THURSDAY JULY 31, 1873.

THE Republican Convention for the nomination of candidates, for the State Treasurership and Judge of the Supreme Court, will assemble at Harrisburg, on Wednesday, the 13th of August next. From the number of good names presented for the several positions, it will not be a difficult matter for the delegates to select such nominnees as will receive the undivided support of every true Republican in the State.

Hereabouts we are not divided as to men. Having confidence in the probity of Republican Conventions, Monroe County Republicans are content to take the action of a majority of the members as an expression not only of the will of the majority, but also quent advancement of our best interests.

In our lookings around at the situation, it has not failed to strike our vision, that, within the party, we have still left a few of those They are particulary hard on rings, which trict. they see rolling around loose, in every move ings will be rated for just what they are pened worth, and the August Convention will go on with its work as coolly and as calmly as in safe line of victory.

The people heard them without alarm and, rejoicing the protrusion of the cloven foot rebuked the miserable recreants, by giving such majorities for the men of their choicefor Hartranft, Allen and Murcur, and for Grant and Wilson as had not been given for other candidates since the Republic began.

Then too we have the Democratic leaders and the Democratic organs harping on this same tune of reform. They are terribly fearful that the August Republican Convention will not nominate men measured by the Democratic scale of honesty and fitness. They, too, are fearful of ring machinations and ring success. They, too, aspire to lead the Republican party in such manner, that they may reach the goal for which they have wasted a decade of time in vain to reachthe offices of the land and their emoluments. They too aspire to a hand in shaping our reached the Republican party, and that the what quarter it may.
