7 PER CENT.

BOROUGH BONDS

FOR SALE.

The Borough of Stroudsburg offers for sale 7 per cent. bonds to suit purchasers. These bonds are issued under Act of Assembly of May 10th, 1871, authorizing the issue of bonds to an amount not exceeding $5,000, for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of a Steam Fire Engine and apparatus. Said bonds are exempt from all taxation except for State purposes; and a rare opportunity is offered to capitalists, large or small, for investment at home on the most favorable terms; and at the same time, for aiding a worthy enterprise. For further information inquire of either of the undersigned.

FARMERS,

NOW IS THE TIME TO USE

Youatt's Condition Powder.

In the Fall and Winter when your cows give but little milk this powder is sure to increase the quantity and improve the quality. For horses, it increases the appetite, promotes digestion, exhilarates the spirits, renders the coat soft and shining. For Hogs one package in your swill barrel will hasten the fattening process at least 100 per cent. This powder has proved an excellent article for sheep. Be sure you get the at short notice. Their stock of material being the best the City affords, none but the purest and best malt liquors will be permitted to leave their establishment. They respectfully solicit the patronage of the public.

JOHN BURT,
JACOB F. HERZOG.
East Stroudsburg, Pa. Dec. 1, 1870.

Found out why people go to McCarty's to get their furniture, because he buys it at the Ware Rooms of Lee & Co. and sells it at an advance of only twenty-two and two-ninths per cent. Or in other words, Rocking Chairs that he buys of Lee & Co. (through the runners he don't have) for $4.50 he sells for $5.50. Pays him to buy some good Furniture.

STARTLING PHENOMENON.

A Large Portion of a County in Florida

Changed to a Lake—Trees, Houses and People Engulfed.

The Palatka (Fla.) "Herald" has a letter from Orange county, containing a thrilling narrative of the sinking of a good portion of Orange county and the formation of a lake where it once stood. The account is as follows:—

Mr. Alex. K. Foster has just come in with marvelous and startling reports. He says that on his way from Orlando to Mil-lionville, after crossing Fort Metlin branch, he left the road to avoid the constant bogging to which he was subjected. The safest place he thought would be on the crown of a high black jack ridge.—

running parallel with the road, which he accordingly took. After riding perhaps a mile his horse commenced bogging, and for some distance it was questionable whether he could get through. He, how-ever, reached more solid footing; again he commenced bogging, and this time he noticed remarkable and portentous sounds in his rear. The bogging grew worse as he progressed, until he had to dismount; there seemed no escape for him, both he and his horse were still bogging. The sounds in his rear increased more and more, because more and more alarming, and the route in front more boggy; he dare not stop, as this would have rendered it impossible to have extricated himself, he neither dare nor could look behind him; his whole thought and aim was to reach terra firma. At last, after the most superhuman exertions, both he and his horse, exhausted to the most extreme degree, he reached the solid ground. Turning to examine into the cause of those fearful sounds in his rear, he saw the most terrific and ap-palling sights it has ever been my fate to listen to. The first thing that attracted attention was that the trees were moving; first a giratory motion of the top, then some sinking gradually out of sight, the tops revolving more and more rapidly as it sunk and disappeared, others following, and as they fell revolving and describing arcs of a circle against the sky. Then the whole earth, as far as the eye could reach, sinking and its place supplied by a sea of waters, rushing, seething, boiling with the noise of mighty cataracts, and ever and anon casting to the surface the roots, tops or bodies of mighty pines and oaks.

If I could only tell it to you in the language of the awe stricken witness. It must have been, beyond comparison, the most fearfully appalling and awe inspir-ing sight ever witnessed. The horse and man lie now panting at the memory of the horrors they have so miraculously escaped.

AN HOUR AND A HALF LATER.

People are rushing from the scene of disaster. Our camp is crowded with the terror stricken inhabitants from the county in our rear. Everybody is waiting with forebodings and horrible expecta-tions.

They believe the day of judgment has come. This extraordinary phenomenon appears more and more extraordinary.—

The country, from two to three miles from here to Lake Metlin, is entirely submerged, and is now one vast lake. Nothing authoritative from beyond, though ram-ors are ripe that Orlando is swallowed up, and the whole chain of lakes to Lake Conway are now united and form an im-mense inland sea. We leave immediately and in terror for our own fate.

The Vagabond Sage.

An old man of very active physiognomy answering to the name of Jacob Wilmot, was brought to the police court. His clothes looked as though they might have been bought second hand in his youthful prime for they had suffered more from the rabs of the world than the proprietor himself.

"What business?"

"None; I'm a traveler."

"A vagabond, perhaps?"

"You are not far wrong. Travelers and vagabonds are about the same thing.—

The difference is that the latter travel without money, and the former without brains."

"Where have you traveled?"

"All over the continent."

"For what purpose?"

"Observation."

"What have you observed?"

"A little to commend, much to ceas-ure, and a great deal to laugh at."

"Hump! what do you commend?"

"A handsome woman who will stay at home; an eloquent preacher that will preach short sermons; a good writer that will not write too much; and a fool that has sense enough to hold his tongue."

"What do you censure?"

"A man that marries a girl for her fine clothing; a youth who studies medicine while he has the use of his hands; and people who will elect a drunkard to of-fice."

"What do you laugh at?"

"I laugh at a man who expects his position to command that respect which his personal qualities do not merit."

He was dismissed.

COWS HOLDING UP THEIR MILK.—J. A. Wilson writes the Agriculturist that he has found the best remedy for this fault is to "take a log-chain, double it, then lay it gently over the cow's back—on the small of the back—so that the ends of the chain will clear the floor. The cow loses the power of holding up her milk, and after a few trials will forget the habit."

Colored Man's Argument.

"Look heah, you George Washington Brown, whar's you gwine?"

"Mr. Pete, I'd had you to know, sar, dat I see a genman, sar, and I doesn't allow no nigger, sar, to address me in such a disrespect manner."

"Ah, yah! G'long wid yer puttin' on airs, nigger. You needn't git yer back up like a wet hen about de matter. I doesn't care whar ye is gwine."

"Well, Pete, I'll tole yer. You see dis morin' I
