NOTES ON IOWA.

[Editoral Correspondence of the Tribune.] Dubuque, Iowa, Sept. 25 .- Iowa is jubilant. Though hardly more than twenty years old, she claims to have produced this year more Wheat than any other State, and more Indian Corn than any but Illinois. Missouri was somewhat ahead of the Corn last year, but the Iowa Corncrop of 1871 covers a much larger area than did that of 1870, and is nearly a quarter heavier per acre, so that the yield is entirely beyond precedent. Then the award to this State of the first place in Apple growing at the recent National Pomological Exhibition at Richmond has still further exalted the honor of the Hawk-Eyes, who seem to me to give that award undue emphasis. That they are succeeding admirably with Apples, I can personally testify. The display at the Des Moines Fair would have done credit to a local Fair in any State of the Union. The fruit was not only large, fair, and abundant; it included most of our favorite varieties, with several new ones, and some that seemed to have been improved by transplantation. In Grapes also, Iowa has done well. I judge that she grows Concords as easily and bountifully as any Dental Collegs, he is fully prepared to make other State, and that her growers could artificial teeth in the most beautiful and life- afford and would contract to supply them like manner, and to fill decayed teeth ac- in large quantities at three cents per pound, and would do better at that price than at Wheat growing. Of Delawares and the more delicate varieties, the product is far less, and I judge more precarious ; still, they all thrive here under careful pains taking culture. Of Pears and Peaches little is said and not many of them exhibited. I learn that the Peachgrowing area is receding southward on this as on the other side of the Alleg-

It seems but yesterday that she had only two Representatives in Congress; now she has six, and in the next House will have eight. And she is likely to grow quite as fast during the next decade as throughout the last. She is building Railroads with great energy and spirit, and each line opened invites and secures a newtide of emmigration. The north west quarter of the State had very few inhabitants up to a recent date . but they are now pouring in, along the lines of the newly epened or half constructed Railroads, in thousands. I learn that barely four counties remain unorganized, encounter no back set, Iowa will double her population between 1870 and 1880.

How to Get Out of Bed.

Dr. Hall does not approve of the old fashioned doctrine which was instilled into the minds of children-namely, that they should spring out of bed the instant they awoke in the morning. He says that "up to eighteen years every child should be allowed ten hours to be in bed. They may not require ten hours' sleep, but time should be allowed to rest in bed, until they feel as if they had rather get up than not. It is a very great and mischievous mistake for persons, old or against it. Fifteen or twenty minutes spent in gradually waking up, after the about three years of age. During nearly eyes are opened, and in turning over and stretching the limbs, do as much good as sound sleep, because these operations set the blood in motion by degrees, tending to equalize the circulation; for during sleep the blood tends to stagnation, the heart beats feebly and slow; and to fore it was in a creep, is the greatest is stated at upwards $12,000.
