The Man Who Keeps a Cow. The man across the way who enjoyed vegetables fresh from his own garden through the summer, has bought a cow. His wife told him how nice it would be to have a cow on the premises, so to have milk fresh and pure every day, and always in time, and always in abundance. Then they could make butter themselves and not eat the rank stuff out of the store. She told him there was enough stuff from cow, and the product would be just about | band : so much clear gain. A BALLOON VOYAGE.

LANDS IN NEW CANAAN, CONN. The problem of making a balloon voyage to Europe was believed by many per sons yesterday to be in process of solution where they learned that the aerial car which floated over the city about 9 30 a m. was the Graphic Balloon, though much reduced in size. The late failure at the Capitoline Grounds, made people, to some extent, suspicious of the real intention of those concerned in the enterprise. It was then gratifying to learn that Donaldson and his companions had undertaken the trip though without the company of of Prof. Wise, for whom the balloon had first been ostensibly prepared. At twen ty minutes past ten the Signal Service officer at the Equitable building on Broad way was able to get a last glimpse of the balloon, and long before that time it had disappeared from the view of the many who watched its progress from street, bal cony, housetop, and church steeple.

The process of inflating the ballon, on

Saturday, and its condition up to Sunday, and its condition up to Sunday night have been already detailed. The inflation was re sumed, yesterday morning, and was completed about 9. Fifteen minutes later the balloon was declared to be ready for its voyage. Messrs. Donaldson, Lunt, and Ford took their places, the rope holding the balloon was cut with an ax, and ascended, and Mr Donaldson was seen to wave an acknowledgment with his hat. in the boat were plainly visible.
