HON. R. S. STAPLES, has laid us under obligations for Legislative Documents.

THE publishers of the N. Y. Tribune have presented us with a copy of the Tribune Almanac for 1872, for which they have our thanks. Like its predecessors the Almanac before us is replete with valuable information, statistical and otherwise; and it is a work that cannot fail to prove valuable to all classes of men.

THE House of Representatives at Harrisburg, passed a bill prohibiting the sale of intoxicating drinks, including Ale, Lager and Cider, on Election day hereafter, under the penalty of imprisonment not to exceed 100 days and a fine not to exceed $500. We do not observe our members name in the list of yeas and nays.

At a meeting of the Republican State Central Committee, held at Harrisburg, on Thursday last, April 10th was fixed upon as the day, and Harrisburg as the place of the meeting of the Republican Convention to make arrangements for the usual annual burial of the Democracy in October next. A candidate for Governor, and for Judge of the Supreme Court will be placed in nomination.

Counterfeits ten dollar notes on the Poughkeepsie Bank are circulating largely in New York city.

J. R. Ely, of Harrisburg, has been elected President of the State Agricultural Society for the ensuing year.

Great conflagrations are lighting up the distant horizon with a lurid glare, and we are reminded, while others are suffering, how serious are many of our defects to combat similar calamities.

Mrs. Rosensteh, residing in Bethlehem, was lately possessed of an extra ordinary hen, which laid three eggs as large as those usually produced by geese, and after this trio of exploits, very appropriately departed from this scene of its wonderful deeds, that she might preserve her reputation as a "jayst."

Lost!—On Friday January 18th, on the road between Kellersville and Easton, a large all wool, black and white mixed plaid gentleman's Shawl, light on one side and dark on the other, a hole cut or worn through about the middle of shawl. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving it at the "Stroudsburg House," Stroudsburg, Pa. J. I. ALLENDER.

Miss Kate Buskirk, daughter of Mr. Peter Buskirk, of this borough, recently returned home from Laramie, Wyoming Territory, where she has been residing for a year past. Her many friends here were glad to welcome her home. She brought with her quite a cabinet of curiosities gathered on the plains, among which is a petrified Sage Bush, which is really a beautiful specimen of one of nature's freaks, and well worth looking at.

Small-pox is really decreasing in Philadelphia, the deaths last week being 177, which is 53 less than the highest mortality, three or four weeks ago. The current number of cases has decreased 400 during the same time. The citizens feel quite encouraged at this favorable report, and hope that the time will soon come when the apprehensions of visitors and customers will be entirely removed.

Purgative Pills have become a settled necessity with the American people. Indeed, cathartics always have been and always must be used, in some form, by all mankind. In this country the popular form of administration has been growing in favor since pills were first made of Aloe and Rhubarb, rolled into a ball. Their high position in the public confidence has finally been secured and fastened into permanency by Ayer's Cathartic Pills, the most skillful combination of medicine for the diseases they are intended to cure, that science can devise or art produce. Those who need pills, no longer hesitate what pills to take if they can get Ayer's Pills.—Wheeler, (Va.) Press.

The difficulties growing out of the differences in the Legislature of Louisiana are no nearer a settlement now than they were the day after their occurrence, and what once threatened to be a bloody, promises only to be a war of paper protests, iteration and reiteration of charges of mal-administration and corruption in securing election. The whole affair is a source of an annoyance to all true lovers of Republican peace, and a mine of wealth in the way of gratification to the Democracy, hoping the fight will leave a gap in our ranks in Louisiana by which they will be able to reach controlling political power.

"The Temperance Gazette."

The January number of this paper is double the size of those previously issued, and is filled with instructive and entertaining matter. We take this as indicative of the fact that the paper is well received, and that the Temperance cause is growing in the community.

That the promotion of Temperance, is the promotion of morality and religion, and the general good of society none can deny, and we are therefore glad to chronicle the success of the Gazette, but we would suggest to its Editors the culture of a little temperance in the discussion of intemperate matters, if permanence to the success of the cause or its organ is the object in view.

George Alfred Townsend, in a late letter, says of the Democracy: "The Democratic party is showing how perfectly dead it is by the difficulty of making anything out of its ruins. I have seen about a dozen Democratic members of Congress here, and they all look upon any new party affiliation with that sort of apprehension that an old poorhouse vagrant does when you begin to suggest any new opinion of paper reform. Many of these Democrats fear to break up their grog caucuses at home, of which they now pull the strings by a sort of automatic genius, while any change might result in their replacement by better men under the new coalition. This makes them all stand off."

State Finances.

According to the Auditor General's Report on the Finances for the year ending November 30th, 1871, the government of the State cost $1,026,024.16 for the period covered by the report. This amount was distributed as follows:

State Treasurer,	13,659 12
Surveyor General's Department,	27,781 69
Adjutant General's Department,	6,881 73
Military Historian,	4,255 73
Soldiers' Orphan School Dep't,	10,968 04

EAST STRODSBURG, JAN. 31, 1872.

Mr. Editor:—Improvements appear to be the order of the day in our borough.—We learn that Mr. Singer of Bartonsville has just purchased a lot on Crystal street, opposite to Mr. John Krosge's Hotel property, 40 feet front by 135 feet deep, on which he intends to put up a neat dwelling.

Mr. Ed. Mott, has also purchased the property adjoining that of Mr. Peter Empey, and both of these gentlemen are going to make extensive improvements, as soon as the spring opens.

Mr. Alex. Loder, our late grocery merchant, has purchased a lot fronting on Crystal, Ananokin and Courland streets, for $800, on which he intends putting up a neat dwelling and a large store house, or rather, we might say, thrifty store house, 24 by 40 feet square, as he intends building it with stores in the basement, each 12 by 21 feet, besides the store on the upper floor, which will be the full size of the building; and, we learn, to be occupied by Mr. E. Hibbler, of Stroudsburg, as a wholesale liquor store.—We like Mr. L's taste for neat cottages, taking for a sample the one he has just finished for Mr. David Vauvliet, which certainly does credit to the borough.

We have also been told that Messrs. J. & M. Yetter are about building three houses on their lots near the Catholic church, on Brown and Washington streets.

Mr. B. J. Vancott's new Hotel is going on and nearing completion. We need a good Hotel, kept in good order. We see no reason why Mr. V. cannot keep it. If he cannot we think we could safely say that Mrs. V. can at any rate, if we are any judge of oysters or a good cup of coffee. She certainly knows how to get them up. A house is no home without a woman after all. Our enterprising contractors Messrs. Miller & Gross, deserve some credit for the manner in which Mr. V's home is gotten up, as it is well and substantially built, say nothing of the taste displayed. Another improvement we might note, is the converting of Mr. George Man's one story shanty into a 3d story home. Thanks to Mr. M. for his improvement.

Thus you see Mr. Editor East Stroudsburg is keeping up with the times, and some look forward, at last we may judge so from their actions, when this will be something more than a little borough.

Yours, truly, ENTERPRISE.

Miss Kate Stanton has a lecture on "Whom to Marry." Here are her conclusions, which we print as an original and rather naive advertisement: First to men: "Marry a large woman, one who wears at least a No. 5 shoe; marry a healthy widow with healthy children rather than a young girl, for she has the advantage of experience; but, best of all, marry an old maid, though she is difficult of access." To women: "Marry a healthy man, round like a pumpkin; but don't marry a gossipy man (unless he is a reporter or editor, who is forced professionally to be a gossiper). Above all, don't marry," she said, "a drunkard, a gambler, a quack doctor, or defamer of women."

Mr. Editor:—With all due respect to the journal who numbers me among their subscribers, and also to the party from whom they receive their support—"The Good Templars"—of which I am also known, and proud to be known as a member, I would like to say through the columns of your valuable journal that their "correspondent" who takes a back seat in "Christy's" and casts reflections upon gentlemen who love music and a good Piano should not allow himself, with two months study and preparation, to bring before the public an article that I or any one else as a Temperance man must feel insulted by.—He says "we sat in the corner until ALL HANDS were asked up to the Bar, which being complied with was kept up until the Landlord was intoxicated." With but a word more of what this correspondent should have—as a temperance man, written about.—Minor, he says on our way out, we saw a young man "casting up accounts."—Query? who was that young man? the one that sat in the corner until all hands were asked up? or was it your present correspondent, the article fails to state.

HONESTY.

Great scarcity of lumber, the coming season, is apprehended by those best acquainted with the condition of the trade. The want of snow in the lumber districts, and the consequent lowness of the streams, have interfered with the getting out of logs. The following statement of the white pine lumber on hand at the mills and in Philadelphia and Baltimore, January 1, as compared with the same time last year, is condensed from a Williamsport paper:

1872.	1871.	1870.
Total Jan. 1, 73,719,883 ft.	150,192,675 ft.	206,690,157 ft.
Deficiency as compared with 1871		80,472,792 ft.
Deficiency as compared with 1870		129,970,274 ft.

The Republican State Convention of Connecticut met at Hartford last Wednesday. Governor Jewell and the other State officers were unanimously re-nominated. The platform adopted sustains the National Administration, favors reduction of the debt and of taxation, a tariff for revenue only, improvement of the National Banking system, abolition of the franking privilege, the granting of the public lands to settlers only, the enforcement of temperance and education, and labor reform. Governor Jewell, Messrs. Bartlett Rentz, Lubin L. Sayles and John Tweedy were chosen delegates at large to the National Convention.

The Grand Duke Alexis finished his buffalo hunt on the plains greatly to his satisfaction. Fifty-six buffaloes in all were killed by the party, two of which were despatched by the Duke himself.—A sort of fete was held in the camp after the hunt was over, the Indians danced, the white men made congratulatory speeches and the Grand Duke distributed presents right and left. He next proceeded down the Mississippi to join the Russian fleet at New Orleans.

The New York Evening News says the Grand Jury of the Court of General Sessions has found an immense number of indictments. They found that large quantities of money had been placed in banks at times to the credit of certain members of the "Ring." In one case $1,800,000 was placed to the credit of one of the "Ring" men. It has also been proven that in one day over six millions were stolen from the city treasury. Five indictments were found against Tweed, and fifteen against Connolly.

While the small pox is ravaging so many portions of Christendom, poor Persia is still suffering from famine. Organized succor seems to centre in London, and there is need enough of it.—The agent of the London relief society at Isphahan telegraphs that ten thousand persons are dependent upon him for aid.—The daily deaths from starvation in the country are about three thousand. He adds that $15,000 a month would not provide food for the poor creatures who have no means of subsistence.

The Denton (Md.) Union says: A gentleman informs us that a few weeks ago while at Lewes, Del., a fisherman living near that place, at Rehoboth Bay, caught at a single haul 10,000 pounds of rock and 300 bushels of large white peach, and sold the haul at the railroad station for the sum of $1400 cash. This was a large haul, and what made it of more importance to the successful fisherman was, that he was a very poor man, and this streak of good luck placed him in easy circumstances.

In reply to our Masontown correspondent we have to say that the game law says: "It shall not be lawful for any person within the commonwealth to shoot, kill, or in any way trap or destroy any blue bird, swallow, martin or other insectivorous bird at any season of the year, under the penalty of two dollars." No special mention is made of the chicken hawk here or in any other section of the law, and we hardly think it could be classed as an insectivorous bird.

How to Thaw out Pumps or Water-Pipes. Procure a piece of India rubber pipe as long as any emergency will require.—It should have a little less than a quarter of an inch bore, and walls thick enough to be quite stiff. Apply one end of this upon a common funnel, and run the other end into the water pipe down as far as the ice. When hot water is poured in, the ice will melt before the end of the tube, out of which it runs with great rapidity, and of course the tube must be pushed along down as fast as it melts.

Various charges having been made against the conduct and management of the Philadelphia mint by persons inimical to the President, Secretary Boutwell appointed the Comptroller of the Treasury, Hon. R. W. Taylor, to examine into the truth or falsity of them. He reports as follows: "After listening to the testimony I find that there is nothing in the evidence which in the slightest degree impeaches the character of Gov. Pollock, the Director, or of Mr. Snowden, the Chief Coiner, in personal honor or official integrity."

The salaries of the County Superintendents of this State during the past school year amounted to $68,661.

A victim of Greeley's handwriting says: "If Horace had written that inscription on the wall in Babylon, Belshazzar would have been a good deal more scared than he was."

The tornado that recently passed over a part of Centre township, Indiana county, destroyed a grove of timber on the farm of Mrs. Nancy Landfair valued at $1,000.

The fox hunters of Uniontown had an exciting chase on the mountain last week. Seventeen hunters on horseback and twenty seven hounds, all after one gray fox. They caught it.

Senator Scott, of Pa., has presented to Congress a petition asking for an amendment to the Constitution forbidding men from holding office, who drink spirituous liquors.

William Tweed has been sent to prison at Buffalo for stealing a ride on a railroad. If it had been the original Tweed he would have stolen the railroad and gone through the prison like a buffalo bull through a cobweb.

Mary had a little lamb, With hair as fine as silk; The longer Mary lived, the more she found that lamb a bilk. For all that hair was only flax. On that deceitful brute; But Mary hadn't much to say, For her's was only June.

A bill has been introduced into the Legislature providing that "from and after the passage of this act no mortgage shall be valid against liens for labor performed or materials furnished for more than the value of said property at the time said mortgage was created."

A Chicago despatch gives a report that the small pox is raging fearfully in Thayer, Iowa. The town has a population of less than 1000, yet over 60 have died from the disease within four weeks, and "almost every person in the town" is now said to be sick.

A young lady at Council Bluffs being informed by her "feller" that he intended to cease his attentions, cowardly him around the room, and as he sprang through the open window, told him, with a parting lick, that that would teach him to be more careful for the future not to trifle with a gentle and loving heart.

The Texas Cattle Trade.

Few people have an adequate idea of the Texas cattle trade. It is estimated that 600,000 head of beef have been driven from Texas into Kansas, Nebraska, and the Western States and territories during the past year. It takes about 20,800 head of beef annually to supply the Indians. For these the Government pays in all the range of country between the Rocky Mountains and the Mississippi, as high up as British America, they receive cattle from Texas. They are driven in immense droves through the Indian country without molestation. As a drove travels but six or eight miles a day when on a long journey, the cattle improve and increase in flesh when the grass is good. Many cattle are driven to the Pacific coast, but in this trade few beefs are taken, the principal portion of the droves consisting of heifers intended for stock raisers. It takes two seasons to get a drove through from Texas to Washington Territory on the Pacific; but the prices obtained there yield a heavy profit to the drovers.

An Awful Mystery—Father and Daughter Burned Alive.

One cold night about New Year, a cry of fire was raised in Mount Bethel, a little town about seven miles from Plainfield, in Somerset county, N. J. A building over a hundred years old was in flames. It was occupied by a German farmer named Beust.

He missed one of his daughters, and ran back into the house to save her.—He had caught her in his arms, and was making his way to the door, when the fire gave way, and both were burned to death. Since then the ruins of the house have been removed. The mansion was built in the old fashioned style, with huge fireplaces in two of the rooms, the chimneys sloping toward each other, joining before reaching the roof.

Walled in the cavity between the two fireplaces a human skeleton in perfect preservation was discovered. An old flint-lock musket stood at its side. The musket is of the old British pattern. It is supposed that the remains are those of a Tory soldier who met his death during the Revolution.

The remains of the father and daughter were also found in the ruins.

We take the following from the Philadelphia Press: For more than half a century Pennsylvania has stood the guardian of the diversified industries of the country, and never before did greater responsibility rest upon her shoulders than at this hour. Let her press and her people, of one accord, unite in denouncing and in resolving to defeat the proposed surrender of the Finance Committee of the Senate to the agents of the British manufacturers now assembled in Washington. This is the time, once and forever, to crush out these insidious enemies of our prosperous country, and to teach the whole world that we mean to manage our affairs in our own way, and without foreign interference. One blow to-day will save the necessity of a score a month or a thousand a year hence. We must and we can avert the ruin which these men have in store for us, for ruin they certainly mean, as nothing short of the utter prostration of our industries will satisfy them, if by the aid of the Senate Committee they now win. This will be merely an entering wedge, and a victory which will spur them on to renewed exertions. Let not a moment be lost, but let the State be roused from her eastern to her western, from her northern to her southern border, and all will yet be well!

A correspondent of the New York Times condenses the history of what has been done in the interests of civil reform during the last three years in the following paragraph:—"The Administration has brought to account for default or embezzlement, forty Internal Revenue officers, fifteen Customs officers, thirteen officers of the Interior Department, 105 Postmasters, sixteen money order officers, four officers of the navy and two of the army—198 in all, involving an actual or possible loss to the Government of $2,301,621. Of this list, 159 were appointed by previous Administrations and thirty-nine by the present one, the loss accruing from the former being $1,981,513; from the latter only $320,108."

In California the Chinese are said to be organizing camp meetings.

A CHICAGO PHYSICIAN.

Dr. Joseph S. Lane, of 351 State St., Chicago, writes "I was called in to see a case of inflammation of the Kidneys that had been treated by one of our most eminent physicians. I saw from the symptoms that if your Misher's Herb Bitters was what it was represented to be it would be the best thing I could prescribe. I did so, and with the most gratifying results. The patient had been confined to her room for some time, but after a few days use of the Bitters, she was able to be about and is now doing her own household work. I think very highly of your preparation and intend to use it constantly in my practice." Feb 1, '72-1m.

MARRIED.

[The 550th wedding.]
On the 25th of January, by Rev. Jos. R. Foelt, at the house of Mr. William Berger, Mr. Anthony Staples and Miss Sallie Hofner, both of Monroe county, Pa.

DIED.

In Coolbaugh township, Monroe county, Pa. on Wednesday, January 17th, 1872, after a long and painful illness, Jane C., wife of John P. Dowling, Esq., aged 63 years 11 mo. & 3 days.

This estimable lady, with her husband, came from New York City, about forty years ago and settled in the northern part of this county. Here they contended against all the hardships and privations incident to an early settlement in a wild, unsettled region of country, but with that stern energy and perseverance which was a peculiar characteristic of both herself and husband, they battled successfully against every trial and difficulty that presented itself to them, and succeeded, not only in raising a large family but also in accumulating enough of this world's goods to place themselves in a comfortable position. The deceased was a most devoted wife and loving, affectionate mother. Her course through this life was one of honor and usefulness. She was noted for sweetness of disposition, energy of character and love of Christ. She was a faithful, consistent member of the Protestant Episcopal Church and in all her long journey through this life she never for a moment lost sight of her Savior. She endeavored, faithfully and earnestly to discharge the duties devolving upon her as a christian wife and mother and to train up her children in the way they should go. Her career on earth is ended. She has bade a final adieu to husband, sons, daughters and friends and has entered upon her everlasting reward and if you ask where is Mrs. Jane C. Dowling, but one answer can be given, and that is, she is in heaven with Christ her Savior. A long life of usefulness and of trust and confidence in the religion of the Bible has fitted and prepared her for the enjoyment of the saints rest in heaven, and while she has left those behind who were dear to her, her pure soul is basking in the sunbeams of light and bliss. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. S. R. Gillingham of Tobyhanna. Her remains were interred in Sterling, Wayne county, Pa., and were followed to the grave by a large concourse of mourning relatives and friends.

In Stroudsburg, on the 18th of January John C., daughter of John O. and Sarah P. Saylor, aged 7 years and 28 days.

A sweet and loving child was given, A while to claim our care, And now our Ida, waits in Heaven, To bid us welcome there. We shall we mourn a death like this, No will try to be resigned, With the hope that thou art best, There we leave thee precious, Ida.
