Philip Gearhart, Esq., of Chestnut township, on the 2nd inst., killed a sixteen month old hog, of the Chester White breed, which weighed, dressed, 696½ pounds. This is the largest hog that has been killed in this county, so far as we have heard.

We have been requested to announce that, the Post Office arrangements, for Christmas and New Year days will be as follows:—Open at 9 A. M. and close at half past 10 A. M.; Open at 12 M. and close at 2 P. M., and open from 4 to 5 P. M.

Found.—In front of the residence of Robert Boys in Stroudsburg, a few days since, a Ladies Satchel, containing some articles of value. The owner can have the same by calling on Mr. Boys, identifying the same and pay for this notice. Dec. 5, '72-3t. ROBERT BOYS.

Those desiring to purchase good Furniture will be interested to learn that John Baldwin can furnish a complete outfit for a merely nominal sum. His place of business is in the second story of Jerome S. Williams' new brick building, corner of Monroe and George street. Read his advertisement in another column, and then go and see how it is yourself.

Religious.—Special services will be held in East Stroudsburg Hall, on Sunday December 22d, preaching at 10.30 a. m. and 3 p. m. by Bishop Foster, of the M. E. Church and at 7 p. m. by Prof. Butz of "Drew Theological Seminary." Subscriptions will be received during the day for a Church building for the M. E. Society, of East Stroudsburg.

P. S. The above arrangement is indefinitely postponed.

Courtship and Marriage.—A Lecture on this subject will be delivered in Cherry Valley M. E. Church, by Rev. Geo. W. F. Graff of this town, on Christmas night December 25th, 1872. Admission 50 cents. Tickets can be had at the stores of Stormsville and Bossardville and at the door on the evening of the Lecture. The proceeds are for the benefit of the ministers in charge of the circuit. Lecture to commence at 7½ o'clock.

Death on the Rail.—On Thursday last as Mr. John Garside, a spinner, formerly employed in the Woolen Mills, was picking coal on the railroad, he was struck by the locomotive of southern bound noon passenger train, and so severely injured as to cause his death in a few hours thereafter. The deceased was a very clever, inoffensive man, and was much respected by all who knew him. He was very deaf, and evidently did not hear the approaching train, to which his back was turned. Every effort was made by the Engineer and Fireman to attract his attention, by blowing the whistle and throwing small pieces of coal at him, but without avail. He leaves a family, (wife and two small children) in indigent circumstances to mourn his loss.

John J. Patterson, formerly from Pennsylvania, was elected Senator from South Carolina, to succeed Mr. Sawyer, on Tuesday last. This result was unexpected, and Mr. Patterson's rivals caused him to be arrested on a charge of bribery. Col. Patterson at one time represented Juniata county in the Pennsylvania Legislature, but since the war has resided in South Carolina.

Brown & Keller, have certainly hit the nail on the head this time in their efforts to please both the big and the little folks, during the holidays. A general examination of the department of their business, devoted to Christmas and New Year's presents, both for old and young, has convinced us that no region of Toy-dom was left unsearched, in their determination to be able to meet any demand upon them. Our whole newspaper would hardly afford space enough to make mere mention of half the things they have for sale; but we know that no matter what you seek, from the penny whistle, to the gem that runs way up in the dollars, you cannot fail to find it at Brown & Keller's. While we met with many a toy, familiar to us from our youth up, we saw a surprising number of novelties, either of which could not fail to make some big or little heart happy. Call by all means, and call early so as to secure a choice; and whether it be a family Bible or Hymn book, fit for a present from a king or queen to a prince or princess, a jeweled memento, or a toy, you will be surprised both at their excellence of quality, and at their extreme cheapness.

MR. EDITOR:—During the session of the Teachers' Institute, which it was our good pleasure to attend, we noticed, more particularly, a remark made by Prof. Coffman, if our memory serves us right, that to study man we must study children, for children are men.—We know not how the Prof. would explain this utterance, but we do know that it set us to thinking, and watching and searching the child more, and we are constrained to say there is more in children than we are willing to believe without personal proofs. Last Wednesday evening, hearing that there was to be an Exhibition and Concert given by the Children of the Scott M. E. Sunday School, in East Stroudsburg, we thought, to while away a leisure hour, we would walk over, and see and hear what was to be seen and heard; little dreaming of the treat that was in store for us. Having procured our ticket, we were ushered into the Exhibition room, and found it already nearly filled with cheerful, happy faces. The seats being all occupied, we secured a reserved seat on our feet, as our only resort. We found the Stage for the Children very handsomely decorated with crimson red curtains and neatly pinked paper, and over the front part of the Stage, suspended from the ceiling in large letters, the word "Welcome". When we saw this, we felt at home, feeling it was the voice of Children, though the room was as yet minus their presence. We found the lights turned down low, which threw a lovely cast over the room, and upon the ornaments surrounding the Stage.—At about twenty-five minutes after 7 o'clock, the lights were turned up light, and with them the light of every heart seemed to brighten up, and the merry, cheerful, words could be heard all around us—they are coming. A few minutes later the tramping of infant feet were heard on the stage-way, and in marched the School, headed by Mr. Wilson Pierson, the Superintendent. They were dressed in neat dresses, the Girls generally in white. They presented a very fine appearance and marched in the following order: First, the Infant class, followed by the Boys of the School, and immediately after these was the young Ladies of the Bible Class, followed by the Girls of the School. They marched in, two by two, and very orderly, and were assigned seats; the Infant class and Scholars of the School on the Stage, and the Bible class, seated immediately in front.—After the preliminary arrangements had been made, the Pastor, Rev. Daniel Young, came forward and announced the Hymn, to be found on the Programme, which each one had been provided with, as they entered the room. This was a feature that we liked, for instead of puzzling our brains about what was coming next, as we generally do at all such entertainments, we could just consult the Programme and see what was coming.

After the singing of the hymn—"All Hail the power of Jesus' name" the Pastor led in prayer, when the opening address was very ably delivered by Orin Rhodes. Time will not permit us to enumerate all that we saw and heard. Several pieces attracted our special attention, however, one, particularly by Miss Francis Stouffer in the character of Mrs. Caudle, assisted by W. S. Barger as Mr. Caudle. The infant class, though such a scene, to them was evidently new, did well in delineating the character of God—each little girl, nine in number, holding a fan, with a large letter in sparkling colors, which they held with the blank side out, only turning it as they recited their verse. After all was turned letter out they spent nothing until they recited a verse in chorus, when they stepped into different places, like clock work, and then it was we saw, "God is Love." The Little Brown Church, a Trio, was beautifully sung by Misses Lizzie, Emma and Edward Morgan. The New Scholar, The Bridal Wine Cup, and the Gleasons, were all handsomely performed. There were a number of pieces, by the smaller children, that were spoken well; among them Master Georgie Peiron, who, indeed, acted well the part of the man. Master Willie Kresge did well with his Great Man and Tin Grater and Potatoe. The singing by the school was well done, one deserving particular praise being a whistling piece, the girls singing the chorus and the boys whistling it. We are sorry time and space will not permit us to comment on all the pieces, for we truly think all who had any part in the exercises deserve great credit. The committee who had charge of the training of the children must, we think, have been blessed with great patience to accomplish such results. Though the Programme was lengthy it was gone through with in good time, and about 10 o'clock we were formally dismissed by the Pastor, when the school again struck up one of their beautiful hymns, while the people slowly wended their way out, many of them seeming loth to leave the spot. Having thus spent one of the pleasant evenings of our life, we quietly wended our way homeward, thinking of a truth that children are men. STRONDSBURG.

Immediately after the October election a great cry was made by the Democracy that the Hon. L. D. Shoemaker and other leading Republicans of Luzerne county had resorted to bribery to make votes for the Republican State ticket. Mr. Shoemaker and the other Republicans thus charged, demanded a legal investigation of their acts, which has just been had, and which fully exculpates them from all the charges brought against them. The prosecution was not able to sustain a single point in this allegation, and the acquittal of Mr. Shoemaker and his associate was complete.

A bill has been reported to prevent the circulation of counterfeit, altered and spurious United States and national bank notes. The bill provides that any officer of a national bank who may receive, or to whom may be offered in business, any counterfeit United States or national bank note, is authorized and required to write or stamp plainly upon the face of such note the word "counterfeit." In case of altered or spurious notes, those words shall, in like manner, be stamped upon the notes.

A bill has been introduced in the House increasing the President's salary to $50,000 per year. A joint resolution amending the Constitution has been presented and favorably received, providing that the President and Vice President shall be chosen for a term of six years, and shall be ineligible for re-election. It also provides that they shall be elected by a direct vote of the people. Another proposition is that United States Senators shall be elected by popular vote in their respective States.

Joseph Jefferson is still at his home in Hohokus, a manufacturing town in Bergen county, New Jersey, on the Erie Railway, twenty five miles from New York. Jefferson's eyes, which were thought to have quite recovered, do not improve, and some of the oculists who have attended him have very little hopes of his getting any better. The medical gentlemen even have fears that the comedian's brain is affected, and that he will never be in a condition warranting his return to the stage.

The excitement in and around Petrolia continues unabated, and but a few days since a well was struck in the centre of the town, which commenced flowing with such force that the workmen were compelled to quit work. It is owned by Delemeter Bros., of Meadville, and is only three feet in the third sand, and its production is estimated by experienced operators at something over one hundred barrels a day. Immense quantities of gas are escaping, and on Sunday jets of oil were frequently thrown many feet above the top of the derrick.

The recent storms have been very destructive on the Lakes and elsewhere.—On Lake Superior three schooners were founded with all on board, and two barges broke loose from a towing steamer and all their hands were lost. On Tuesday twenty-eight canal boats in tow of a steamer were sunk by the gale while passing through the highlands of the Hudson. They were loaded with 3500 tons of coal. In New York and Brooklyn the wind did considerable damage to buildings. A church was blown down in Williamsburg.

The Pennsylvania Peace Society held its sixth anniversary in Philadelphia, on Tuesday last. Lucretia Mott presided. Letters were read from Gerritt Smith, Celia Burleigh and others, and addresses were read by Dr. H. T. Child, Alfred H. Love, Lucretia Mott, Malvina S. Town send, of Vermont, Stephen H. Tait, of Iowa, and John M. Spear. The resolutions compliment President Grant for his comprehensive and humanitarian Indian policy, and declare that human life should be so revered that neither battlefield or scaffold be licensed to destroy it.

A Touching incident is reported from Chattanooga. An utter stranger called on a respectable farmer last week, and asked him if his house had not been robbed during the war. The farmer replied that it had.

"I," said the man, "was one of the marauding party that did it. I took a little silver pocket."

"That pocket," said the farmer, melted to tears, "had been worn by my dear, dead child."

"Here it is," replied the stranger, visibly affected; "I am rich but let me make restitution—here are twenty dollars for your little son."

He gave the farmer a fifty dollar bill, and received thirty dollars in change. He then wrung the farmer's hand warmly and left. The farmer has dried his tears and loaded his shot gun. The fifty dollar bill was bad.

A PANIC IN THE OIL REGIONS.
TITUSVILLE, Penn., Dec. 16.—The failure of the Producers and Refiners' Associations to perfect negotiations has caused something of a panic in the oil regions, and there was a general break in the prices of crude oil to day. There were heavy offerings at $3.70 for spot oil on the Upper Creek and at Oil City, and $3.50 at Parker's, without buyers. Prices fell 10 cents per barrel, and 4,000 barrels were immediately sold. This was followed by a further decline of from five to 10 cents. The excitement is at fever heat, and lower prices are expected.

Superiority of Alderney Milk.
The comparative value of the milk of Alderney and common cows has been the subject of a recent trial by Thomas M. Harvey, formerly of the Experimental Farm at West Grove. Friend Harvey is now conducting a large farm on his own account, but still finds time and occasion for profitable experiments. In the Practical Farmer for December he gives the result of his investigations on the above question. He took eight quarts each of Alderney (Guernsey) and native milk—the former weighing 17 pounds 4 ounces, and the latter 17 pounds 6 ounces when set. The cream from the common cows measured 9-16th of a quart and weighed 19 ounces; that from the Alderneys measured 11 quarts and weighed 504 ounces. The time required for churning was 35 minutes for the native, and 22 minutes for the Alderney cream. The product of butter was 9 ounces from the natives, and 22 ounces from the Alderneys. The common butter lost half an ounce in working; the Alderney butter lost nothing. From this trial Friend Harvey concludes that a pound of butter can be obtained from 61 quarts of Alderney milk, while some cows will yield a pound from 6 quarts. It requires from 12 to 14 quarts of ordinary milk to produce a pound of butter. Alderney milk, in consequence of the large percentage of cream, weighs somewhat less per quart than common milk. The butter is of a rich color and appearance, and needs no addition of foreign substances. The native cows kept by Mr. Harvey, whose milk was used in this experiment, are rather better than the average of their class—Bucks Co. Int.

AN ANTI-CHINESE BLAST.
The substitution of Chinese for white labor in the Beaver Fair (Penn.) Cutlery Works has roused the indignation of The Pittsburgh Chronicle. That journal seems to think that John Chinaman's food disqualifies him from taking any part in the American race for work, wages, and happiness. It blows this bugle blast:

While the leading nation of Europe is taking measures to prevent its intelligent and able bodied citizens from emigrating to other lands, right here at home we are bringing in squads of mean minded wretches who feed on refuse matter, and are thereby enabled to work for a mere pittance, to supplant men who have families to support and educated, men who are citizens, and who in time of war will be called upon to shoulder the musket in the common defense. We know of no legislation to interfere with such business, but public sentiment ought to frown upon it. It is a degrading thing. If our manufacturing establishments cannot be carried on without importing such operatives, we will simply drive stout, sensible white men from this whole vast field of labor, and put in every manufacturing community a colony of disgusting laborers who have no sympathy or parcel in our best institutions, no sympathy in common with anything we enjoy as a people. If this is the way we are to compete with foreign industry, let us not talk any more in the halls of Congress about paper labor. Earl up the protection flag and bring on these squat heathen who burlesque humanity. Let them take your money, but when—"The blast of war blows in our ears," do not go to the men who would not eat filth in order to retain their situations and ask them to fulfill the gravest duty of a citizen.

Costs of Railroad.
The following is the average cost of running the engines of the Belvidere Delaware Railroad for one month. There are 33 engines employed in the passenger and freight business of the road, and the following statements are only the actual expenses of the locomotives, and do not include the expenses of the cars, &c.—The number of miles traveled is as follows: Freight engines, 29,627; passenger engines, 22,082; distributing engines, 4,425; making the total number of miles traveled 56,134. The engines consume 5,266 cords of wood and 20,303 bushels of coal, the total cost of which averages $7,901.04. The cost of stores, oil, waste and tallow for one month is $705.61, and the whole expense of locomotives per month, including repairs, is $13,873.58.—Trenton Emporium.
