REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL: COL. DAVID STANTON, OF BEAVER

FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL: COL. ROBT B BEATH, OF SCHUYLKILL

The late showers have cooled off the atmosphere. The crops have been materially benefited by them.

The Eastern Argus says it understands J. K. Dawes, Esq., will start a Republican newspaper in Easton. The first copy is to be issued on the 20th of July.

Fourth of July on Fisher's Island.—We understand that the friends and members of the M. E. Church, at Spragueville intend having a good time on Fisher's Island on the 4th. In addition to having dinner, Ice Cream &c., will be served at reasonable rates.

An Ice Cream and Strawberry Festival will be held, at the Kellersville Hotel, in Hamilton township, on Saturday evening, June 24th. Luscious Strawberries and Ice Cream, and a good time generally will mark the occasion. There should be a general turnout.

Vocal Music.—J. M. Singer desires to inform the citizens of Stroudsburg, that he will meet the children, who wish to join a singing class at Hollinshead's Hall, on Monday, June 26th, 1871, at 9 1/2 a. m., and to continue five days, three lessons each day. Tickets for full course only $1. All should be able to read.

The "glorious 4th" is approaching, and by referring to another column of this issue it will be observed that the indomitable Chas. F. Herman will be fully prepared for the occasion. "Fritz," is a live business man, and as his ice creams are of the richest flavor, and his fire works of the first quality, we bespeak for him unprecedented success.

Base Ball.

To the Members of the Portland B. B. C. of Portland, Pa.:

We, the members of the Blue Stocking B. B. C. of Stroudsburg, do hereby challenge you to play us a match game of Base Ball on your grounds, on Saturday next, 24th inst. Game to be called at 2 o'clock, p. m. HOWARD W. MARSH, Captain.

The County Fair will be held in September. Are you doing anything for it? If not, go to work at once and prepare for it. Let every farmer and every member of his family, raise something or make something to bring to the Fair. Mechanics and artists should also be preparing specimens of their work for exhibition. Let every one do something, determined that the exhibition in Monroe county, shall not be behind that of any other county in the State.

Mr. R. M. Kresge, the enterprising merchant at East Stroudsburg, has just returned from the cities with an immense stock of clothing, dry goods, notions, boots and shoes, fresh groceries, and an endless variety of other goods usually kept in a first-class country store, all of which will be sold at the very lowest cash prices. He has leased the store room formerly occupied by Mr. H. Smith, in connection with the old store, which will be under the immediate supervision of Mr. U. J. O. Shafer, and with these increased facilities for business he hopes to still merit a liberal share of public patronage. Country produce of all kinds taken in exchange for goods, and the highest market price paid.

Fatal Accident.—On Thursday last, Master J. H. Lamb, well known as a newsboy on the D. L. & W. R. R., met with a very serious accident near the Delaware bridge, which resulted in his death about two hours afterward. He had just been promoted to the position of brakeman on his brother's coal train, and was making his first trip when the accident occurred. It appears that he was walking upon the ground, while the train was in motion, loosening the brakes from their sockets with his hands. He finally took hold of one which appeared to have a stronger spring than the others, when he was immediately raised from his feet and thrown under the cars, having his legs completely severed. His remains were interred at Portland, Pa., on Sunday last. By his straight forward and gentlemanly conduct, Johnnie had won hosts of friends, and his untimely death has cast a gloom among his many acquaintances.

The good time is here again! Fried has been to the city, and a better stock of season goods, clothing, notions, neckties, hats and caps, boots and shoes, &c., &c., never left the city than are now being received by the car load at his old stand on Main street. If you want any thing of the best quality call at Fried's and you will find it in endless variety. If you want to buy goods at a mere song so far as cost is concerned Fried's is the place to go for them. Fried has recently been appointed Agent for one of the largest establishments in the city, and his orders are imperative to sell all goods, without regard to quality, and none but the best are kept on sale, at prices to suit the times and the people. These are stubborn facts, and if you desire to secure real bargains, they can be had, most certainly at Fried's Agency. Call and see, and inquire, even if you don't want to buy. Fried charges nothing for showing goods.

A Nuisance.—The practice of playing ball upon our principal streets, which is indulged in very freely by the young men and boys of this place is not only a dangerous one, but is a most decided nuisance. We hear very frequent complaints made, and a stop should be put to it at once.

East Stroudsburg Items.—NARROW ESCAPE.—On Thursday last, Mr. Geo. Holcomb, an engineer on the D. L. & W. R. R., met with an accident which might have proved fatal, in the following manner: It appears that Mr. Daniel Long, who resides near Ransberry's Bridge, this county, had his horse and vehicle standing at a post adjacent to the Post Office in East Stroudsburg. Mr. H. happened along at this time, and was walking at a respectable distance from the animal, when, all of a sudden, the horse made a spring and seized Mr. Holcomb by the coat collar, and threw him violently to the ground. The horse then thrust the "hook" of his shoe through the calf of Mr. Holcomb's leg, and otherwise severely bruised him about his person. Mr. Daniel Tuttle, the well known expressman of this place then rushed to the gentleman's assistance, and succeeded in rescuing him from a position which might otherwise have proven fatal.

Mr. Sydenham Hohensheldt, Mine Host of the Analomink House, East Stroudsburg, is making extensive additions and improvements to his establishment. A structure 40 by 40 feet is being added to the main building, and, we understand, that extensive improvements are to be made in the main building. "Sid," evidently, "knows how it is himself," and is determined that every facility, in regard to comfort and ease shall be afforded his guests.

CLEMENT L. VALLANDIGHAM of Ohio, probably the most notorious politician of the times, died on Saturday last from the effects of an accidental pistol shot. He had been engaged in defend ing a person accused of murder, and in order to show how the victim had possibly shot himself put a loaded pistol in his trousers pocket and hastily drew it out again. In this act the pistol was discharged, the contents entering Vallandigham's abdomen and injuring him so seriously that he died in a few hours.—The event is one that has caused a marked sensation all over the country. During the war Vallandigham was conspicuous for his hostility to the Union and his consequent banishment from the lines; and since that time he has been almost equally active as a Democratic politician. He drafted the Chicago platform of 1864 which declared the war a failure, and more than any other person controlled the Democratic Convention of 1868, which nominated Seymour. At the recent State Convention in Ohio he was particularly active in urging the "new departure," by which the Democratic party was made to apparently acquiesce in the Constitutional amendments. His sincerity, however, was not beyond suspicion. He was undoubtedly the most influential of all the Northern Democrats, and though not himself an available candidate for office was able to dictate the line of party action. His unexpected death is a sore blow to those who have relied upon his leadership, and must increase the demoralization that already pervades the Democratic masses. He was a man of good mental abilities, and possessed excellent social qualities, but unfortunately for his memory these were obscured by the bitter disloyalty of his political career.—Bucks County Intel ligencer.

COL. McCANDLESS, the Democratic candidate for Auditor General served for a time in the army, holding the rank of Colonel. After the battle of the Wilderness, where he was wounded in the hand, he retired to Philadelphia. He was soon afterward tendered a commission as Brigadier General, but having been in close affiliation with such copperheads as William B. Reed, became estranged from the Government, and wrote an impertinent letter, declining the proffered appointment. Among other things which he said to the Secretary of War in that letter, was that "he believed the true position of a citizen was at home." Thus, at the most critical juncture, he placed himself in the ranks of those violently opposed to the war—who were applauding rebel victories and denouncing Union soldiers as Lincoln hirelings, for the purpose of aiding the rebellion and insuring the success of Jeff Davis. In October next the great soldier element will take him at his word and permit him to remain "at home."—Wayne Citizen.

WHAT is to become of the white man's government? Last year the Democrats declared that they would never submit to any thing but a white man's rule. Now they pretend to be in favor of negro suffrage, and contend for the equal rights of all men whatever may be their race, color or condition. Surely they cannot and will not denounce Republicans who have given them the only political platform upon which they can stand with safety. But should they fail to carry their ticket next fall, they may adopt a new platform. The Democracy are becoming very fickle and elastic. They will swallow any thing that will secure political power. Principles they have not. The virtue of sincerity would be a new companion to them.

The Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of North America met at Baltimore on Tuesday, about 200 representatives being present. Reports were read showing the number of lodges to be 6500, with a membership of 400,000; receipts $16,246; expenditures, $12,766.

To THOSE Republicans who voted with the Democracy last fall because they were opposed to negro suffrage, says the Franklin Repository, we extend our sincere sympathy and commiseration. They have no longer any choice of party, nor any place to go that is not polluted by contamination with the accursed race.—The Democracy have opened their arms to take to their embrace the "man and brother."

The York, Penna., True Democrat says: The farmers are now busily engaged in making hay in this section of country, the yield of which crop will be greatly diminished on account of dry weather this spring. The season was not favorable to the growth of herbage, so that the grass has not attained to its full size. The clover was headed out prematurely, and will not be much benefited by the recent rains. In some other portions of the country the failure of the hay crop has been much greater, and will prove a great loss to farmers. The chief consolation left is that what has injured the grass has been rather beneficial to wheat and rye, of which there is a promise of an abundant crop.

The Bedford county Press asks: "Will the Democracy of Berks, York and other counties in their control divide their local offices with the black man and soldiers? They never did it heretofore. It is to be seen whether they will do it, now that they want their votes?"

The Southern Democrats and Toombs.

[From The Charleston Republican.] The Presidential campaign will be fought out on the one issue of the condition of the South. This is inevitable. It is becoming more apparent day by day. And in view of the certainty of this, it may be easily seen how natural is the feeling of alarm in the minds of the Northern Democrats, and in the minds of some Southern Democrats, too. The Charleston News among them, over utterances like these of Toombs. Toombs boldly declares against the Vallandighamites "new departure." He says he would sooner vote for Horace Greeley than for any Democrat upon such a platform. He says Greeley and the Republicans "first got it up; it's their patent;" and he then says that he has more respect for them "than for such scoundrels as Vallandigham, who wants to steal their ideas." What can be done with such talk as this of Toombs? What can the Northern Democracy do, when, build their platform ever so carefully, such men as Toombs and Davis in the South are trying to kick that platform into finders? No wonder that Davis has been forced to "explain" his Atlanta speech, and no wonder that The Charleston News puts down these declarations of Toombs as a "sell." It is a sell—of the Democratic party.

On Friday last, the victorious Prussian army made a triumphal entry into Berlin. The occasion was observed as a national holiday and festival. The procession was headed by a corps of 700 men, representing all the States of Germany, bearing the eagles, standards and banners captured from the French. The entire force consisted of about 100,000 men. The march began between two rows of captured cannon, numbering 2000, and at different points along the route trophies or monuments of captured small-arms were erected. The Emperor and the German Princess were formally welcomed by the civic authorities, and hundreds of young girls strewed flowers in the way. The people were full of enthusiasm, and crowned the men of favorite regiments with wreaths of flowers. At the close, the Emperor unveiled a statue of his father, just completed, and made an address, concluding thus:—"This monument, which was projected in a time of profound peace, now becomes the memorial of one of the most brilliant, though bloodiest, of modern wars. May the peace so dearly achieved be a lasting one!" The brilliance and popular rejoicing of the occasion was never before equalled in Germany.

The Lightning's Stroke—Narrow Escape of a Lady—Her Chignon Taken off.

During the thunder storm which passed over the village on Monday afternoon, says the Rondout Freeman, a house owned by Nelson H. Burhaus and occupied by the family of Thomas M. Weed, was struck by lightning: The scene, as described by our informant, was one of the most thrilling interest. The good lady of the house, leaning out of the front window, the sun shining brightly at the time, was astonished by a loud, sharp thunder peal, and simultaneously there with a brilliant streak of lightning descended and struck the house; continuing down the wall it tore off the good lady's chignon, scattering hair and hair-pins, and merrily pursued its way to the cellar below and thence to the backyard, tearing up a plank walk on its way. Mrs. Weed gathered her scattered senses and hair pins and found that no injury was sustained. The wondering neighbors gathered round and pronounced it a miraculous escape.

Mr John D. Fries, of South Coventry township, Chester county, is trying the experiment of raising an eagle, hatched by a dung hill hen. The Pottstown Ledger gives the following account. About a month ago, while out on Nye's Hill, he saw a large bird flying up from a lonely place among the rocks. Preceding to the spot he discovered two eggs, of nearly the size and appearance of turkey eggs, which he picked up, brought home and placed under a setting hen. About a week ago the eggs were hatched out and Mr. Fries was astonished to find that they were eagles. The old hen must have been considerably surprised, too, for she spluttered about and trumped upon one of her rare progeny, and killed it. The other one is doing well, and will probably grow up and do well. Eagles sometimes carry off chickens, and it would be rather a joke if this specimen would some day gather upon the old hen that hatched it and fly away with her.

The notorious "Brick Pomeroy," who gained some money by printing the vilest Copperhead paper in the land, was lately found guilty of adultery, and his wife has obtained a divorce from him. She and her little daughter obtained several thousand dollars by way of alimony.—Within two weeks after divorce, Pomeroy married again. New York society is getting low indeed. And this is the man who is continually throwing mud at preachers and at Republicans in general, and who writes so much about virtue and his superior morality.

There has been an item going around about a hen in Boston laying eggs so small that twenty-one of them were put in a collar box at once. That looked like pretty small business for an able bodied hen, until the author of the story was discovered. He said it was a horse collar box he meant.

It is well understood, says the State Journal, in political circles, that the Democratic leaders have no hopes of electing McCandless and Cooper. The same paper thinks their real end is the control of the Legislature.

The following is the petroleum report for the month of May: Production, 471,775 barrels; daily average, 15,218 barrels; total stocks, 609,466 barrels; number of wells producing 2,896; number of wells drilling, 296.

A Boston lady thinks she is going to get to heaven on the strength of her well-known charity to the poor. She has frequently been known, without any display or ostentation, to boil a large number of eggs, and when the poor people came to her door distributed to the hungry callers the soup that was left after boiling the eggs. Such acts of charity are unusual in Boston; but that's a little too thin to get to heaven on without stirring in a little thickening.

A STARTLING PHENOMENON.—A remarkable phenomenon, in the shape of a cyclone occurred near Mason City, Illinois, on Friday morning, June 24. A smoke like column was seen to gather near the earth, on an open prairie, six miles from the town. From this column three narrow spire like cloud columns ascended, until they seemed to attach themselves to a cloud which was passing above. The "cyclone" then moved slowly toward the town, but finally changed its course, and disappeared, after passing over a track nearly three miles in length, and from twenty to eighty feet in width. Its forward motion was not at a greater rate than six miles an hour, while its rotary motion was "of inconceivable velocity." Eye witnesses report that flashes of lightning passed constantly through the cloud, accompanied by crackling reports, like the rattle of musketry, and that at a distance of a mile an odor was inhaled resembling that of burning sulphur. In its track every particle of vegetation was burned to a crisp, and for some distance the earth was plowed up to a depth of six inches. Fortunately no houses were in the pathway of the storm.

The "Pain Killer" may justly be styled the great medicine of the world, for there is no region of the globe into which it has not found its way, and been largely used and highly prized. Moreover, there is no claim to which it has not proved to be well adapted for the cure of a considerable variety of diseases; it is a speedy and safe remedy for burns, scalds, cuts, bruises, wounds and various other injuries, as well as for dysentery, diarrhoea and bowel complaints generally, it is admirably suited for every race of men on the face of the globe. It is a very significant fact, that notwithstanding the long period of years that the "Pain Killer" has been before the world, it has never lost one whit of its popularity, but on the contrary, the call for it has steadily increased from its first discovery, and at no previous time has the demand for it been so great, or the quantity made been so large, as it is today. Another significant fact is, that nowhere has the Pain Killer ever been in higher repute, or been more generally used by families and individuals, than it has been here at home, where it was first discovered and introduced. That the Pain Killer will continue to be what we have styled it the great medicine of the world, there cannot be the shadow of a doubt.—Providence Advertiser. June 1, 1871-1m
