

The Jeffersonian

THURSDAY, APRIL 9, 1874.

By the vigorous action of Gov. Hart... the insurrection at the Susquehanna Depot, on the Erie railroad, an account of which was published in this paper last week, was promptly quelled.

Connecticut Election.

The state election in this state, which took place, on Monday last, resulted in a Democratic victory.

NEW HAVEN, April 7-1 A. M.—The election has resulted in a sweeping Democratic victory. Returns received at the Palladium office up to this hour, a few towns only being wanting, give Ingersoll a plurality of 5,796 over Harrison, Republican, and a majority of 1,669. Smith, Prohibition, received a little over 4,000.

The Senate stands 16 Democrats to 5 Republicans, and the House is heavily Democratic. Two candidates for Governor are residents of this city, which gave Ingersoll 411; Harrison, 354; Smith, 256. An election has been made by the people, and the heavy Democratic majority in the General Assembly renders the choice of a Democratic United States Senator an easy matter.

The State election in Rhode Island last Wednesday was a one-sided contest, the Democrats presenting no candidates. For Governor Henry Howard had 12,269 votes, and over 10,500 majority. A prohibition candidate for Lieutenant-Governor had 6,512 votes, but was not elected. The Legislature is very largely Republican, but personal aspirations for the United States Senatorship influenced the election more than general politics. The friends of General Barnside claim to have carried a majority of members in his favor. It is pretty well settled that Senator Sprague will not be re-elected.

Old news papers for sale at this office.

The extra meetings in the M. E. Church closed last week.

EASTER, to the little ones, was a day of feasting on "frescod" eggs.

EASTER SUNDAY was generally observed in all our churches with appropriate services.

In another column will be found a list of changes occurring on or about the 1st of April.

"DOWN TOWN" has been unusually quiet for the past two or three weeks. Last Saturday night, however, the "charmed spell" was broken by a row. No one seriously hurt.

THE weather during last week has been decidedly rough for the season, some part of the time exceedingly so, but it now has the appearance of getting down to fair reasonable weather.

OYSTER SUPPER.—An oyster supper will be held at Shafer's School House for the benefit of the Sunday school, on Thursday evening, April the 16th. The public in general is cordially invited.

PETER H. ROBESON, sold 1 acre and 14 perches of land, situate in Stroud township, near the Iron Bridge, for $200, to John Sellwood. Mr. S. has commenced the erection of a dwelling house on the same.

JAMES SLACK, the young lad who was injured by the cars at Portland, Northampton county, on the 24th ult., an account of which we published at the time, died, from the effects of the injuries he received, on Wednesday last.

All lovers of the weed, who wish a royal good Havana or yara segar, should call on Charles P. Mick, whose advertisement appears in another column. Mick's segars have a reputation for quality and flavor, surpassed by no other brands in the country.

SIMON FRIED, the Boot and Shoe dealer and Clothier, has gone to the city to lay in a full stock and assortment of every thing in his line required to meet the demands of the Spring trade. Prepare to give him a call worthy of his preparation.

PROF. W. A. LEWIS, who has been instructing our horsemen for some time past, in the management of the horse, has subdued some of the most vicious horses in the country by his system of breaking and training. The system is simple and is in no way injurious to the horse.

PROLIFIC.—Mr. Jacob Kober, residing near Buttermilk Falls, in Smithfield township, this county, is the owner of seven ewes, which gave birth to fifteen lambs. Six of the ewes had twins, and the other one had triplets. One of the triplets died shortly after birth. The others are all alive and doing well. Who can beat this?

THE gypsies have made their appearance. A grand cavalcade, consisting of twelve horses, eight wagons, men, women and children, the latter too numerous to mention, passed through town last Tuesday. The Poet and Novelist can write page after page on a "beautiful gypsy maiden," but we can not. In vain did we look for the sweet face, flowing curls, and symmetrical form that moves with the grace and ease of the "light gazelle."

A SORRY sight to see so many of our promising young men lumbering along our streets at late hours under the influence of "benzine." Persons who sell intoxicating liquors to minors, deserve having the severest penalty of the law inflicted upon them.

KEENER & Co., while fishing with a seine in McMichael's creek, at Kerr's bridge, last Tuesday, caught 1650 suckers, at one haul. Keener could not have been there for some years past or they would not have been so successful. In most streams his name is a terror to the finny tribe, even the red-fins have learned to hiss it, and sound the alarm at his approach.

THE Monroe Band of Brodheads, this County visited our town on Wednesday of last week, and succeeded in making our streets quite lively. We learned that this is a newly organized Band, having taken only 17 lessons under their efficient leader, Prof. Wm. Moran, of Mauch Chunk.—Considering this fact their rendering of several pieces was remarkably good, showing the Prof. to be a credit to the Band and the Band an honor to the Prof. Our folks will welcome them again should they honor us with another call.

TWO FRESH ARRIVALS.—A few days ago on opening a copy of the Wayne County Citizen, we found a poor miserable starved out bed bug. On Friday last, on receiving our copy of the Scranton Morning Republican, we discovered another miserable looking cuss, barely able to crawl. Gents feed up your favorites before sending them abroad, or else keep them at home. Prof. Lee, the tonsorial artist, has a variety of these precious parasites some of which have feathers on their legs, and should these little "critters" lately imported from Luzerne and Wayne counties attempt to invade the Professor's domain they would be right speedily exterminated.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS DEDICATION.—On Wednesday evening, April 1, Active Lodge, No. 339, dedicated their new hall, in the third story of Samuel Huffman's building. The dedicatory services were performed by Grand Chancellor James McIntosh and Venerable Grand Patriarch Geo. Hawkes, of the Grand Lodge, assisted by members of Active Lodge. The ceremonies were impressive and interesting to all who assembled with the chivalrous Knights. A large number of ladies graced the occasion with their presence.

Our local quartette, composed of Harry S. Wolf, Miss Annie Wolf, Gus. McCarty, and Frank Hess, enlivened the ceremonies with choice airs, rendered in a style that would do credit to more practiced professionals. The affair was altogether a pleasant one, and one that will long be remembered by the "valiant knights" and those who assembled with them.

As an evidence of returning prosperity of the business interests of the Country, the New York papers notice the full resumption of the "Domestic" Sewing Machine Co. We quote from the "World" of March 24th.

THE "DOMESTIC" RESUMES. The Domestic Sewing Machine Company, which in common with so many other business establishments was forced into a temporary suspension during the course of the panic, has recently been enabled to resume in full. Its assets have at all times been more than sufficient to meet all its liabilities, and its original capital stock has never been in any way imperilled; but the general tightness and stagnation of three months ago, forced it into a temporary difficulty which was magnified at the time into something more serious than it really was. All that it ever asked of its creditors was a trifling extension of time, proposing to pay all obligations in full, principal and interest. This was promptly and cheerfully granted, and the result was shown that the confidence in the management of the Company was not misplaced, for their business now goes on as heretofore. A statement of their affairs show that over and above all liabilities they have their entire capital stock or $1,000,000 unimpaired. Heretofore they have manufactured all their machines in Providence, R. I., but hereafter their principal manufactory will be in Newark, N. J. Their paper fashion department is conducted in the new building of the Company, at the corner of Fourteenth Street and Broadway.

One hundred and fifty dollars conscience money was received at the Treasury Department yesterday from a citizen of Washington city.

There is a farmer near Flushing who owns a Kentucky bred mule that has, within the last thirty days, kicked in seventeen barn doors, unroofed a dozen chicken coops, and trampled the life out of four of his favorite pigs. He calls it Ben Butler.

Edwin M. Lewis, trustee in bankruptcy of Jay Cooke & Co., has informed one of the creditors of that concern that he has $349,000 of funds now on hand, and that he will be able to make a dividend of five per cent as soon as he realizes $300,000 additional, which he expects to do soon, by the sale of some valuable property.

A child was lately born in North Carolina which has but one eye, one ear and one nostril, twelve fingers and twelve toes, and is neither male nor female. It is from all appearance a healthy child, although it eats but very little. The greatest excitement prevails in the neighborhood. People are coming a long distance to see this living curiosity.

The way the money goes is shown in the case of the late Legrand Lockwood's marble palace and forty acres of finely ornamented grounds at Norwalk, Connecticut, now offered for sale for less than $350,000, the cost of which was between two and three millions. Three are doors which cost $2000 each, a billiard room that cost $1,000, forty-nine rooms gorgeously decorated, with polished marble, inlaid woodwork, frescoes, &c., and no two rooms alike; and then there are the conservatories, stables, porter's lodge, and other buildings, all on the same extravagant scale.

PRISON ESCAPES CHECKED.

DISCOVERY OF THE MANNER IN WHICH SING SING CONVICTS ESCAPE—ARREST OF SEVERAL ACCOMPLICES—A MANUFACTURER OF BURGLARS' TOOLS TRAPPED BY DETECTIVES.

Prison escapes from Sing Sing have been very frequent during the past year, more especially within the last six months, and among the more prominent of those who succeeded in regaining their liberty soon after being sentenced to long terms of imprisonment, are "Jim" Brady, "Jim" Lyons, and "Ned" Lyons, convicted of burglary, and who, since their escape from Sing Sing, have been again convicted and imprisoned, this time, for a bank robbery in Delaware; John Miller, also convicted of burglary, who was recaptured and returned to Sing Sing; John Keefe, alias "Johnny the Greek," a noted pickpocket, and W. C. Harrison, alias "Frost," and others. It was believed by Warden Hubbard that the prisoners received assistance from persons in this city, from the fact that in nearly every instance the keys and other tools with which the prisoners were aided in escaping came from New York. Warden Hubbard consulted with Superintendent Matzell, and the latter directed Capt. Irving to work up the case. Capt. Irving associated with him Detectives Sampson and Farley. They ascertained that the persons engaged in the work of liberating the prisoners went from this city on the cars to Tarrytown, and from there proceeded by means of small boats to Sing Sing. The tools were placed in a convenient spot outside the prison. One or more of the guards were then bribed and the tools were conveyed to the convict for whom they were intended by some one who was allowed to go inside and could deliver the tools without exciting suspicion. It was also ascertained that the tools were manufactured by John Stuerer, a German mechanic, doing business at No. 106 Hester st. The tools were ordered by a woman named Elizabeth Porter, alias Tilly Miller. The impressions of the keys wanted were taken in wax by the prisoners or their accomplices and delivered to Stuerer, and the keys manufactured for them. The larger tools were made from drawings. When finished they were delivered to the woman at a place before agreed upon, Stuerer or being paid a considerable sum for his services. These were afterward taken to Sing Sing by David H. Street alias Lewis, and Henry Smith alias Smith, and delivered to those who were ready to receive them in the vicinity of the prison. Smith was the first man arrested, and he was locked up at Police Headquarters. Soon afterward it was ascertained by the officers that Stuerer was making the tools. He was visited by them in the character of burglars. They told Stuerer that he had been recommended to them, and engaged him to make them an outfit of burglars' tools. He agreed to do so, and showed them certain of his handiwork, which had been ordered by thieves in this and other cities. Some of the larger pieces of work, consisting of jack-screws, combination jimmys, and other articles of this kind were very fine specimens of manufacture, and with them a heavy safe could soon be opened. Meanwhile search was being made for Street and the woman Porter. A day or two ago it was ascertained that they had been arrested at Lockport, N. Y., for smuggling goods from Canada. Superintendent Matzell telegraphed to Richard Crowley, the United States District Attorney for that district, informing him of the charge against them here. He received an answer yesterday from District Attorney Crowley stating that he was willing to surrender his prisoners to the officers whom the Superintendent might send on for them. In the course of conversation with him he admitted having made the tools used by the marked burglars, and boasted that he was unexcelled in his line by any mechanic in the country. A small hydraulic ram, capable of lifting 20 tons, he would make for $60; a combination jimmy, four feet six inches in length, $15; a jack screw, $15; Keys and other articles at proportionate rates. When he had ended his explanations, the officers, to his intense surprise announced their true character, and Stuerer, with the burglars' tools found in his place, were removed to Police Headquarters.

from the building at Shafer's Hotel to Judge Dreher's new building on Main street. James T. Carner has opened a meat Market, in the room adjoining Phillip Miller's store on Main street. Dr. J. H. Shull moved from J. Albert's building, on Main st. to the office vacated by the Tanite Co. adjoining the Indian Queen Hotel.

THE Temperance Crusade. CINCINNATI, O., April 5.—At Mount Vernon, Ohio, the Mayor attempted to enforce an ordinance against obstructing the sidewalks, and ordered the sentry box used by the crusaders to be removed from the front of a grocery. A crowd of men and women interfered and prevented the removal of the box. The affair occasions excitement, and there are fears of a serious disturbance.

WILKES BARRE, April 4.—Notice was given that a meeting of the friends of temperance—foremost among whom are the praying bands of Kingston and Ashley—would make an organized raid, on Thursday, upon the saloons of the localities named. A party, numbering about eighteen, met at the Y. M. C. A. rooms in Wilkes Barre. After waiting for a full hour for all to put in an appearance, the hall was opened by Miss Saffron, of Kingston, who hoped they would sing and pray to some purpose. The Ashley tribe was headed by Miss Wells, and consisted of eleven followers: The Rev. T. C. Edwards accompanied them. Five Wilkes-Barre ladies were present. After praying and singing, a venerable gentleman apparently beyond "three score years and ten," named A. E. Watson, from Providence, spoke feebly of the indifference, shown by the people of Wilkes Barre, to the great temperance movement. He had labored in the cause for forty years, and he never saw the prospect so bright, and hoped that before another decade will have passed away, prohibition will extend from Maine to California.

As the ladies of Wilkes Barre did not consent to "go out," the Ashley band thought it better not to visit any saloons until accompanied and actively supported by Wilkes-Barreans. They, however, said a visit would be paid by them on their way home to the Charter House on Hazle street, kept by Mr. Tabler, recently removed here from Ashley. The bar-tender having been notified of the intended visit, immediately put the house in order and provided chairs to accommodate his visitors. The bar-tender was keenly disappointed when it became known that Miss Wells had changed her mind, and concluded not to permit her prayers to be heard in that locality.

HARRY HILL'S PRAYER MEETING LAST SUNDAY EVENING.—Punctually at half past seven o'clock a delegation of the Union Temperance Prayer Meeting filed into Harry Hill's saloon, in East Houston street; ladies from Dr. Deems' Church of the Strangers, Mr. McMullen, the President; Mr. Cole, the Secretary; H. Gilbert, specially from Chicago, a brother of Miss Linda Gilbert, whose efforts to aid prisoners are so well known, and others. The campaign hymn, "Nearer, My God, To Thee," was first sung, then prayer was offered by Brother Pond, while the room became momentarily more and more crowded, and ever and anon the awe in spring gavel of the genial host rebuked the shuffling of those entering. There were several hymns and addresses by Messrs. McMullen and Pond, Sons of Temperance, of New York Division No. 1, both of whom owned to having been "shocking examples" of the most pronounced type. The meeting was exceedingly orderly, breaking out occasionally into applause as one or other of the speakers made a hit. Mr. McMullen spoke very well on temperance, and also well, but somewhat irrelevantly, on the Resurrection and the objectionableness of capital punishment. He brought the house down when, after thanking his Heavenly Father, he thanked Harry Hill for burning his gas and going to so much trouble to help them to try and break down his business. "If I could only persuade Mr. Hill—this honest and truthful man—(thunders of applause)—to give up this business and open a Holly-Tree Coffee House!" (Applause.) A collection was taken up, a hymn was sung and pledges offered. Mr. Hill then made a few remarks. He said he was not with them, but liked to give every one a hearing. As for drunkards, he was sorry for 'em. He didn't believe in pledges. If his bartenders would keep 'em it would please him.

HIS FAT OLD COOK was very troublesome. He had discharged her and took her back as she took the pledge. Rum was her ruination. She drank more than ever, and, like all drunkards, swore she drank nothing. He fixed up a bottle of gin by the icebox with ipecac and jalap. She was very bad. He had a ribbon round the bottle and in her hearing asked the bartender if he'd sold any out of that bottle. "It's carbolic acid," said Harry; "if any one's touched that they're dead, sure!" That fetched the cook. They sent for the Coroner (a well known large German reporter, with gold eye-glasses), took her ante-mortem, got Harry under bogus bonds to await results and the cook has several bogus physicians now attending her.—N. Y. Herald.

At a recent temperance meeting in Chicago, a lady orator asserted that reporters and printers were the best of temperance men, a remark which was greeted with tremendous applause.
