murderer of Mrs. Miller, is to be hung next month.

The wedding of Capt. Howard J. Reeder, with Miss Helen Burke, of Easton, on Tuesday evening the 7th of May, came off with great eclat. The bridesmaids were Miss Annie Hulick of Easton, Miss Maynard of Easton, Miss Eva Day of Philadelphia, and Miss Josephine Meissel of Easton. The groomsmen were Col. Frank Reeder, Mr. Grubb of Harrisburg, and Mr. Jackson and Mr. Dennis of Newark, N. J. The Rev. Mr. Elsegood, Rector of the Episcopal church, officiated. The wedding presents were unusually costly, and were estimated we hear, at $4,000.

18,581 acres of public lands were disposed of during a portion of March at the Booneville (Mo.) Office, 13,425 acres being taken for settlement under the Homestead law.

DR. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP.

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, the Proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable, when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption, and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful. Dr. SCHENCK makes professional visits to several of the larger cities weekly, where he has large concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months healthy, robust persons. Dr. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEEED TONIC, and MANDRAKE PILLS are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr. SCHENCK, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer his fee is three dollars.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health—are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers. Price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen.—Letters of advice should always be directed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th Street, Philadelphia, Pa. A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruddy complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of thirteen she really appeared but eighteen.—Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the CASSIAN BALSAM, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficiency in drawing impurities from, all so heating, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the service as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful.
