

The Jeffersonian,
THURSDAY, MAY 21, 1868.

Our young friend P. S. Williams has taken the interest of C. S. Detrick & Co. in the Jewelry Department of their business, and will continue at the old stand for the present. He is fully prepared to supply customers with anything in his line, at very reasonable prices. Being an excellent workman, and an attentive and obliging business man, we speak for him a liberal share of patronage.

We would call attention to the card of Mr. A. Bromley, in another column. Boot and shoe dealers throughout this section of country will find him prepared with an excellent stock and fair dealing to meet all their wants.

Messrs. Peters & Mott, the former our old friend Wm. N. Peters, late of Marshall's Creek, and the latter a son of Col. H. S. Mott, of Milford, a new comer in our neighborhood, have opened the stand, late Smith & Tribble's near the Depot, with a choice stock of all the kinds of goods usually kept on sale in an inland store. Both gentlemen are possessed of enterprise, and being believers in the doctrine that "the nimble sixpence is better than the slow shilling," purchasers will find it to their advantage to deal with them. Read their advertisement in this week's paper.

A muggy, rainy week, with which we were visited since our last, advancing the face of those who desired to take advantage of the time of seed-time to look rather blue. A late corn and garden-planting will be the result. What, however, appears to be poison to one thing promises to prove meat to the other, for our crops of timothy, clover, and winter grain never looked better, or gave better promise of an abundant harvest, than now.

The Wayne County "Herald," one of the oldest and most reasonable of the Democratic organs in the district, published at Honesdale, Pa., came to hand last week in a new dress, and greatly enlarged in size. Aside from its politics, which we do not like, it has always been, under the control of its present editor and proprietor, T. J. Ham, Esq., an excellent paper, and we are pleased to see this evidence of its pecuniary success. As Wayne County is rapidly wheeling into the Republican line, having taken the banner for the greatest per centage of increase in the Republican vote last fall, the improvement of the "Herald" is certainly creditable to the liberality of its partisan supporters.

The "Republic," the Republican organ of Wayne, also announces improvements to take place during the coming month. These we shall notice more at large in due time.

The last Monroe "Democrat" has a very sensible article, on the propriety of each neighborhood supporting its own mechanics, and artisans, instead of expending their patronage in other sections of the country. The idea is an excellent one; and if our neighbor would allow it to run through all its ramifications, we should feel greatly inclined to credit him with having written (?) sound article No. 2. But there is somewhat of inconsistency in this advocacy when taken in connection with that other one of his, which would allow patronage to be extended to manufacturers in foreign countries soot free. He finds fault with a law which makes those pay the fiddler who dance to the behests of foreign work-shops, and send the dollars, which naturally and rightfully belong to our own mechanics and laboring men, to feed the mechanics and laboring men of England, France, Germany, &c., and finds fault again, very inconsistently we think, at the mere dealing with our neighbors; blood of our blood, flesh of our flesh, and partakers with us in all the advantages and all the disadvantages, all the privileges and all the expenses, of our common government. His article, a few weeks ago, on the tariff, smacked strongly of humbuggery; and we do not see, when we think of that article, that we can say anything better of this last production of his. We are a firm believer in the doctrine, "support your own mechanics," but our idea of that doctrine is that it embraces the mechanics of the United States only — those at home first, and when they fail to meet our necessities, then those the happiest to be got at.

Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry and Grace's Celebrated Salve have stood the test of long experience, and have come into general use. These articles are no quack nostrums, but genuine preparations, skillfully compounded, and well adapted to the class of diseases for which they are recommended. Seth W. Fowle & Son, Boston, Mass., are the proprietors.

IMPEACHMENT.

The Senate of the United States, sitting as a High Court of Impeachment, for the trial of Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, took a final vote on the 11th Article of Impeachment, on Saturday last. The vote stood, for conviction, 35; for acquittal, 19. Seven Republican Senators voted for acquittal, as follows: Fessenden of Maine, Fowler of Tenn., Grimes of Iowa, Henderson of Mo., Ross of Kansas, Trumbull of Ill., and Van Winkle of West Va., all of whom had, on several occasions, voted for the Tenure of Office bill; and, on one noted occasion, had voted to sustain Stanton in the War Department, and in condemnation of Johnson's malicious violations of the laws of the land.

It is claimed by the friends of these recreants, that their peculiar votes were the results of conscientious scruples — that the evidence, which was ample and convincing against the accused, was not of a character to justify them, in accordance with the oaths they had taken, to convict the President. That acting upon the dictates of conscience they could not vote otherwise than they did. And it is pretended too, by their apologists, that because it was Senators Fessenden, Grimes, Trumbull, Van Winkle, Henderson, &c., &c., who committed this outrage upon the wishes of their friends, and upon stern justice, as demanded by the evidence, conscience is to be taken as the true cause of their treachery. Let those who choose to believe such bosh do so. Weak brethren may ponder to the crimes (for crimes they are) of weak brethren, but the following, from the New-York "World," the organ of the New-York Democratic branch of the President's supporters, will, we believe, furnish a better key to the cause of their votes than any other that can be secured up. A Senator, who is not too good to betray his friends, and a just cause, is not a whit too good to receive a bribe. The World says: —

"Let the men of wealth in this city, (New York) without regard to party, assemble at the Exchange, or in the Cooper Institute, and subscribe a sufficient sum, ten millions of dollars if need be, to buy a favorable verdict. There are fourteen Radical Senators whose terms of office expire in 1869. Beyond that time they are sure of no political position; so far as they know now, they are certain of no 'paying place.' Surely as many as eight of these men would far rather be sure of million each in hand than to wait for the uncertainty of a $5,000 office by and by. Let us buy their votes at their own price."

The 11th article, upon which the vote was taken, is as follows: —

ART. 11. That said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, unwarrantably of the high duties of his office and of his oath of office, and in disregard of the Constitution and laws of the United States, did heretofore, to wit: on the 18th day of August, 1866, at the City of Washington, and the District of Columbia, by public speech, declare and affirm in substance, that the XXXIXth Congress of the United States was not a Congress of the United States authorized by the Constitution to exercise legislative power under the same; but on the contrary, was a Congress of only part of the States, thereby denying and intending to deny that the legislation of said Congress was valid or obligatory upon him, the said Andrew Johnson, except in so far as he saw fit to approve the same, and also thereby denying and intending to deny the power of the said XXXIXth Congress to propose amendments to the Constitution of the United States; and, in pursuance of said declaration, the said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, afterward — to wit, on the 21st day of February, 1868, at the City of Washington, in the District of Columbia — did unlawfully, and in disregard of the requirement of the Constitution that he should take care that the laws be faithfully executed, attempt to prevent the execution of an act entitled, "An act regulating the tenure of certain civil offices," passed March 2, 1867, by unlawfully devising and contriving, and attempting to devise and contrive, means by which he should prevent Edwin M. Stanton from forth-with resuming the functions of the office of Secretary for the Department of War, notwithstanding the refusal of the Senate to concur in the suspension thereto made by said Andrew Johnson of said Edwin M. Stanton from said office of Secretary for the Department of War, and also by further unlawfully devising and contriving, and attempting to devise and contrive, means and there to prevent the execution of an act entitled "An act making appropriations for the support of the Army for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1868, and for other purposes," approved March 2, 1867, and also to prevent the execution of an act entitled "An act to provide for the more efficient government of the Rebel States," passed March 2, 1867; where by the said Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, did then, to wit: on the 21st day of February, 1867, at the City of Washington, command and was guilty of a high misdemeanor in office.

Of course, every Democrat voted for acquittal.

The consideration of the remaining articles was postponed until Tuesday next, the 26th inst. There is but little hope of conviction on either of the articles.

Our neighbor, tired of the labor of attending to our demands upon his time and attention, has, it appears, handed us over to the tender mercies of the irresponsible nincompoops, who hang around his establishment. Of course, we can take no notice of these whelps, unless it be occasionally, just for the fun of the thing, to put a split stick on their tails and send them yelping through the community. One of these did a nice criticism at our expense a couple of weeks ago, and another, last week, finds fault with us for always taking the defensive in the discussions which arise between the two papers. The fault is certainly not ours. Nothing would afford us greater pleasure than to avoid all discussion, and all asperity in our intercourse with our neighbor; and we promise to do so in the future, provided he promises to stick to the truth when writing or selecting against Republicans, the Republican party, and its principles. Let him avoid Democratic or Copperhead romancing in the future, and we promise to do a full share towards making his bed a bed of roses indeed. The why and wherefore of our always appearing on the defensive, is to be found in the fact that he delights in willfully untruthful exaggerations and accusations on the other side. So soon as he abates this evil, so soon are we done with him.

The Lady's Book for June is already on our table, and is a most excellent number. It seems curious, but it is nevertheless true, that one can never discover a lag in the Book. Notwithstanding every other magazine varies, running through good, bad and indifferent, throughout the year, Godley never lags. All its progress with him — going on all the time from good and better to best. Terms $3 per annum. Address L. A. Godley, Philadelphia.

East Stroudsburg Building Lots. 7 Choice Building Lots opposite the Depot will be sold to the highest bidder, at the Court-House, on next Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock; or parties wishing to purchase at private sale can do so by calling on Geo. L. Walker. Parties having money cannot do better than invest in these Lots, as they will double their money in a short time. Don't forget, SATURDAY AFTERNOON, at 2 o'clock.

DeMott & Ward's United Menagerie and Circus.

This compact, comprehensive and decidedly novel combination of nature and art, is announced to visit here on Tuesday, the 26th inst. It is according to well established report, in all respects a first-class Equestrian establishment, and under the sole management and proprietorship of two young men who have devoted their life-times to the prosecution and advancement of their profession. Putting both their energies and talents into the concern, and strengthening their efforts by those of a number of artists of decided ability, they are prepared to give to the public an entertainment of the most sterling, varied and attractive character. They have adopted a novel and most acceptable plan of showing their animals under the most advantageous circumstances, viz: in the ring, loose and untrammelled, thus enabling the spectators to see every motion. They have Old Grizzly Adams' troupe of Acting Bears, a real Western Buffalo, a Corps of Dogs and Monkeys, the Sacred Bull of Hindoostan, the dens of Lions, Tigers, Leopards, &c., and a calf Elephant which in point of size and age is a greater attraction than any which have ever been exhibited in America. Their general outfit is new and tasty, their Horses, Ponies and Mules unsurpassable for quality or quantity, making a grand pageant in the streets and giving a superior entertainment in the Pavilion. DeMott and Ward are justly entitled to success and patronage.

The managers have secured the Fair Grounds, a most convenient place for the exhibition.

Col. John W. Forney, of Philadelphia, for seven years past Secretary of the Senate of the United States, on Tuesday last week tendered his resignation of that position. The fact and the reason are thus stated in Wednesday's issue of the Press: — "John W. Forney, in a letter addressed to Hon. Benjamin F. Wade, President of the Senate, dated yesterday, resigned his office as Secretary of that body, to take effect the moment his successor is elected. His connection with the Senate pleasant in many respects personally, having therefore ceased, he is no longer restrained by any official embarrassment in commenting upon the course of those who, in this critical hour, have joined hands with Andrew Johnson and his rebel associates and sympathizers."

Saturday's Tribune publishes a list of one hundred and twenty five forgers, counterfeiters and perjurers pardoned by President Johnson during the past three years. The list is far from being complete, but is a fearful commentary upon the character of the man whom a great crime elevated to a position he has so signally dishonored.

The Supreme Court of Maryland decided on Monday, that where a real estate broker procures a purchaser, who is accepted by the owner, the broker cannot be deprived of his commissions if the purchaser refuses to complete the sale because the title is found to be defective.

The House of Representatives on Thursday passed the bill reported from the Reconstruction Committee the week before, by Mr. Stevens for the admission of the States of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Louisiana and Alabama. In the debate on its passage Mr. Stevens made one of his ablest efforts, indignantly rebuking Mr. Brooks, of New York, for various personalities, and enunciating the great principles of justice and freedom on which the future of this country is to rest. The Senate will act upon this bill at an early day, and these States will soon be restored to their old relations under the national flag.

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church of the United States, in session at Chicago last week, and which represents the largest and most powerful religious denomination in this country, unanimously adopted a resolution in favor of the conviction of President Johnson. This is an evidence of the deep interest manifested in this matter by the friends of morality and religion, and shows how the result of this trial of a corrupt ruler is estimated by those who view it from a Christian standpoint.

The Republicans of Connecticut have done themselves and the country honor by choosing as the next United States Senator from their State Ex-Governor William A. Buckingham. He will take the place of Senator James Dixon who, though chosen as a Republican, has thought fit to ally himself with Johnson and the Copperheads. Governor Buckingham is one of the ablest and purest men of New England, and will not fail to represent his State in the Senate most worthily. He takes his seat on the fourth of march next.

On Wednesday morning of last week the case of John H. Surrat was up before the criminal court at Washington, on a motion for bail by the prisoner's counsel. Judge Coulter, after hearing the argument, refused to bail Surrat, on the ground that the prosecution was ready to proceed with the trial, but that the case had been continued until the next term, at the instance of the prisoner's counsel.

A correspondent of the Germantown Telegraph says, in regard to State politics this year:

"It has transpired that the Democratic State Central Committee of Pennsylvania proposes in the ensuing canvass to concentrate attention upon a desperate effort to carry the Legislature in order to elect a United States Senator to succeed Mr. Bucklew, whose term expires in March next. This intimation may have been thrown out by Senator Wallace, the chairman of the committee, as a blind to conceal the real point of attack, but it is nevertheless true that Wallace is a candidate to succeed Mr. Bucklew, and the Democratic leaders do not believe it possible to carry the State against Grant."

Mr. Vallandigham has issued the following pronouncement in the Dayton Ledger:—"No platform or candidate will be named for Ohio, or any Western or Border State, that is committed, openly or tacitly, to the prescription of the sagacious, gallant and truly patriotic men who refused to support the late civil war, with all its evil and bitter fruit accumulating now every day. Let the Captain Cattle of war democracy and conservatism 'make a note of it.'"

FOR THE CURE OF

Incipient Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Croup, Asthma, Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, and General Debility. For several years I have been urged by kind friends, who have used, and been benefited by, my Life Syrup, to put it up for general sale; but few know the large expense, now that the country is flooded with Patent Medicines, which attend the same. For years past I was reluctant to do so, as the capital required would be large, and I do not wish to curtail the operations of my Venetian Liniment business. But, thanks to the generous public, who have appreciated my Venetian Liniment, I am now able to do so, without any detriment to my large business in that medicine. The foundation of my success I attribute to the attending to the manufacture of every drop myself, and shall do the same in regard to my Pulmonic Life Syrup. The ingredients are perfectly harmless, but act on the Lungs and Liver with astonishing effect. Price 75 cents. Depot, No. 56 Cortlandt Street, New York, near Jersey City Ferry. Sold by the Druggists and Storekeepers. [May 7.—1m.]
