

Dr. A. Reeves Jackson returned home on Thursday last from the "Grand Holy Land Pleasure Excursion." He has been absent about 5 1/2 months.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Stroudsburg Bank, held at their Banking House, on Tuesday last, elected S. S. Dreher, President, and the Hon. Jeremy Mackey, Cashier of said Bank, in place of J. H. Stroud, resigned.

On Friday last Wild Pigeons passed over this place in a northerly direction. At Stoddardsville, Luzerne County, during the past week, the branches of trees for acres around were loaded down with them. They were feeding on the Beech Nuts.

Mr. Charles B. Keller, of this place, dealer in Boots and Shoes, informs us that he has, during the past week, added to his former stock some of the neatest Boots and Shoes ever brought to this market, which he is determined to sell at prices which must prove satisfactory to purchasers. Call and see for yourselves.

Like Magic.

The certainty and quickness with which Coe's Cough Balsam cures Coughs, Colds, Croup, and lung difficulties. Give to the children when attacked with Coughs and Colds, and rest assured you will find relief at once. Physicians say it is the best cough medicine in the world.

Real Estate Sales.

Mr. Lewis A. Beckley, sold two building lots in East Stroudsburg, near the Depot, on Thursday last, to Sydney Down and Jacob Weller, of Stroudsburg, for $310.

A. M. Jones, of East Stroudsburg, sold his hotel, "Anatomical House," to Jacob Mansfield and Sydenham Hohenschildt, for $4175.

George I. Walker, bought Philip Swartz's Mills and sold them to Henry Stewart, of Norristown, Pa. Mr. S. will tear down the mills and build a Cotton Factory.

Mr. Stewart also purchased, through Mr. Walker, a farm of 87 acres, 1/4 mile from town, (Nungesser's) for $3,500.

Decidedly Suspicious.

On Friday evening last, about 8 o'clock, two strangers called at the store of Joseph A. Bossard, Boersderville, in this County, and enquired for a Hotel. Mr. B. directed them where to find one, when the strangers drove to the shed of the Hotel, at the same time two gentlemen, who had been on business in Stroudsburg, stopped at the Hotel. The two strangers immediately disappeared, leaving the horse and buggy. On examining the wagon, Mr. Melchior Bossard found it to contain a trunk, satchel, on which was pasted the card of J. R. Bunnell, proprietor of the "Union Stage House," Port Jervis, N. Y., a pillow-case containing three roasted chickens, a flask and bottle, an iron kettle and a coffee pot, buffalo-robe, one leather and one rope halter, a pair of lines, two pair of boots and an over coat. In the coat pocket was a letter, mailed in New York, and addressed Wm. Warren Rossman, signed Mother Rossman.

Operto Grape Culture.

This country is becoming noted for the enterprise of wine growers. New Jersey particularly, where the celebrated Port Grape Wine is made purely from the grape juice. The following letter from an eminent physician who lives in sight of Spear's vineyard, will be of interest to our readers:

PASSAIC, Oct. 20th, 1865.

I hereby certify that Mr. A. Spear of this village has a large vineyard of choice grape vines, which are looking very fine. He also purchases a great many grapes, not as yet producing as many himself as is required to keep his stock of wine full. He has the Port Grape, the wine of which is held in high estimation and of which he has a large quantity on hand lying in his cellars, requiring age before he disposes of it.

R. A. TERHUNE, M. D.

The above wine can be procured of my druggists.

County Institute.

Notice is given that the teachers attending the County Institute will be boarded at private houses free of charge. Some of the landlords have kindly consented to board teachers on the above occasion, at half price. The time spent by teachers at the institute will be allowed to them as so many days spent in teaching, or in the district institute. Among the educators and teachers expected to be present are, Hon. J. P. Wickersham, State Superintendent; C. W. Deans, Esq., principal of the Soldiers' Orphans School of Susquehanna; E. S. Decker, Esq., Co. Superintendent of Pike; W. Walker, Esq., Co. Superintendent of Northampton; Samuel Alsop, principal of Greenwood Academy; Miss Malven and W. Frutchey, Esq., of Stroudsburg. Teachers absenting themselves will be punished with loss of certificates.

Gift Enterprises, Lotteries, &c.

Oil stock humbugs, villains and scoundrels, have had their day and, like Cain of old, can be seen and known of all men by marks of gilded booty. But in their stead suddenly rises up another set of swindlers, who, as the oil stock dealers did, are wrenching from the purses of poor work girls, avaricious youths, and innocent fools, the money which they have earned in the sweat of their brow, and which is required for their own honest support. If we did not know what we do about the dupes of the Gift Enterprises, we should be loth to believe it possible that so many persons of ordinary common sense can so easily be swindled out of their money. On inquiry at the Express Office and Post Office at this place, we have learned that thousands of dollars have been sent to these robbing concerns. On last Monday morning while in the Express Office inquiring into the matter, an honest man from Smithfield township came into the office to express to Andrews & Co. for different parties $97.20. We advised him to not send it, but he persisted, and it was sent. The most noted of these concerns which are most liberally patronized by this community are—

- Clark, Webster & Co., Andrews & Co., Hadly & Pierce, Stoddard, Maguire & Co., Aarrandale & Co., &c., &c.

All sensible persons should know that the managers of these foul enterprises are bent upon making money. That is their sole object. They have the whole management of them in their own hands, and what sane person can doubt that they will so arrange them as to make them profitable to themselves. They make their money out of their customers; their customers are not allowed to make money out of them, as that would defeat their special object. They will occasionally allow some individual in a neighborhood to draw a small prize, but they make the neighbors of said individual more than ten times pay for it. All these institutions are more or less alike; you can't touch them without being bitten. We would make this matter so plain that the wayfaring man though a fool might not err therein; but we have no hope of doing so, for there are so many who will only learn wisdom by their own folly. And to all such we say—"Go in," and come out, fully apprised of the fact, that a fool and his money are soon parted.

The opening of Congress on Thursday last is thus described by the Washington correspondent of the Press:

There never was a more agreeable opening of Congress. The Senate opened and adjourned till Monday, and the House after a long debate of three hours on the admission of the members from Tennessee, followed suit. There was a very genial greeting of the members, and a good deal of gossip and good humor. Old Ben Wade looked as bright as a new dollar, and seemed full of good nature. Mr. Sumner was as calm and serene as if he had not been the object of cruel calumny. Mr. Fessenden was chatty and easy. Governor Morton, of Indiana, looked much indisposed, and General Nyce, in deep mourning for the sudden death of his accomplished wife, looked the grief he felt. Connors, of California and Corbett, of Oregon, has just got in from the Pacific. Reverdy Johnson, of Maryland, moved about as actively as usual, not having lost the use of his eyesight, as reported. John Sherman, cool and quiet, and Senator Morrill, of Vermont, pleasant and jocular, seemed to feel better for their European trip. The Democrats were not present in force in the Senate, though Garret Davis was on the qui vive, evidently as happy as Jeff. Davis himself over the late elections. In the House there was plenty of "noise and confusion," but a fine display of good humor. Mr. Stevens was the object of general attention, but was too feeble to take much part in the proceedings. The Presidential talk is all in favor of Grant. Many who had doubted on the subject doubt no more. The New England feeling was as strong as that of the West, and the West as strong as that of the South. Indeed, it looked like acclamation.

Mr. Boutwell, at 2:40 P. M. on Monday last, presented the majority report of the Judiciary committee, recommending the impeachment of President Johnson. It is signed by Messrs. Boutwell, Thomas, Williams, Lawrence, and Churchill.

Big Turnips.

We thought when we published the weight of the flat top turnip last week that it could not be beaten. We have since received one from Dr. S. A. French of Lisle that measures 32 inches in circumference, and that weighed when fresh ten pounds.—Whitneys (N. Y.) Gazette. We have beaten this in Scranton. Mr. W. H. Freeman brought over from his farm the Fifth ward yesterday, a flat field turnip measuring thirty-seven inches in circumference, and weighing thirteen and a quarter pounds. This monster turnip was weighed and measured in our presence. Can any one beat it in New York or Pennsylvania? The Broome county farmers will have to plant earlier and in richer ground next time. Scranton claims the championship in the turnip line.—Scranton Daily Republican.

"Healing on its Wings," say all who have made use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and by such use been cured of coughs, colds, bronchitis, sore throat, influenza or consumption.—The prudent will always keep this standard remedy by them.

Payne, the Pedestrian.

HIS WALK TO THE PACIFIC OCEAN—AR RIVAL AT OUR CAPITAL—WHAT HE IS DOING, AND WHAT HE INTENDS TO DO. Special Despatch to the Inquirer.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 22.—Seth Wilbur Payne, the great European and American pedestrian, bound from New York to San Francisco, reached here this evening, at six o'clock, in a drizzling rain looking quite sprightly and in excellent spirits. He walked from Lebanon to Harrisburg to-day, from Reading to Lebanon yesterday, from Allentown to Reading on Wednesday, and from Easton to Allentown on Monday and Tuesday. He spent three days in Easton, leaving there on Monday. It was erroneously stated in New York, when he left that city, that it was his intention to walk from the Atlantic to the Pacific in one hundred and fifty days. He is desirous that this error should be corrected. He believes, however, that he can walk the distance in the time named, and since a general circulation and credence have been given to the report, he will make some effort to fulfill the public expectation.

He is also desirous that it should be distinctly understood that he is not "walking for wages," as would seem to be the general impression, but in his various trips thought Europe, and especially in his excursion through England and Scotland, a history of which he intends giving, in a book shortly to be issued from the press, he conceived the idea of walking from the Atlantic to the Pacific, not for the purpose of creating a sensation, but merely for personal information and satisfaction. When he shall reach the western terminus of the Pacific Railroad, he will make a proposal to any number of gentlemen who may be desirous of accompanying him over the Plains and the Rocky Mountains, but if his proposition is not responded to, he will go alone. His friends are already interfering with the government for the loan of arms and ammunition to his party, for the purpose of protecting them against the Indians, and their request will doubtless be granted, as it is to the interest of the government to protect her citizens crossing the wild Indian territory. He does not desire the protection of the United States troops.

When he shall have reached Utah he will spend some time with Brigham Young and the Mormons, for the purpose of gathering information for his own edification. After reaching the Pacific he will proceed north and pay an extended and observing visit to our newly purchased territory in Alaska, making the complete tour of the northwestern coast, returning on the sea by steam to New Orleans, from which place he will walk home to New York. Payne is pleasant and affable, and entertains all his friends who call to see him with interesting tales of his travels as a "poor student." He expects to make about twenty-two miles a day.

An example of the evil spirit that pervades many of the Northern Copperheads toward those who fought under the Union flag against the rebellion is contained in the following extract from the La Cross Democrat, said to be the most widely circulated Democratic paper in the country. Speaking of the proposed nomination of General Sherman as the Democratic candidate for President, it says:

"And such a candidate! Sherman—William Tecumseh Sherman—Vandal Sherman—Sherman of the torch and ax—Sherman, prince of a band of bummers, thieves, vagabonds, and ruffians—Sherman, whose 'March to the sea' have done damage to all eternity a legion of pirates and freebooters—Sherman, the lackey, tool, leftenant of the Sadgamon brother of the devil, the obscene, brutal, and boorish Lincoln—Sherman, whose hands are red with the blood of thousands of American freemen—Sherman, whose most glorious acts can be written in two words—'Atlanta' and 'Columbia!' This mushroom of civil war, blood-watered, rank with the corruption and wickedness engendered in the hellish crusade for the triumph of biggers—this thing a Democratic candidate for the honors which, as a party, we have conferred upon Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Van Buren, Pierce, and Buchanan? Proposed by a Kentuckian, from a Sovereignty thousands of whose sons rest in unhallowed graves, slain for the love of liberty by Sherman's minions! Great God! that a Democrat should so disgrace himself and humiliate that grand old party!"

Death of an aged Woman.

Mrs. Sally Atwood, formerly Macomber died at Taunton, on October 31, aged, 104 years and 2 months. She was probably born in Taunton, and had certainly lived there as long as the oldest inhabitant can remember, near Myrickville. She retained an unusual and unexampled degree of mental and physical vigor to the very end of her life. Her memory was quick and retentive, not only in relation to long past events, but to those of recent occurrence. She possessed great conversational powers, and was social and cheerful to an extraordinary degree. Within two years she had walked about as actively as a young woman; and to the very last day of her life was able to be up and dressed. The very morning of her death she rose as usual and dressed herself, but soon complained of a pain in her side, and at 8 o'clock she died. She had always enjoyed good health and had lived an industrious life. She had been a widow for at least half a century, but had no children. The Hon. Edward Paddock, of Savannah, Ga., was a nephew of Mrs. Atwood; and in her latter years had been her chief support.

Two thieves, says a Pittsburg paper, met a gentleman walking the streets late at night with a box under his arm, and understood to show him to a hotel. They relieved him of his box and ran off with it. The gentleman was a naturalist, and the box contained four rattlesnakes. Fancy the thieves' emotions when investigating their prize.

How it was Done.

The New York Citizen, edited by a Democrat, gives the following glance at the means whereby the vote was so swelled in New York City at the recent election:

It is notorious that the Tammany organization, utterly unscrupulous, and with uncontrolled access to the City Treasury, must have spent an aggregate of $300,000 of private and public money in the recent contest. All the pay rolls of the city departments for the past two months have been lengthened and strengthened by thousands upon thousands of sinecure inspectors and other place-holders—assigned to nominal duty, but really with no other charge than to electorner for the Tammany candidates. Apart from these sources of public or place holding corruption, we have reason to know, beyond any question, that the friends of one single Tammany candidate subscribed and paid out in his behalf, and for his private benefit, in the late contest, a sum more than four times the entire sum in the hands of the Democratic Union treasurer for the conduct and organization of our entire campaign.

It is notorious, also, that the enormous money power thus placed under its control, there was an enormous illegal or repeating vote organized and registered in the Tammany interest—say not less than from 17,000 to 20,000 fraudulent votes—of which not less than from 10,000 to 12,000 reached the ballot-box in favor of the Tammany candidates; the remainder being either scared off by the activity and early arrests by the police, or being unable, from sheer lack of time between sunrise and sunset, to vote in as many election districts as they were registered in—one case having been trustworthily reported to us of a man who was registered in no less than fifty-eight election districts! Holding these facts in view, let us now consider and review what was the fate of our candidates."

How to Deserve Success.

The things for every young man to strive for, if he be ambitious of pecuniary success in this world, is a speciality in his business. No matter what trade or profession he may choose, let him adopt some particular branch or department of it in which to render himself famous.—He may then render himself necessary to those who may employ his services, and thus receive his own price for that which he does particularly well. Without this special superiority, he comes in to competition with the great mediocrity, and must expect a mediocre compensation in return. The pleasant eminence of excellence, however, is not to be gained by wishing merely. It requires good hard work and plenty of it. The world does not pay people for being idle, nor for that which is idly done. There is labor to be done after they are learned, and the beginner should never flinch from it, for it is only by his own exertions that he can attain the speciality that is to bring him future honors, and future gold.

Tar as a Preventive of Yellow Fever.

The New Orleans Commercial Bulletin states that out of sixty workmen engaged in laying the Nicholson pavement, covering the wood blocks with tar, on St. Charles street, in that city, not one of them has been attacked with yellow fever. These workmen are almost continually employed amidst the fumes of tar.

Printers' Devils.

From wild, friendless boys in the streets are made what are called printers' devils, next they become printers, after that sometimes editors, in which capacity they not unfrequently make their mark in the nation and in the world. Dr. Franklin was a most eminent instance in the early days of our country, and Thurlow Weed, Horace Greeley, Simon Cameron, Hannibal Hamlin, General Dix, Schuyler Colfax, Gideon Welles, and many others, are striking examples at the present time.—Exchange.

Too Much Squirrel.

The Sacramento Bee asserts that in the Alameda and Santa Clara valleys the farmers have actually been driven by ground squirrels from some of their best lands; that their settlements, like that of the prairie-dog, extend for miles, each burrow sheltering from one to six inmates; and that it would hardly be an exaggeration to say that they eat one-fourth of the annual wheat crop.

Coal in Pike County.

Mr. A. G. Hull, of Bushkill, Pike County, Pa., being pretty well satisfied from geological indications, that coal could be found upon his property, commenced boring for that purpose a short time ago.—Penetrating through rock and slate for 120 feet, he struck a bed of coal five feet thick, specimens of which have been exhibited to us. It is the real article beyond a doubt, and it is believed that the deposit is sufficiently large to justify mining operations. Bushkill is near the Delaware River and not far from the Lackawanna and Wester Railroad.—Sussex Register.

Internal Revenue.

Washington, Nov. 23.—The total receipts from internal revenue for the week ending to-day were two millions one hundred and fourteen thousand dollars, and the total since the beginning of the present fiscal year (July 1), eighty-two millions.

To make a Candle Burn all Night.

We remember seeing, some years since in an agricultural work, now out of print, an article on "Economy in Candles," which may be new and useful to many of our readers. When, as in case of sickness, a dull light is wished, or when matches are mislaid, put finely powdered salt on the candle till it reaches the black part of the wick. In this way a mild and steady light may be kept through the night, by a small piece of candle.—Exchange.

The Healing Art.

The fact is that the art of curing, except in its mechanical branch, surgery, has made but little progress from the earliest times. The improvement which we see in it has consisted rather in the abandonment of old processes than in the discovery of new ones. There has been an immense change in medical practice within two hundred years, for instance; but, if examined minutely, it will be found that it is due mainly to doctors giving up remedies they once believed in rather than their devising new ones. There have been two or three remarkable and valuable discoveries, such as vaccination and quinine, but they have been the result of accident rather than research or experiment, and the tendency among all the best class of practitioners is in the direction of distrust of all "active treatment," as it is called. The older doctors grow—as everybody must have remarked—the less medicine they give; and the practitioners of our day do not give a pill where their predecessors in the last century gave a gallon. They are falling back, as if in despair about medicine, more and more on the plan of simply placing the patient in the most favorably natural conditions, giving him good food and drink and plenty of fresh air when he is weak, prescribing abstinence when he is overfed, exercise when he is jaded. For those, and they are unhappily the great bulk of mankind, by whom these remedies are unattainable, there is little hope in the medical art, except in a few acute diseases. In fact, the main value of physicians is now to be found in diagnosis—in plain English, in the ability to tell people what is the matter with them, or whether anything is the matter, and what to eat, drink, and avoid, and to raise the patient's morale and that of his friends.—Nation.

The election in North Carolina, under the Reconstruction law, for members of a Constitutional Convention, has resulted largely in favor of the Republicans.—There was quite a decided contest, both parties going into it with vigor. The colored vote, of course, was nearly all given for the Radical ticket, together with enough of the whites to constitute a handsome majority. Every Southern State, thus far, has accepted terms of Reconstruction laid down by Congress, and most of them will soon be ready to present their new Constitutions and apply for admission to full standing as members of the Federal Union.

The Milwaukee Sentinel attempts to prove that its city is "fast," and instances the fact that "on Saturday last (Nov. 16th) the wife of a German resident on Chestnut-street died; she was buried at one o'clock on Sunday; at six o'clock the widower was married, and on Wednesday morning at nine o'clock the newly made bride a mother. We doubt if even Chicago can beat that time on despatching business."

An Artful Trick.

A notorious burglar, confined at Charlestown, Massachusetts, revealed to the warden and marshal the hiding place of a rich booty on the bank of the river, and they took him to the spot in a cab. The three dug deeply into the earth by turns, until they had made a large pit, and the burglar then tumbled the warden in upon the marshal, and made his escape.

In 1799 a man, his wife and six children removed from Virginia to Ohio walking the whole distance, and the mother carrying an infant in her arms. She was present at a recent pioneer meeting in Newark, Ohio, having attained the age of one hundred and two years.

Special Notices.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

Where this article is known it is a work of supererogation to say one word in its favor, so well it is established as an unfailing remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs, as well as that most dreaded of all diseases, Consumption, which high medical authority has pronounced to be an incurable disease. Those who have used this remedy know its value; those who have not, have but to make a single trial to be satisfied that of all other it is the remedy.

The Rev. Jacob Sechler, well known and much respected among the German population of this country, writes as follows: Hanover, Pa., Feb. 16, 1859.

Dear Sirs:—Having realized in my family important benefits from the use of your valuable preparation—Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry—it affords me pleasure to recommend it to the public. Some eight years ago, one of my daughters seemed to be in a decline, and little hopes of her recovery were entertained. I then procured a bottle of your excellent Balsam, and before she had taken the whole of it there was a great improvement in her health. I have, in my individual case, made frequent use of your valuable medicine, and have always been benefited thereby. I would, however, caution the public against imitations, because there is a good deal of spurious Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry about throughout the country.

GRACE'S CELEBRATED SALVE.

From Mr. James Curran, of Amherst, Mass. "I was afflicted with a severe ition on one of my fingers, and tried many remedies without relief. My friends induced me to apply your Salve. In two days it extracted the inflammation from my finger so as to enable me to resume my work. I can almost say that the Salve worked like magic, for it effected a cure without leaving a desirable mark. I most heartily pronounce Grace's Salve an excellent remedy and do not doubt it will be appreciated throughout the land."

DR. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS AS SUBSTITUTE FOR CALOMEL.

These Pills are composed of various roots, having the power to relax the secretions of the liver as promptly and as effectually as blue pills or mercury, and without producing any of those disagreeable or dangerous effects which often follow the use of the latter.

In all bilious disorders these Pills may be used with confidence, as they promote the discharge of vitiated bile, and remove those obstructions from the liver and biliary ducts, which are the cause of bilious effects in general.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cure Sick Headache, and all disorders of the Liver, indicated by sallow skin, coated tongue, costiveness, drowsiness, and a general feeling of weariness and lassitude, showing that the liver is in a torpid or obstructed condition.

In short, those Pills may be used with advantage in all cases when a purgative or alterative medicine is required.

Please ask for "Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills," and observe that the two likenesses of the Doctor are on the Government stamp—one when in the last state of Consumption, and the other in his present health.
